HIDE AND SEEK IN THE NORTH SEA

The German high seas fleet has been cruising in the North Sea without meeting Great Britain's naval forces, although it is ready to accept battle.

In case Admiral von Pohl, in charge of the German fleet, is not deliberately inviting an engagement with the British by cruising in the North Sea, he at least is trying to move the opposing fleet into a position less favorable for itself and more to the advantage of the Germans.

Just what that present position is, of course, cannot be determined because of the secrecy which the censors have succeeded in maintaining.

There has been some criticism concerning the apparent idleness of the British battleship fleet during all these months, for with the exception of those participating in the attack at the Dardanelles, the great British warships have apparently been doing nothing very conspicuous.

When that fleet actually starts for blue water the expected naval battle of the North Sea will begin.

men at work doing presumably useful things to the trees and also that this had cost the City $500 over and above Mr. Mueller's salary. Moreover he said that he will need $3,000 more to carry out the work he has planned for the rest of the season.

If we are rightly informed the Commissioners were a bit surprised on receipt of the information that having a Forester costs money. They, perhaps, never stopped to figure out that a Forester would need any help in going around the city chopping down dead trees, hauling the trunks away, doctoring the sick ones, trimming off dead branches, picking the caterpillars from the high boughs, bugging the potato vines, causing arrests for violating the tree ordinance and digging out the fast-growing poplar roots everytime they run afoul of a sewer pipe.

But our young Forester has demonstrated he is a real Forester with plenty of energy and a determination to earn his salary whether the Commissioners like it or not. He should be encouraged.

College Work Beyond College Walls Educational institutions in the South are said to be watching with interest certain social service innovations at the University of North Carolina and to be considering the advisability of imitating the activities of that university.

Reports of the work being done at the University of North Carolina make very interesting reading matter. They show that an institution of higher education can extend its direct influences far beyond its own confining walls, and can be of great value to the general public.

Among the services which this school is rendering is the conducting of night schools for negroes and of correspondence courses for non-resident working men. These features are in addition to the summer school courses for public school teachers, which are very popular.

It is evident that conditions in rural life are especially benefitted by these activities. The university in fact conducts rural conferences which have as their object the improvement of those conditions. There are districts in all states that are urgently in need of educational influences, and they would be fortunate if they all had the opportunities which are being presented in North Carolina and being added to from time to time.

Most of the unusual work undertaken by the University of North Carolina, of course, rests on faculty members, but in some of it the students are the active agents. The boys have, for instance, organized for the purpose of keeping clean the streets of the little college town, and are thus expending part of their energies in a very practical way.

Pennsylvania State College students are at present rendering valuable service in the fighting of forest fires, and thus they too are demonstrating that students may be of actual use to humanity before their graduation.

HAD ECZEMA SEVEN YEARS ON HIP

Also Ringworm on Hand. Could Not Sleep at Night. Itching and Burning. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed Hip Also Ringworm.

North Bend, Pa.—"I had the eczema for seven years also ringworm on my hand. The eczema was in a sort of rash and itched and burned when I scratched. It made an eruption and the clothing irritated the breaking out on my hip. I could not sleep at night and when I would get warm I suffered awfully with the itching and burning. The ringworm was in circles on my hand and scaly and if I used much soap or had my hands in water long it would get so sore the scales would come open and bleed."

"Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed my hand in hot water with the use of the Cuticura Soap then dried my hand good and put the Cuticura Ointment on. I also washed my hip with the Cuticura Soap and warm water, then I took a thin cloth, put the Cuticura Ointment on it and laid it on my hip. Cuticura Soap and Ointment healed my hip also the ringworm on my hand." (Signed) Mrs. A. Elder, October 27, 1914.

Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T. Boston." Sold throughout the world.

Tongue-End Topics

British Cash Buys German Bonds A number of prominent Englishmen, including Sir Edward Goschen, former British ambassador to Berlin, have unwittingly become purchasers of some of the latest German war loan bonds.

