

RAPID FIRE DISAPPEARING GUN IN USE ON GERMANY'S NEW SUBMARINES

GERMAN SUBMARINE'S PIVOT DISAPPEARING GUN

The new German submarines, it is announced, are carrying two rapid fire guns of 3.4-inch calibre, which are lowered within the hull of the vessel just prior to submerging. The mechanical arrangement is in the nature of a drop back on a pivoting arm, something after the principle employed in the disappearing gun in land fortifications. The submarines have been handicapped when attempting to overhaul fast vessels by reason of having no other weapon than the torpedo. The advent of the gun makes it possible to cruise effectively on the surface and compel a merchant craft to heave to at the risk of being fired upon with rapid fire gun projectiles. The providing of submarines with ordnance increases the offensive powers of this type of craft many fold, and the idea of the submerged gun is credited to the engineers of the Krupp works at Essen. It is in keeping with the well known boast at Essen that Krupp is always many months ahead of every other gunmaker.

GREAT MUSICAL PROGRAM AT REFORMED CHURCH

Prof. William Stoenesifer, of Potsdam School of Music, and Prof. William M. Harclerode, of the Borough, Will Assist in the Recital

The churchgoer of the borough with a finely developed musical taste will likely be attracted to the First Reformed church to-morrow evening to revel in one of the best classic sacred concerts ever attempted by any local choir. The singers will be under the direction of S. Clarence Rudy and will be ably assisted by Prof. William Stoenesifer, of the Potsdam School of Music, and Prof. William M. Harclerode, supervisor of music in the local schools.

The program to be rendered consists in part of things which are being repeated in response to numerous requests, and several additional numbers of great musical merit. It will open with a 20-minute pipe organ recital by Prof. William Stoenesifer, during which the following selections will be rendered:

"Cradle Song," Kinder; "Pilgrim's Song of Hope," Batiste; "Offertoire in D Minor," Nason; "Pilgrims' Chorus," Wagner.

The choir, assisted by Prof. Stoenesifer on the pipe organ, will render the following: Anthem, "Christ Our Passover," Chappie; baritone solo, "Rolling in the Foaming Billows," William M. Harclerode; anthem, "Oh! How Excellent," Biedy; baritone solo, "Pro Ecclesia," from Rossini's "Stabat Mater," William M. Harclerode; "Come Unto Me," Waterman, by a male octet, consisting of S. Clarence Rudy, Charles W. McCoy, Charles Plowman, George W. Neff, William M. Harclerode, Dr. H. C. Myers, William J. Distlow, Dr. D. Edward Myers; baritone solo, "Mighty King and Lord All Glorious," Christmas oratorio, Bachs, William M. Harclerode; anthem, "Gloria," from Mozart's "Twelfth Mass," choir.

The seventh of a series of mass meetings for men will be held in the St. Mark's Lutheran church, Second and Lincoln streets, to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. The Rev. Lewis C. Manges, pastor of Memorial Lutheran church, Harrisburg, will deliver the message to men, and the Steelton Glee Club, under direction of Frank Armstrong, will sing a number of selections.

A big delegation of the men from Centenary U. B. congregation will meet in their church just before the mass meeting and will accompany the Rev. A. K. Wier to St. Mark's.

A feature of the Sunday exercises will be the first communion of 25 children, which will be held in St. James' Catholic church to-morrow morning at 7.30 o'clock. A children's choir will sing the high mass in honor of the event. The low mass will be held in this church at 10 o'clock to-morrow and there will be no change in the other services of the day.

The Willard-Johnson fight has furnished the Rev. B. L. C. Baer, of the Highspire Church of God, a theme on which he will elucidate in his church to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock. His subject will be "The Big Prize Fight."

The following churches have announced their order of services to-morrow:

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a top balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour, food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea. He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices. Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

CLASSIC WAR POEMS Selected by J. Howard Wert

No. 34. KING HENRY FIFTH AND THE HERMIT OF DREUX BY ROBERT SOUTHEY

History repeats itself again and again. Kingly greed and ambition; the lust for power and conquest; the pillage, ruin, devastation, and death that follow in the wake of marching armies; and the retribution that eventually will lay the tyrant low,—all are here pictured in this gem of Southey's, as they have been enacted, again and again, in the past, in the annals of blood-besprinkled Europe. The same drama is being acted to-day on a yet more colossal scale. When will sovereigns, drunk with power and insatiate in their demands for blood, learn to heed the lesson taught by the humble hermit?

No traveler's voice may now be heard— In fear he hastens by; But I have heard the village maid In vain for succor cry. "I used to see the youths row down, And watch the dripping oar, As pleasantly their viol's tones Came softened to the shore. King Henry, many a blackened corpse I now see floating down!— Thou bloody man! repent in time, And leave this leagured town." "I shall go on," King Henry cried, "And conquer this good land; Seest thou not, hermit, that the Lord Hath given it to my hand?" The hermit heard King Henry speak, And angrily looked down;— His face was gentle, and, for that, More solemn was his frown. "Thou conqueror king, repent in time, Or dread the coming woe; For, Henry, thou hast heard the threat, And soon shall feel the blow!" King Henry forced a careless smile, As the hermit went his way; But Henry soon remembered him Upon his dying day.
