

SNOWSTORM ON COAST IS DUE HERE TO-NIGHT, BUT EASTER MAY BE FAIR

Flakes Fly In Philadelphia This Morning Harder Than at Any Time In the Past Winter, and by Noon the White Mantle Has Extended as Far West as Lancaster

60-MILE GALE AT DELAWARE CAPES

Persons Who Had Planned to Pass Sunday at Atlantic City and Other Seashore Resorts Are Disappointed--Storm Extends All the Way to Maine and Approaches the Volume of a Cyclone

With a swirling snowstorm raging this morning in Philadelphia and in the Jersey coast cities, and with the Washington forecast predicting heavy snow for Harrisburg and Eastern Pennsylvania generally for this afternoon and to-night, E. R. Demain, the local forecaster nevertheless held out the hope that the storm will pass before to-morrow and that Easter here will be fair and warmer.

Mr. Demain took heart this morning when the twenty-four mile wind temporarily shifted on four occasions to the northwest, holding to the opinion that if the wind would shift permanently in that direction Harrisburg might even escape the snow to-night. Mr. Demain said:

"The storm, which was first noted by the Weather Bureau in the Florida peninsula yesterday morning, has moved up the coast and increased to such an extent that it caused snow as far north as New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania to-day. Philadelphia reported heavy snow this morning and I was informed unofficially that it was snowing as far west as Lancaster before noon.

"It is difficult to say positively what the storm will do. It was central this morning off the North Carolina coast and if it moves off into the ocean to-morrow will surely be fair. Should the storm continue northeastward along the coast, Harrisburg may have had weather even to-morrow."

The official forecast for Harrisburg issued at the local office follows:

Snow Storm Hits Philadelphia

"Cloudy, probably snow this afternoon and to-night. Sunday fair with rising temperature. Lowest temperature to-night about freezing."

An Association Press dispatch from Philadelphia this morning said:

"A swirling snow storm from the South Atlantic coast rode into Philadelphia on a 38-mile gale to-day and made things look very unlike Easter time. Thousands of persons who had planned to spend Easter at seashore and other resorts were disappointed, but the Weather Bureau held out hope that Sunday would be clear. The snow came down thicker in this vicinity than at any time during the past winter."

Along the New Jersey coast a heavy rain fell, mixed with snow. At the Delaware capes the gale blew 60 miles an hour and Atlantic City was swept by a 32-mile wind from the northeast."

Storm Close to Cyclone Force

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington said:

"Easter fiery in the eastern part of the country is threatened with disaster by snow, wind, rain and cold. A cyclonic storm to-day swept north along the Atlantic coast. From Florida to Maine the weather forecaster here has predicted snow and gales."

"Only a single hope for Easter parades was held forth and that was expressed in a tentative prediction that the snow and rain might be followed with clearing weather Sunday afternoon."

"So widespread was the disturbance that storm warnings were displayed along the Atlantic coast from Wilmington, N. C., to Eastport, Maine. Temperatures down to freezing were

$75,000 'BOUNTY' IS PAID ON RATS

Kalbfus Reveals Graft Scheme By Which State Is Robbed In Many Counties

JUSTICES ARE EASILY FOOLED

Accept Heads of Common Rodents At $2 Each As Those of Weasels and Take Chicken Heads on Representation That They Are Hawks

The State Game Commission to-day laid bare a system of graft in claiming of bounties from counties—which incidentally the State pays—that has cost the State from $50,000 to $75,000 in the past two years, and is still being kept up.

The State pays a bounty of $2 on weasel skins, 50 cents on goshawk heads and smaller bounties on other noxious animals and birds, but it is on the weasel skins that the alleged fraud has been perpetrated. From information gathered at the office of the Game Commission, Secretary Kalbfus made this announcement to-day:

"I am satisfied there has been from $50,000 to $75,000 deliberately stolen by bounty thieves from the State in the last two years, and every man who had a hand in the fraud is guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to be sent to jail. We propose to go after every one of them. The only trouble we may experience is in the gathering of the evidence, much of which has been destroyed."

Offered Common Rat Skins

Secretary Kalbfus says that his department has evidence—that in Elk, Monroe, Pike, York and other counties men have taken thousands of common rat skins to county justices, told him they were weasel skins, got a certificate to that effect from the justice, presented it to the County Commissioners, received their order for the bounty and collected two dollars for each rat skin.

In some counties, the secretary charges, there were organized bands of men who gathered up rats wherever

PERSONS OF MANY FAITHS AT BISHOP DUBS' FUNERAL

Clergy and Laity of Different Denominations Are Represented at Observance of Widely Known Churchman Held This Afternoon

Hundreds of persons from all over the city and many from out of town to-day viewed the body of Bishop Rudolph Dubs, who died Tuesday night at his home, 226 Harris street. The body lay in state between 10 and 1 o'clock in Harris Street United Evangelical church.