Serbian Marching Song The Serbian soldiers' marching songs are composed by the men of the ranks on the Homeric rather than the modern variety hall plan. A Serbian officer has rendered into English one of the most popular songs, a song of exultation over victory, as follows: "The Swabos came right up to Ralya. No far frather, tra, la lalya, Hey, how was that? Yo, pol was that? Raeko Pol they won't forget, For the Serbians they met. Hey, how was that? Yo, why was that? Now they know, the Swabo bruders, How the Serb receives intruders! Hey, this is why, Yo, this is how!"

20,000 Irish Recruits The total number of recruits from the three southern provinces of Ireland had up to the end of March amounted to 20,000 men, and of these nearly half came from Dublin, Cork and the other large towns. Recruiting has scarcely touched the agricultural districts. The farmers admit frankly they are making large profits out of the war, and they and their sons do not enlist. In the cities the recruits are drawn mostly from the laboring class.

Flour Cheap in Turkey Flour in Turkey is at present much cheaper than in any of the other countries of Europe. This is due mainly to the large stores of grain wisely accumulated in the government stores. Turkey's last harvest was estimated as worth $250,000,000, of which the government is said to have obtained four-fifths. It is reported that there are heavy losses to the government supplies from rotting, but there appears to be no reason to expect that the stock on hand will not last until the next harvest. The next harvest, however, will be a small one, owing to scanty sowings, and many experts prophecy that the result will certainly be a general famine in Turkey next autumn.

Russians Treat Prisoners Well There is no evidence of hostility to prisoners of war in Petrograd. Hundreds of prisoners pass through the capital daily, on the way to their places of confinement in remote sections of the Russian empire. A novel sight recently was a party of 1,500 Austrians from Permyl, who were allowed to walk around the city as tourists, being shown the principal streets and buildings. Their bearing, especially that of the officers, was cheerful. After a day spent in sight-

Germany Keeping All Her Rubber The export of rubber from Germany is forbidden. A Dutch firm which recently ordered two motor cars from Germany, was surprised to find that the wheels were supplied with wooden tires.

Shippers Avoiding Liverpool Dockers at Liverpool are now working overtime freely and strong hopes are entertained that better conditions will soon be realized. More than sixty vessels are in port at this writing awaiting discharging berths and the quay spaces are crowded with goods largely owing to inadequate transport facilities. This congestion and delay has had the result of making shippers avoid Liverpool if possible. Egyptian cotton for American spinners was formerly sent from Alexandria to Liverpool and then loaded on the regular liners for New York, but the continual delay has made direct shipments necessary, and according to mail advices the steamer "Itala" is taking a full cargo of 11,743 bales of Egyptian cotton from Alexandria to Boston thus avoiding the delay and labor charged at Liverpool.

MIDDLETOWN

Miss Carrie Groupe and Edgar Schaeffer Married at Hagerstown Middletown, April 28.—Edgar Schaeffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Schaeffer, and Miss Carrie Groupe, daughter of Mrs. Groupe, were married Saturday afternoon at Hagerstown, Md., by the Rev. Mr. Highbrand, pastor of the Brethren of Christ church.

Mike Miltach, of Swatara township, was badly cut about the face by several of his countrymen whom he had gone to visit. They wanted him to drink but he refused and a fight took place in which he was badly cut. He was taken to the office of Dr. C. E. Bowers, where it required several stitches. Warrants were sworn out for the arrest of three of the party.

Mrs. Christ HERSHEY and daughter, Mrs. Harry Kinsay, attended the funeral of the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Koons held at Campbelltown yesterday.

Miss Mary Schiefer spent Tuesday at Hershey. Harry Romberger, of Philadelphia, transacted business in town for the past two days.

SUFFRAGE FLOWERS SHOWN

Yellow Blooms Make Appearance in Stores of Many Merchants Window displays in yellow, the suffrage color, are blossoming in many parts of the city. In William B. Schleichner's clothing store, on North Third street, one entire window has been given over to the suffrage color. Gowns and blouses of several shades of yellow grouped about a great basket of yellow jonquils form the central feature. Evelyn Rumsey Cary's blue and gold poster, "Give her the fruit of her hands," and the suffrage "Victory" poster are set in panels in the background.

