visible government. Now this is from your autobiography."

Mr. Ivins read an excerpt that had to do with invisible government and publicity for campaign contributions.

Mr. Ivins went on.

"Was there at that time a law about authibising campaign contribution."

"Was there at that time a law about publishing campaign contributions?"
"I don't think so."
Campaign Contributions
"Did Perry Belmont start the movement to require publication of campaign contributions?"
"He might have. I urged such a measure in Congress."
"Had you until that time ever called the attention of the voters to the dangers of invisible government and the mecessity of publishing campaign expenses?" 'I think so."

"I don't care what you think. Did you or did you not?"

Why Colonel Consulted Barnes
Mr. Ivins picked up the autobiography. He read a sentence about Mr.
Platt's most efficient lieutenants heing men of the best character and the highest standing in the community.
"Did you include Mr. Barnes these lieutenants in 1913?"
"No."

"Did you include him in that class in 1899 to 1900?"

"Did you discuss his moral standards with him?"

"I did. I expressed my hopes to him."

"So while you were in Albany you were acting as a political monitor in order to make him a good citizen?"

"I tried to get every man to act rightly. Most politicians had two natures, however. I regarded Mr. Barnes as a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde. He had two sides, a good and a bad one as other politicians had."