Prior to the removal of the body to the church, short funeral services were held at the house at 3:30 o'clock, for the immediate family and friends. During this service, scripture was read by the Rev. H. B. Hartzler, editor of the "Evangelical," followed by prayer by the Rev. B. H. Niebel, corresponding secretary of the Missionary society.

STORM AND FIRE AT SAME TIME MENACE SEA BRIGHT

New York, April 3.—A northeast gale swept the Atlantic seaboard to-day from Florida to New England. Rain fell over a considerable section of the east and snow over Middle Atlantic States, with furies extending as far north as Maine. New York City was visited by snow and a 36-mile gale. Off Sandy Hook the wind was blowing 52 miles an hour. The Weather Bureau saw no let up in the storm for to-day.

Along the New Jersey coast the tide was high. Sea Bright, N. J., was again battered. At the height of the gale fire was discovered in a boarding house there and after spreading to adjoining buildings threatened the entire town for a time. The flames were subdued by quick work.

GALE DRIVES SNOW IN READING

Violent Storm Causes Streets to Be Deserted—Flakes Pile Up 4 Inches

Reading, Pa., April 3.—A blinding snow storm, accompanied by a fierce gale, struck this end of the Schuylkill valley shortly before noon to-day.

The snow was driven by such a hard wind that the streets were comparatively deserted. Roofs of buildings and the surrounding mountains were white with the snow. It melted as rapidly as it fell on the pavements.

In some of the country districts the snow is four inches deep.

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM MAN WHO KILLED HER MOTHER

Mrs. Martin Fleming Will Go to Court on April 19 and Ask Release From Marriage Bonds on Grounds of 'Barbarous Treatment'

Martin Fleming, the young man who on May 3, 1913, murdered his mother-in-law, Mrs. Louisa Bryan, and now is in the Eastern penitentiary under sentence of life imprisonment, is being sued for divorce by his wife, Louisa, and the case will be heard by the Judges of the Dauphin county court on April 19, next, it was announced this morning.

Mrs. Fleming is seeking legal separation on the grounds of "cruel and barbarous treatment." The husband was officially informed of the suit in his cell in the penitentiary this week when Sheriff Wells took eleven defendants to the State prison. Fleming had no comment to make. If he has a desire to defend the suit he did not refer to it in his talk with the Sheriff. He asked for information concerning his baby, whom he sought on the night he entered his mother-in-law's bedroom and shot Mrs. Bryan dead.

The Flemings were married on February 28, 1911, and lived together for almost two years, or until February 8, 1913. Separation followed one of several quarrels in which the wife charges Fleming threatened to take her life. Less than three months later Fleming slew his mother-in-law.

On October 24 of that year he was convicted of murder in the first degree and was sentenced to be hanged. Motions for rehearing of the case and an arrest of judgment were denied by the court and as a last resort William L. Loefer, Fleming's lawyer, presented the case to the Board of Pardons. As a result of that the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

C. A. DISBROW BURIED TO-DAY

Services Held at His Late Home and Interment Private

Many friends of Charles A. Disbrow, the prominent manufacturer, who died at his home, 1815 North Front street, Wednesday evening, viewed the body this morning prior to the funeral services at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. Dr. John D. Fox, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, in which Mr. Disbrow was among the most active workers, had charge of the services. Interment was private in the Disbrow plot in the Harrisburg cemetery.

The pallbearers were Dr. J. W. Ellenberger, Charles S. Boll, John P. Melick, V. Grant Forner, Frank A. Smith, William Pavord, D. S. E. Parthemore and L. V. Fritz.

MISS MARY GARRETT DIES

Well-Known Philanthropist Was Considered the Richest Woman in Maryland

Baltimore, Md., April 3.—Miss Mary Garrett, only daughter of the late John W. Garrett, died suddenly last night at the deanery, Bryn Mawr College, Pa., where she had been living for several years.

Miss Garrett was one of the best known women philanthropists in this country. She was considered the richest woman in Maryland, her fortune having been estimated as ranging between $1,000,000 and $20,000,000.

May Have Taken Bichloride by Mistake

FINAL TRAINING FOR THE BIG FIGHT

Feature of Johnson's Work To-day Was to Be a Six-Round Bout With Sam McVey, to Which the Negro's Promoters Objected

By Associated Press.

Havana, April 3.—Jack Welsh who will referee the fight next Monday between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard for the world's heavyweight championship, landed in Havana early to-day. Weather conditions to-day were the best for training purposes that have prevailed for a week. It was clear and cool and both Johnson and Willard were on the road early.

To-morrow and Monday the men will do little more than trot and walk. Both had arranged a heavy exhibition schedule this afternoon before the half holiday crowds. A feature of Johnson's work was to be a six-round bout with Sam McVey, the promoters having given up trying to stop the champion from doing this for fear of possibly injury to himself. They cautioned him, however, to go easy and Johnson promised to comply.

There has been little change in the betting situation. Johnson money is plentiful, but his backers are holding out for even money. Willard adherents contend that they should get at least 8 to 5.

