THE PIG IRON OUTPUT IS THE LARGEST IN A YEAR

March Production Confirms Reports of Higher Rate of Steel Operations—Rail Trade Has Not Flourished Lately—Wire Operations Brisk

New York, April 9.—"The Iron Age" says the pig iron output of March is clear corroboration of the reports of recent weeks as to the higher rate of steel works operations. Since January 1 the net gain in furnace blast has been 44 and the yearly rate, which on January 1 was 18,000,000 tons, had mounted to the astonishing figure of 26,000,000 tons on April 1.

Pig iron production in March was 2,063,334 tons, or 66,575 tons a day, against 1,674,771 tons in February, or 59,813 tons a day. On April 1 furnaces in blast numbered 191 with capacity of 70,550 tons a day, against 176 active on March 1 with capacity of 63,033 tons a day.

Youngstown district steel works have led in activity in recent weeks. Their output in a number of cases has been more than 90 per cent. of capacity, due to the fact that Youngstown mills produce chiefly wire, bars, sheets and wrought pipe, for which demand has been much better than for rails, plates and structural shapes.

March was marked by high rolling schedules in semi-finished steel, rails and plates at Carnegie Steel Company mills. Orders were sent to the mills for 316,000 tons of billets, sheet bars and rails—the largest month's total in more than a year—while 112,000 tons of plates were rolled, of which $2,000 tons were turned out at Homestead. The greatest previous record at the Homestead plate mills was 79,000 tons for a month.

The rail trade has not flourished lately and the distribution of the Pennsylvania railroad's order promises to be further delayed. The Canadian mill at the Sault is reported to have closed two further contracts with western roads for over 5,000 tons each and the Southern railway has placed 3,700 tons at Enslley. The Nova Scotia rail mill is credited with a 30,000-ton contract for South Africa, with other African business pending.

In wire mill operations which in March made records at a number of plants, foreign orders cut a large figure. The spring demand for home consumption evidently has seen its high point.

The bar mills have had better orders from implement works and for concrete reinforcing. Prices have been better maintained in the Central West than in Chicago or in eastern districts. Fabricating works are making as low prices as at any time in six months and work is coming up so slowly that improvements in this respect is not in sight.

STANDS ON HEAD TO PAY BET

Losers Must Reverse His 210 Pounds Daily for Whole Month

Chicago, April 9.—For the next month Phil Schmidt, Democrat, will take in the landscape around Roby Ind., upside down. Not always, but for a minute each day, he must stand on his head. His observations will be reported to and recorded by Arthur Bennett, of Grand Crossing, who bet on Thompson for Mayor of Chicago.

"No one ever saw me wench," he said, and he carried his 210 pounds out to perform for the first time yesterday. As admitted by "Phil," it was some task. First he did not make the proper allowances. Trial No. 2 was more successful. "Phil" wobbled and swayed on his hands, getting an uncertain view of the old race track. The tower at the car works danced before his dizzy vision. A burr picked his palm at 58 1/2 seconds and "Phil" dropped to normal.

WOMAN DIES AT AGE OF 115

Inmate of Philadelphia Home for Aged and Infirm Colored People Had Remarkable Longevity

Philadelphia, April 9.—"Aunt Mahala" Ayres, the oldest woman in Philadelphia, died last night in the Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Persons, Forty-fourth street and Girard avenue. She would have been 115 years old if she had lived until Monday. They were preparing a celebration of her birthday at the Home when the aged woman quietly gave up the ghost.

For thirty-two years Aunt Mahala has been sitting around the home telling people how to live long. Ever since she passed the century mark in 1900 she has been an object of interest, which grew all the more intense as the years piled up.

The old colored woman was born a slave on April 12, 1800, on the plantation of John Faucett, near Berlin, Md. She was married when a young woman, but never had any children. Long before the Civil war she was set free and came to Philadelphia with her husband, who was a waiter. During his life he saved up considerable money, so that after he died, in 1860, his widow lived comfortably.

Aunt Mahala kept her hearing to the end and had good eyesight until a few years ago. Her memory was excellent. She remembered all about the Faucett plantation of 100 years ago, and told with interest of having seen Presidents Tyler, Van Buren and Polk.

