From two platforms moving picture machines were focused on the ring. Five machines comprised the battery, three to be used regularly and two to be held in reserve.

There was great excitement about 11 o'clock when it was discovered that no one had thought about the bell to be rung at the starting and stopping of the rounds. Two messengers were dispatched on the journey to Havana to purchase a gong.

The ring was finished shortly before noon. While the strongest, it was also the greatest ever erected for a world's championship. The band in the grandstand entertained the crowds. The first tune it rendered was "By the Beautiful Sea," which set the American contingent whistling.

BOTH MEN CONFIDENT AS TIME FOR FIGHT DREW NICH

Havana, April 5,-The day of the world's heavyweight championship fight between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard broke with overcast skies in Havana and a decidedly cool wind Havana and a decidedly cool wind blowing in from the sea. When the sun rose it was behind a solid bank of clouds, but as the day advanced blue patches of sky appeared here and there to bringing hope of fine weather to the fighters, to the fight promoters and to the thousands of men who had journeyed to Havana to witness the big battle. Havana has been stirred by this event more than by any other thing of recent years, and dawn found the city fully awake to the unusual occurrence of the day. The downtown fight head-quarters were crowded with ticket buyers and the morning saw the arrival in thavana of wealthy Cubans from all thavana of wealthy Cubans from all over the island.

Johnson's Eyes on His $80,000

Johnson indications of nervousness was over the exact moment Jack Curley and other backers of the fight would arrive at his headquarters with the $30,000 cash named in the negro's contract signed in Paris. This very important event was set for 11 o'clock. Johnson chatted and laughed at the men about as if he had not a care blowing in from the sea. When the sun in the world. This supreme self-confidence is rated as one of the champion's best assets and probably against a man of nervous temperament.

Willard retired early last night and declared this morning he had a refreshing sleep. He said he was glad the day of the fight had arrived and he had been training nearly nine weeks, first having got in condition to fight at Juarez, March 6.

Willard Confident of Winning
It was apparent that Willard was

From $15 the prices of other seats fell to $3 for general admission, but in addition to the fight prices all spectators were required to pay $1 for the privilege of witnessing the racing at the conclusion of the fight.

The ring for the historic battle was 18 feet inside the ropes. The platform measured 22 feet, It was of sturdy construction, being strongly braced beneath to withstand the weight of the pugilists, Willard being probably the largest man who ever entered the prize ring for a championship fight.

Juarez, March 6.

Willard Confident of Winning
It was apparent that Willard was loath to discuss his plan of campaign. He did say, however, that he proposed togo slow and that he expected to take a good cal of punishment during the first ten rounds, hoping to wear Johnson down and get an opportunity to land a knockout blow. Willard was confident that if he could land two or three rights on Johnson the fight noon would evid. Willard said Johnson's ability as a box-er would give him opportunity to make a better showing in the early rounds of the fight, but never in his ring career had Willard felt any disconfort from any blov delivered on his body, and he did not fear Johnson's jabs. Willard seemed very fit indeed when he left his quarters for the park. The inflammation on his eye from a splash of chloroform linament last night has yielded rapidly to treatment, and it is not believed it will have any ill effects.

At 10.36 o'clock this morning the sky was still overcast with occasional dashes of sunshine.
