SOLE MERRIMAC SURVIVOR DIED AT THE ALMSHOUSE

John McClellan, Last of Crew of Famous Confederate Ram and Veteran of Crimean and Civil Wars, Died at Almshouse Saturday

John McClellan, who in his younger days was a soldier of fortune and later veteran of the Crimean and the Civil wars and the last survivor of the crew of the famous Confederate Ram Mer rimae, being one of the first volunteers to tread its decks and when it career was ended, to assist in destroying it by fire after the sea terrer was beached, died at the county almshouse Saturday where he had been an inmate since 1904.

He was in his eighty-fourth year and death was due to pneumonia although he had been in poor health for some months. He was born ins Ireland and when the Crimean war broke cut he enlisted in an English regiment and fought throughout that war under Lord Cromer.

Gromer.

At the close of his enlistment he emigrated to America landing in New Orleans in 1856. He secured a position as roustabout on a steamboat plying the Mississippi river, commanded by his uncle. After spending several years, this work became monotonous and with a companion, the two worked their way to Canada, seeking adventure.

The two men remained in Canada until the rupture between the North and South occurred. Both hurriedly made their way back to New Orleans, landing there about the time the fa mous Confederate regiment, Louisiana Tigers, was being formed. McClellan enlisted and remained with that or ganization throughout the war with the

when the latter vessel was nearing completion and volunteers were called for, the young roustabout was among the first to respond and his previous training on steamboats was gladly taken advantage of by the commander of the Merrimac. History records the daring of this sea terror and the destruction it wrought with the shipping in Hampton Roads early in May, 1862. His description of the battle with the Monitor was thrilling and he confirms the story of history in all details but one. He contended to the very last that the Merrimac did not run away from the Monitor, but that it fought that vessel to a standstill.

When the Confederates became convinced that the Merrimac would be captured it was decided to beach and burn it. McClellan assisted in this work, after which he was transferred back to his regiment, the Louisiana Tigers, and fought in all battles in which that organization took part until the surrender of General Lee.

IDENTIFY BODY OF NEGRO FOUND IN RIVER SUNDAY

Drowned Man Was Andrew Washngton and That He Left His Home in Harrisburg, Ten Weeks Ago

The body of the negro which was recovered from the Susquehanna river at Highspire by Morris Leffler and Morris Kinsey, late yesterday afternoon, has been identified as that of Andrew Washington, sged 48 years, who resided at the home of Mrs. Betty Green, 213 Cranberry alley, Harrisburg.

Green, 213 Crimberry and burg.

The features had been altered by long immersion in the river and identification by that means was impossible, but a ring worn on the ring finger of the left hand, his clothing and shoes tallied in all respects with that worn by Washington when he left his home in Harrisburg about ten weeks ago, according to a statement made by his relatives who claimed the body this morning.

weeks ago, according to a statement made by his relatives who claimed the body this morning.

According to the relatives, Andrew was a nervous man and in their opinion while in a despondent fit he walked into the river and drowned. He leaves several sisters in Harrisburg, one in New Jersey and other relatives in West Virginia.

Be Moderate in Your Diet and Re-duce Your Weight With Oil of Korein

Lack of fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, the liver brecomes sluggish, fat acenmilates and the action of many of th. vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too steut, take the matter in hand at once, don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through earrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air, breathe deeply, and get from any druggist a box of oil of gorein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pléasant to take, helps the digestion and is designed to increase the oxygen-carrying power of the blood.

Even a few days treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight.

Shortly afterward it was announced that President Miller was a "dead one." He was carried out on a stretcher, which returned headed by a solemn procession bearing the new president, V. H. Berghaus, fr., who then assumed the chair. All of this was accompanied by songs appropriate to the occasion.

A locomotive bell beneath the president's place at the table contributed very much to the noise. The club members distributed fancy caps to those present and Turks, Chinamen, Indians and Robin Hoods abounded.

A commotion at the door betokened that something nusual was to be pulled off, and announcement was made that a distinguished visitor from Oriental lands was present. Casting Metals

As is well known, some ores are unsuitable for casting, while others, like iron, can readily be cast in any desired shape. The property of casting well is said to depend upon whether the metal contracts or expands on solidifying from the liquid form. Iron, like water, expands in solidifying, and hence the solid metal may be seen floating in the liquid from about it. The expension causes it to fill the die into which it is poured, and so if can be cast easily. Gold and silver contract in goal agand, therefore, are sating.

THE UNIVERSAL TIPPLE

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene By Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D., Commissioner of Health

Coffee and tea are the two beverages used almost universally by the adult population throughout the civilized and semi-civilized world.

It is impossible to say how many tens of millions of dollars are expended upon them annually. Although their use has steadily increased they might be discontinued by the multitudes who have formed the habit without the loss of any benefit and in the majority of cases abstinence would result in distinct physical gain.

Neither coffee or tea are to be considered foods. Both are stimulants and it is this which is responsible for their popularity. As with all other stimulants there is a continual tendency to over indulgence because a moderate allowance after a time fails to give the necessary incitement to the nervous system.

necessary incitement to the nervous

necessary incitement to the nervous system.

While the mind is often stimulated to good work for a short time by coffee or tea any stimulus which they give is transitory for there is a period of depression following the use of all stimulants. Experiments have shown that over indulgence in both have a tendency in the long run to dull the working of the mind.

A moderate use may not be followed by any noticeable ill effect but nervousness and disturbances of the di-gestive system is almost certain to follow the excessive use of either. Tea has an astringent action which is often

FOR A BAD COUGH

Here is a fine old-fashioned recipe for coughs, colds or catarrh trouble that is absolutely unequaled. Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength) and add to it 4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one table-spoonful 4 times a day.

No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils will open, air passages of your head will open, air passages of your head will clear and you can be to see the costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a stubborn no ugh, hard cold or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial.