The window of C. Studebaker, Second and State streets, is lined with yellow crepe paper. A pyramid of cardboard boxes of suffrage garden seed rises in the center. It is supported on each side by green plants which furnish a contrast to the yellow. In the back, framed by "Victory, 1915," pennants draped from the lights, is one of Rose O'Neill's "kewpie" posters. It pictures a group of babies parading with a banner lettered "Votes For Our Mothers."

Other merchants are arranging displays. By the end of the week most of them will be ready, so that on May 1, "Suffrage Day," suffrage colors will be even more extensively displayed.

At the Regent The second of the big productions booked for the Regent theatre this week will be shown on the screen there to-day. The booking is "The Italian," a masterpiece which has drawn most favorable comment in all of the larger cities where it has been produced and where admissions far in excess of those at the Regent were charged. "The Italian" is one of the greatest features ever produced and tells a story which does not fail to impress its moral on the audience. As "The Italian," George Beban, world renowned as a character actor, is not surpassed and he is ably supported by a company of stars which would do credit to any picture. Mr. Beban became famous as a character actor on the "legitimate" stage and when he deserted that for the "movies" he is said to have improved wonderfully. A big audience witnessed the special production this afternoon and was more than pleased with the presentation. The picture will be repeated to-morrow. In addition to "The Italian" to-day Manager Magaro will show an elaborately staged drama, "The Night."—Adv.

$20,000 FOR CHARITY

Head of Stegmaier Brewing Company Leaves $500,000 Estate Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 28.—Twenty thousand dollars was bequeathed to charitable institutions in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties by Fred J. Stegmaier, late president of the Stegmaier Brewing Company, of this city, who will be filed for probate here yesterday. Corns Cured For 10c

Must use one 10c bottle of RASER'S CORN SOLVENT and you will get relief in ten minutes for any other corn cure. Here's proof of what this wonderful Corn Solvent will do. J. B. Hall, a man over 80 years old, writes: "I have spent a small fortune on worthless corn remedies but never found anything that would give me more relief than temporary relief. No matter what I used, the corns would come back. About two months ago a friend advised me to try RASER'S CORN SOLVENT. I bought one 10c bottle and it completely cured every corn and bunion on both feet. After two months there is no sign of the corns left. It's the one and only remedy that ever did me any good."

RASER'S CORN SOLVENT just dissolves the corns away immediately, without pain. If you get sore to the touch, it is not RASER'S CORN SOLVENT. Buy of the druggist named below or send 10c to Wm. H. RASER, Druggist and Chemist, Housatonic, Pa.

TO RAISE $10,000,000 FUND

Methodist Church Plans to Pension Retired Ministers, Their Widows and Orphans Chicago, April 28.—Plans to raise a $10,000,000 fund to provide pensions for retired Methodist ministers, their widows and orphans were outlined at a national convention of bishops and conference representatives of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which opened yesterday.

George W. Dixon, president of the Chicago Home Missionary and Church Extension Society, said that provision for old age was a great, modern, humanitarian movement, and that the church owed to its retired minister a debt it could never repay.

"All great mercantile and industrial concerns are recognizing their debt to aged employees and surely the church should lead rather than follow in such a movement," he said.

The pension plan includes the establishing of a retiring annuity based on length of service, also provision for such additional amount as may be necessary in cases where the condition requires more than the regular pension.

The Rev. Joseph B. Hingley, corresponding secretary of the Board of Conference Claimants, said the movement for pensioning aged ministers was on in all the great denominations. The Methodists, with whom the $10,000,000 movement is only a few months old, have obtained $1,000,000, he said.

"The present intensive campaign," he said, "will reach its culmination at the meeting of the General Conference at Saratoga Springs in May, 1916."

PROTEST AUTO SPEEDING

Harrisburg Motor Club Sends Letter to Mayor Royal Protesting against reckless automobile drivers and excessive speeding, the Harrisburg Motor Club has sent a letter to Mayor Royal asking that they be taken into custody and heavily fined. The letter stated that the police do not enforce the traffic laws, and that if nothing is done to stop it the club will take the cases to a magistrate and see that the speeders be given the fullest extent of the law.

Motor club officers say that the police do not enforce the laws and that when an arrest is made the Mayor either dismisses the offender or imposes a light fine.
