Miss Earseman's honors were awarded on the basis of two years' work at Wilson College.

HAD A MAD DOG SCARE

Animal Was Exterminated After Causing Much Excitement. Waynesboro, April 12.—A mad dog, running wild and snapping and foaming at the mouth, in the section around Welty's mill, southeast of town, was the cause of much excitement and terror to the residents of that section all of Friday. The canine, a black shepherd, chased Charles Woodring, in the morning, and followed him for some distance. Woodring threw stones at the mad animal, none of which seemed to have the least effect when they hit it, and the young man ran quickly into his home and procured a gun but by the time he was able to get out to the road the dog had disappeared. Mothers in the section kept their children in the closed yards all day. Later the dog was shot.

Rupley for Court Judge

Carlisle, April 12.—Arthur R. Rupley, former Congressman-at-large, is being mentioned as a possible candidate for judge of the Cumberland county courts on a no-license platform. Mr. Rupley has not made a statement either denying or affirming the rumor. Other possible candidates are S. B. Sadler, son of Judge Sadler; E. M. Siddie, Jr., J. W. Wetzel and Conrad Hambleton.

Held for Forging Note

Carlisle, April 12.—Charged with having forged the name of his brother to a promissory note which was made payable at the Carlisle Trust Company, H. A. Griffie, a resident of Mt. Rock, but who until recently resided at Blossville, was arrested by Constable John T. Shearer on oath of Merkel Landis, treasurer of the Carlisle Trust Company. He furnished bail for a hearing.

40-Mile Gale Takes Off Roof

Chambersburg, Pa., April 12.—A gale that blew forty miles an hour swept over portions of Franklin county last night, unroofing several houses and blowing down telephone and telegraph poles west of this place, on the Pittsburgh pike.

Church Folks Celebrating

ELIZABETHVILLE

Nathaniel Feidt Died Friday at the Home of His Daughter

Special Announcement. Elizabethtown, April 12.—The death of Nathaniel Feidt occurred Friday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Cook. Deceased was a highly respected citizen and a consistent member of Salem Reformed church. Several months ago he suffered a paralytic stroke and his health failed rapidly. Funeral services will be held to-morrow morning in the Reformed church and burial at Berrysburg Lutheran and Reformed cemetery.

READY TO MUZZLE LINDSEY

Law to Abolish Denver Juvenile Court Up to the Governor. Denver, April 12.—The work of the Denver Juvenile Court would be transferred to a district court if Governor Carlson signs two bills passed by the Senate at its concluding session Saturday night. The position of Judge Ben B. Lindsey would not be eliminated by the measures, but he would have no jurisdiction over matters hitherto within the scope of his Court's work.

Violent End Murder, Maybe

Stranger Found Along Tracks With Head Crushed. Lebanon, April 12.—Foul play is suspected in the death of an unidentified man, 74 years old, whose body was found at daybreak on the Reading railway, at West Lebanon. The head was crushed in, but there is entire absence of any other evidence of death having resulted from falling from a train. Coroner John Light is conducting an investigation, believing that the man was from this city, the clothing bearing the name of Lebanon merchants.

Councilman Sues For $10,000

Hazleton, Pa., April 12.—Grievous mental anguish and injured reputation entitling him to $10,000 damages, are alleged in the suit started by Councilman Arthur Stauffenberg, of West Hazleton, against Constable Anthony Kobitski, who caused the arrest of Stauffenberg and the other five members of Council, charging them with conspiracy to misappropriate $20,000 borough funds.

LeRoy, Talma and Bosco

One of the baffling illusions offered by Servais LeRoy, the magician who comes to the Majestic to-day and to-morrow, with daily matinees, is 'The Birth of Roses.' This magical invention did most to place the Belgian conjurer in the frontmost ranks of conjurers. For a quarter of a century the feat has defied copy by even the most skilled magicians. In performing 'The Birth of Roses' LeRoy takes an ordinary screen 4 by 5 feet, with the thickness of an inch, and hoists it into the air, revolving it about. A screen of the same dimensions, but made of paper, is similarly treated. Suddenly the screens are dropped to the stage and placed together.

