CHORAL SOCIETY PLANS ITS TWENTIETH FESTIVAL

Will Give Handel's "Samson" at Music on April 29, Assisted by Russian Symphony Orchestra and New York Soloists

Elaborate preparations are now being made for the twentieth Spring Music Festival of the Harrisburg Choral Society, which will be held in the Majestic theatre on Thursday, April 29. On this occasion the society will celebrate its twentieth anniversary. It was organized in 1895 and has continued its activities continuously from that date. For eighteen years it was under the direction of Dr. W. W. Gilchrist, of Philadelphia. Two years ago Dr. Gilchrist was compelled to relinquish the conductorship on account of ill health and since that date the conductor has been Dr. J. Fred Welle, of Bethlehem, noted for his noble work in connection with the Bach Choir and Bach Festival.

The society numbers about two hundred and fifty. It has been rehearsing all winter Handel's magnificent oratorio, "Samson." This work is considered by many as Handel's masterpiece; is most tuneful and immensely dramatic. Dr. Welle is delighted with the work and the society, and, on April 29, expects to surpass last year's concert. This is setting a high standard.

In the afternoon the Russian Symphony Orchestra, of New York, which captivated its audience last year, will give an orchestra concert. This orchestra consists of about forty musicians under the able conductorship of Modest Altschuler. The program, which will be announced later, includes many favorite selections and several fine solos. The afternoon concert will begin at 3 o'clock, so as to enable teachers and pupils of the public schools to attend.

The choral concert will begin at 8.15 in the evening. At this concert the Choral Society will be assisted by the Russian Symphony Orchestra and the following distinguished New York soloists: Miss Marie Stoddard, soprano; Miss Marie Morrissey, contralto; George Harris, Jr., tenor, and Wilfred Glenn, bass.

BARNUM & BAILEY

"Greatest Show on Earth" Booked to Appear in Harrisburg on May 6

The thin-blooded fellow who has been shivering around all winter and looking forward expectantly for a sign of spring would have received his reward this morning could he have been down near the station when the big, red advertising car of the Barnum & Bailey "Greatest Show on Earth" rolled into the city. The circus is a sure sign of spring and now it is a settled fact that old winter has passed away. On board the advertising car came fifty men, who are to-day covering everything in sight with flaming posters depicting the many wonders of this season's circus program. The big, red dats announce two performances in Harrisburg on Thursday, May 6.

The Barnum & Bailey management announce for this year "a circus of all nations," presented by 480 artists gathered from every quarter of the globe. Every nation in the world is represented, even to a complete Chinese circus from Peking. Never before have so many absolute novelties been offered in a circus program and prominent among these are the trained animal numbers as presented by the "war elephants," introduced by lady trainers, Mlle. Adgie's ten giant dancing lions, Madam Bradna's flying horses, Pallenberg's wonderful bicycle and roller skating bears and the Barnum & Bailey seven groups of posing horses. Aside from these, all the best riders, acrobats, aerialists and clowns that are really worth seeing take part in the great circus that fills three rings, four stages, the hippodrome and the dome of the largest tent ever made.

A prelude to this year's program is the presentation of the new, magnificent, spectacular pageant, Lallah Rookh, in which 1,250 people take part and in which 300 musicians are heard playing upon every known kind of musical instrument and all in perfect harmony. A fortune has been expended for the gorgeous costuming of this wonderful procession.

The Barnum & Bailey menagerie is more complete than ever and includes 40 elephants and 110 cages of rare wild beasts. Most of these are shown in open dens in the big morning parade.