DRILLER BLOWN TO PIECES

Explosion of Dynamite Kills Man and Wounds Another

York, Pa., April 9.—While drilling holes in an orchard near Abbottstown, Amos Slothour was blown to pieces, Clare Stine was probably fatally hurt and several workmen were dazed by an explosion of dynamite yesterday. The dynamite was carried in a bucket by Slothour and it exploded as he stopped to set off a fuse leading to one of the two-foot holes. The men were drilling preparatory to blasting for the planting of trees.

Stine, the owner of the farm, was passing Slothour when the explosion took place. His right leg was partly torn off and part of his right side was blown away. He was hurried to the York hospital in an automobile. Slothour's left leg, right foot and left arm were torn off and his flesh was burned and lacerated. Part of his scalp was torn away. He leaves a widow and ten children.

LOCKED UP STARVING FAMILY

Husband, Unbalanced by Worry, Makes Prisoner of Wife and Children

New York, April 9.—A case of subject destitution was discovered in the home of a carpenter's assistant on the top floor of the three-story flat at 5811 Third avenue, Brooklyn, near Fifty-eighth street. Henry Forsberg, the husband, through ill health, lost his job three weeks ago on the subway. His wife at the same time gave birth to her fourth child. The ensuing struggle with sickness and poverty unbalanced the husband's mind.

Forsberg locked his family and himself in their rooms. They were shut off from supplies and neighborly assistance. Mrs. Forsberg managed to reach a rear window yesterday and call to a neighbor, who called the police of the Fourth avenue station. The latter broke into the room and removed Forsberg to the Kings county hospital for observation.

There is no help in sight from relatives. The oldest child is 7 years. The sole capital last evening was half a loaf of bread and 75 cents.

JITNEY CHARTER ACTION

Announcement As to Governor's Attitude Will Be Made Tuesday

The application for a charter for the incorporation of the Harrisburg Jitney Transportation Company, which proposes to operate auto buses here and in Steelton, and which application has been approved by the Public Service Commission, has not yet been sent by the commission to the State Department, but is expected to be submitted before the commission adjourns to-night.

When it reaches the State Department it will at once be sent to Governor Brumbaugh, who will pass on it, and if approved it will be sent back to the State Department, which will make out the charter and send it to the Prothonotary of Dauphin county to be registered.

FARMER SHOT BY INTRUDER

Blames Crime on a Former Employee but Latter Apparently Can Prove An Alibi

Philadelphia, April 9.—Alfred Gottschalk, a farmer living about six miles southeast of Quakertown, was shot and probably mortally wounded late last night by an intruder who escaped. Gottschalk told the Bucks county police that he believed that Harry Fies, who worked for him a short time early this year, did the shooting.

On request of the Bucks county authorities Fies has been detained by the Philadelphia police. Fies is a boarder at the home in this city of Mrs. Gottschalk's sister where the wife of the wounded farmer also lives. Fies denies all knowledge of the snooting and further says he was at home all night. In this latter statement he is borne out by the other persons living in the house.

Gottschalk and his wife, who is a chiropractor, have not lived together for about fourteen years. She said this was due to the fact that she preferred to live in the city. Husband and wife were on friendly terms, it is said, and Mrs. Gottschalk visited her husband at the farm frequently.

Gottschalk was shot while investigating sounds coming from a room adjoining his bedroom. The assailant escaped and Gottschalk managed to make his way to the home of a neighbor where physicians and the police were summoned. It was there that Gottschalk made his statement involving Fies.

COW ROUTS POLICEMEN

Also Sends Man to Hospital With Broken Ribs and Fractured Skull

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 9.—A score of pedestrians were put to flight, four city policemen had the fight of their lives and Michael Stovick had four ribs broken and his skull cracked when a cow which was being led to a slaughter house went on a rampage here yesterday.

The cow seemed to scent trouble, and when within the city limits started to run wild. William Kauffman, man was leading it, was put to flight. Many others were forced to seek places of safety and finally Police Sergeant Frank Kreig and three patrolmen were called out to check the animal's run.

The cow attached each in turn and forced them to flight after a hard fight. When Stovick appeared and tried to settle the trouble the cow knocked him down and trampled upon him. He suffered four broken ribs and a fractured skull.

Thieves Enter Two Allison Hill Houses. Amateur thieves broke into the homes of Fred E. Rowe, 806 North Seventeenth street, and Henry L. Griffith, 809 North Seventeenth street, last evening while the occupants were in the central part of the city and made away with jewelry and silverware valued at $200. Entrance was gained by opening rear windows. Police are working on the case to-day.
