This is the bill that provoked the scene in the Senate between Senators McNichol and Thompson some time ago when the latter endeavored to have it sent back to the Committee on Mines and succeeded. Last night the bill was re-reported from the Committee on Mines, but it was, in the opinion of the miners, ambiguous and sought to place responsibility on owners and operators of mines only in case the workmen's compensation bill passed, otherwise the mine foremen were again to be the partice responsible in case of accident. When the bill was reached this morning Mr. Beidleman, Dauphin, asked to have it amended. To this Mr. Thompson objected. By a viva voce vote the Senate then went into Com-mittee of the Whole, with Senator Sproul in the chair. Beidleman at once offered his amendments which cut out the alleged ambiguous language and fixed responsibility on mine owners an operators under all circumstances. In support of his amendments he made a speech in which he maintained that his action was for the purpose of bringing the miners under the work-men's compensation act. Thompson held that the bill as re-ported by him protected the miner. This was denied by Beidleman who held that the bill as reported was not mandatory but optional and did not afford protection. ### INSIST ON UNIFORM WORK HOURS FOR THE CHILDREN

A committee of manufacturers from the Northumberland district called upon Governor Brumbaugh yesterday afternoon to endeavor to have him agree to alter the child labor bill so as to eliminate the 51 hour per week minor children between 14 16 years. Governor Brumbaugh told them that if they would not take 51 hours they would get 48, and they retorted with the assertion that these hours would eliminate minors under 16 from their employ. James C. Brown, of the Eagle Silk Company Shamokin, informed the Governor that their employes were ready to march on Senator McConnell's home and de-mand that he vote against the Gov-ernor's child labor bill. After the meeting the manufactur-ers issued a statement of which the

for his cruel treatment, threats, abusive language and "That other woman," who, she said, is her hus-band's housekeeper. This was the lone suit in which the respondent set up a defense. Mrs. Genrett is receiving alimony at the and the husband, through his lawyer, offered to show that the wife's only objection to the legal separation is be-cause it would mean the discontinu-ance of the payments. He wants the divorce on the grounds of desertion. The wife did not attempt to deny that she deserted Gehrett but she argued that she was compelled to leave home because of the husband's cruel treatment. The wife said her husband appeared to enjoy doing chores for his neighbors, such as dust-ing and tacking carpets, "but when 1 asked him to do it and criticized him for refusing, he would shove his fist under my nose and tell me he would knock my head off." Gehrett complained that his wife hounded and harrassed him and made conditions unbearable. "That is not so," pleaded the wife. 'I' didn't do more than my duty when I questioned him about staying out all night. He would tell me that he spent to the birth of one of Gehrett's chil-dren the wife said her husband would not speak to her. His anger and silence she said, was due to her having ob-tained chestnuts from a relative when Gehrett refused to get them. It was not uncommon for him to go about the had mending to be done, the wife testified, he would put the particular garment in a conspicuous place and make a chalk mark around the place to be swed. If he had no chalk a pin was substituted as the marker. Mrs. Gehrett now is living with her mother in Newburg, Cumberland coun-ty. The court took the papers and re-served decision. LYKENS VALLEY COAL SHIPMENT The shipment of coal over the Sum mit Branch Rallroad for the week end ing April 17, 1915, together with somparison with the corresponding week last year, was as follows: Short Mountain Collery Week Year Year Tons 86,023.19 65,924.14 20,099.05 Tons 9,686.09 6,244.12 3,441.17

After the meeting the manufactur-ers issued a statement of which the following is a part: "We protest against the statement attributed to your excellency that you have already 'compromised' on the question of uniform hours. There is no such thing as compromising uniform-ity. Hour are either uniform or they are not uniform and the mere fact that your excellency seems to imagine that you have conceded something in making the hours of employment in your bill 9 a day or 51 a week is suf-ficient proof that you do not thorough-ly comprehend this phase of the ques-tion. We would just as soon have the hours 48 as 51 or 52 or 53. We have aked that they be uniform, 54 a week and 10 a day, and if they should be under that, it will not matter how far under. They will not be uniform and the damage will be done as surely as though they were 48 hours. The juve-niles affected will have to be dis-charged from our factories. We object to being forced into taking this action through indirect legislation which pre-tends to be protecting minors in em-ployment and which would throw the bilame upon us when they lose their employment.'* 90,597.00 88,536.11 2,060.09 Medal for Sunken Emden's Officer Medal for Sunken Emden's Officer Berlin, April 20, by Wireless to Say-ville.—Among the news items given out to-day by the Overseas News Agency is the following: "The Hamburg Steam Navigation Society has given a gold medal to Lieu-temant Commander Von Muecke, first officer of the German cruiser Emden, who, at the bead of a detail of men, escaped from Coccos Island when the Emden was destroyed and brought his party safely to Hodeida, Arabia."
