HOW GERMANY WOULD VIEW UNITED STATES-JAPAN WAR

Berlin, April 23, Via London, 12.48 P. M.—The "Post" in an editorial article entitled, "The American Troubles," casts doubt upon the genuineness of the accident which caused the grounding of the Japanese cruiser Asama in Turtle bay, Lower California.

The paper says there are two possible explanations of this incident. One is an effort to put pressure upon Washington to relieve the situation at Peking, while the other is an attempt to secure a naval base in Mexico. This would touch America's sorest point, the paper says, namely, the Monroe doctrine. America must either give Japan a free hand in China or demand that Japan leave Mexico. This would mean war.

Continuing, the paper says: "Germany would view such a war with mixed feelings. While we do not desire a victory of the yellow race over the white, nevertheless America has no claim to the love or respect of the Americans. We would be satisfied to know that this country, which first became a state at an expenditure of German blood and German energy, should, from its political condition of unsmiling contentment, come to know the bitter necessities of war."

CAREFUL DOCTOR Prescribed Change of Food Instead of Drugs

It takes considerable courage for a doctor to deliberately prescribe only food for a despairing patient, instead of resorting to the usual list of medicines.

Some truly scientific physicians recognize and treat conditions as they are and should be treated. Here's an instance: "Four years ago I was taken with severe gastritis and nothing would stay on my stomach, so that I was on the verge of starvation."

"I heard of a doctor who had a summer cottage near me—a specialist from N. Y., and, as a last hope, sent for him. "After he examined me carefully he advised me to try a small quantity of Grape-Nuts at first, then as my stomach became stronger to eat more."

"I kept at it and gradually began to have color in my face, memory became clear, where before everything seemed a blank. My limbs got stronger and I could walk. So I steadily recovered. "Now after a year on Grape-Nuts I weigh 153 lbs. My people were surprised at the way I grew fleshy and strong on this food."

FULL CREW REPEALER FIGHT SHIFTS TO SENATE

Both the friends and the enemies of the full crew repealer bill, which passed the House this week, are keeping tabs on the measure, which is now in the Railroad Committee of the Senate, of which Senator Endsley is the chairman.

Senator Endsley said this morning that the bill will receive due consideration by his committee early next week, and it is probable that if a hearing is asked by either side it will be granted. He thinks, however, the Senate committee is pretty well informed on the measure, as its members sat with the House Committee on Railroads when the bill was given a public hearing, and were posted on all of its provisions.