A Brilliant Season

The current season brings Sousa with programs that are right up to the minute; an organization that is up to the highest mark of the Sousa scales; and special soloists of repute, equal to any Sousa requirements. All of which is duly certified by the Sousa management itself and verified by reports that come to hand. It is, in fact, a dominant tone in most press accounts of the concerts, that Sousa is this season giving an extraordinarily brilliant series of entertainments. He not only originates, after his own matchless fashion, new ideas and things, but is abreast in the select originations by others. The Sousa date here is Wednesday evening, at the Majestic. Adv.

David Warfield

The revival of the most famous of the comedies beloved by an older generation of theatregoers, 'The Auctioneer,' with David Warfield once more appearing in his remarkable creation of Simon Levi, the lovable old Hebrew, will be seen at the Majestic Thursday evening. When Mr. Warfield first appeared as Simon Levi and took New York by storm it was his initial appearance in the serious drama. His Hebrew specialties in vaudeville had brought him fame and popularity, but when 'The Auctioneer' opened at the Bijou theatre and began its long run he had just passed under the management of David Belasco; it was just beginning to dawn on him what remarkable powers for the portrayal of pathetic characters he possessed. Now, for the first time, thirteen years after his initial performance of Simon Levi, the public has a chance to gauge what those brilliant years intervening have done by way of melioring his performance in this role. Adv.

At the Colonial

Just the kind of a high-class 'girly' musical comedy that always finds favor with Harrisburg audiences is the splendid one-act production known as 'The Haberdashery Girls,' that moves into the Colonial as the bright particular attraction of the bill during the first half of the week. The act was originally slated to appear at the Orpheum, which is a pretty good guarantee of its excellence. A bevy of pretty girls and a cast of talented principals unraveled this playlet of mirth and merriment in splendid fashion. Pretty costumes and attractive scenery help to make it a very pleasing 'sight act.' The other clever turns of the same bill will include Benham and Karr, in a jolly mixture of fun and song; Ray Fern, the dainty singing comedienne, and Bauers and Saunders, the clever singing comedians. New moving picture features will also be a part of the performance. Adv.

AT THE REGENT

William Farnum and a cast of notable talents in Wilson Barrett's masterpiece, 'The Sign of the Cross,' is the attraction at the Regent theatre to-day and to-morrow, and from all indications the new amusement hall will be crowded at every run of this film play. 'The Sign of the Cross' a well-known story and when it was dramatized it was the talk of two continents. However, it remained for the Famous Players Film Company to offer a production which would tell the author's story in every detail. In staging the play the 'movies' pictures were taken at more than a hundred places and the mob scenes are said to be unsurpassed.

William Farnum, who is seen as Marcus Superbus, is undoubtedly the greatest silent actor in scenic productions of the present day. Patrons at the Regent last week recall him as Glenister in 'The Spoilers,' and his marvelous acting in that play cannot be forgotten. His acting is now getting him $100,000 salary a year. For Wednesday and Thursday the film, 'Cameo Kirby,' has been engaged, with Dustin Farnum in the principal role. Dustin Farnum is the popular actor who became famous when he played the title role in 'The Virginian.'—Adv.

PHOTOPLAY TO-DAY

'The Enemies,' a three reel dramatic Broadway Star feature production featuring Harry Morey, Edith Storey and Harry Northrup appears to-day at the Photoplay. Harry Morey, as Captain Waverly, plays a heavy dramatic character. A demoniac hatred for the man who is responsible for his sister's death, makes Captain Waverly the incarnation of revenge. His vengeance is all his own, and he glories in it. By a dermatological operation Captain Waverly changes his facial characteristics from a heavy ugly countenance to a young, handsome man, and finding the man he looks for, after the transformation in his features, Sargent does not recognize him and his plot for revenge starts working. Along with this Broadway feature we present 'The American,' a two-act Biograph drama. The management announces that, starting to-morrow, special summer prices will be in force. —Adv.