EASTER BUNNY VICTIM OF HIGHWAYMAN ON THE HILL

Cry of 'Murder' Brings Searchers Who Find Colored Eggs Broken and Scattered Over the Street—No Clue to Owner

It must have been the Easter bunny that was held up and robbed of his bundle and eggs all as he entered Harrisburg this morning at 3 o'clock by way of Herr street. It happened at Fourteenth and Herr streets and he let out a cry of "murder" as he gave up the ghost and departed. His pack and eggs are at police headquarters now awaiting to be claimed.

His last despairing cry was heard by R. O. Vandevander, 1412 Herr street, who hurriedly dressed and went out to investigate. He did not find anybody and searched until he found Policeman Gibbons. Together they made a more thorough search and four dozen colored eggs and pot that had contained egg dye was found, the eggs being broken and scattered for some distance. A basket and a pair of woman's overshoes were later found.

After a thorough search nothing to identify the owner of the basket of eggs was found and it was taken to police headquarters where the police, who awaited its claimant, came to the conclusion that it must have been the Easter bunny that was held up, and being relieved of its packet of eggs for Harrisburg, departed forthwith to give this city a wide berth.

More than 10,000 kiddies in the city refuse to believe this theory and rightly, too, for they will get their usual allotment to-morrow morning as usual. The Easter bunny never forgets good little boys and girls.

AUSTRIANS SUCCEED IN BUKOWINA

Russians Completely Defeated and Are Driven Back Into Bessarabia, Is Report

LATTER SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES

Osar's Troops Had Massed in Force to Check a Threatened Austro-Hungarian Invasion—Now Reoccupy Northern Bukowina

Vienna, Via London, April 3, 10.30 A. M.—The fighting in Bukowina, according to information obtained from private sources, appears to be of more importance than is evident from the surface indications in official reports. Apparently the Austrians have gained there a success of considerable proportions.

The Russians had massed in force to check a threatened Austro-Hungarian invasion and reoccupy Northern Bukowina. They are said to have attached considerable weight to this operation because of the effect it might have on public opinion in Rumania. Austrian advances are to the effect that the Russians were completely defeated and driven back into Bessarabia with very heavy losses in proportions to the numbers engaged.

GERMAN SUBMARINE SINKS ANOTHER BRITISH STEAMER

London, April 3, 12 Noon.—The British steamer Lockwood was torpedoed by a German submarine Friday night off Start Point, in Devonshire. The members of the crew were saved.

A German submarine pursued the Lockwood for several miles before being able to gain a position from which she could discharge her torpedo. The projectile struck the steamer abaft the engine room, but the crew of 25 found time to lower a life boat. Later they were picked up by a trawler and brought into port.

The steamer Lockwood was owned in London. She was built in 1896 and was of 677 net tons and 236 feet long.

Norwegian Steamer Struck

London, April 3, 5.31 A. M.—A Reuter dispatch from Bergen says the Norwegian consul at Libau has reported to the owners that the Norwegian steamer Loevstakken was struck by projectile during the German bombardment of Libau and seriously damaged. Captain Handland being killed by a shell fragment.

The Loevstakken is a vessel of 2,000 tons, owned by A. Olsen & Company, of Bergen.

EITEL DIDN'T DASH TO SEA

German Sea Raider Still Moored to Wharf at Newport News, Despite Rumors to Contrary

Washington, April 3.—A whirling gale and snow storm which enveloped the Virginia capes last night and to-day did not tempt the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich to make a dash for sea through the cordon of hostile cruisers outside and at 1 o'clock this afternoon an official government dispatch from Hampton Roads said the German raider still was moored to her wharf.

The storm which drew the curtain of secrecy over the Prinz Eitel for a few hours by destroying all means of communication with the Hampton Roads district, "save wireless, beside giving Commander Thierichens a fateful opportunity to resume his commerce destroying voyage freshly coaled, supplied and equipped, started a crop of rumors and reports, which spread widely, saying the German cruiser had dashed behind the curtain of snow flakes and past the watch dogs at the entrance to Chesapeake Bay.

When the governmental agencies, after much effort, got into touch with Newport News, Va., it was established that the Prinz Eitel had attempted to new daring exploit but still furnished a day-to-day mystery as to her commander's future course.

Dr. Brumbaugh Says He Is Not to Be Understood as Disapproving of the Amounts But Says Board of Public Accounts Should Pass on Them

Among the three bills vetoed by Governor Brumbaugh to-day was the one providing for the payment to the newspapers of the state of their bills for advertising the constitutional amendments, which Auditor General Powell declined to pay for the reason that he did not think they were adjusted properly and because there was a difference of opinion regarding the statements made by the newspaper claimants.

The bill provided for an appropriation of $46,040 for the expense of publication of amendments to the constitution for the three years beginning June 1, 1912, and was introduced in the House by Mr. McCaig, of Allegheny. It had a stormy passage through the lower body, but finally passed after an eloquent plea by Mr. Habgood, of McKean, himself a newspaper publisher and Secretary of the State Editorial Association.

When it got into the Senate it was opposed by Senator Hilton, of McKean.
