CIRCUS PARADE MOVES 10 A. M.

Barnum's Comes Here To-night From Lancaster for Two Shows On the Morrow

NEW FEATURES FOR THIS YEAR

There Will Be More Open Cages, More Bands and More Animals Traveling Afoot in the Two-Mile Street Procession Than Ever Before

"Well, I see there's a circus in town to-morrow," began a stocky little man with the shepherd's plaid suit and the stogies and pencils alternating in his vest pocket as he finished his lunch. "So I s'pose all day circus day we'll be hearing the line of talk of the pinhead that is ashamed to own up he likes to go to the circus and says he goes for the purpose of taking his young ones."

"Right here," he went on after he'd paid the waitress, "I want to remark that when there's a circus in town I go to it because I want to go to it. I see that my 'kids' go, too, but if they attend the show with some of their friends I go by myself. In fact, I'd rather go by myself, because I don't want to be bothered with anybody else. I like to go to circuses if anybody happens to make inquiry. I'm crazy about circuses. And what gets me is why any man that hasn't got a mess of chicken giblets in his skull in place of brains should want to see a sheep because he goes to circuses, or try to throw out that line of guff about going to take the 'kids.'"

The big circus—Barnum & Bailey's—comes to town to-morrow morning, coming from Lancaster, where performances are being given to-day. The elephants will be here, the clowns, the gaily chariots, the beautiful equestrian stunts, the horses and all the other things that for the last week have stimulated the small boy—and, if the truth be told, many of his elders,—to a fervor of youthful enthusiasm.

The first offering of the circus will be the free street parade to-morrow morning, which is due to leave the grounds at 10 o'clock and pass over the principal streets. It will be a display full of color and interest and strings out for a matter of more than two miles. In a general way, it will not be unlike the cavalcade of previous years, only it will have more and more of everything pertinent to such a display than ever before.

There will be more open cages, more bands, more animals traveling afoot, and a richer and more gorgeous dress than in previous years. New chariots and tableaux wagons, resplendent in gold and silver, have been added to the parade equipment, and every bit of the wardrobe is new. More than five hundred horses ranging from the sturdy Clydes and Percherons to the cleaner-limber thoroughbreds, will make of the moving column a huge horse fair.

The performances are scheduled for 2 and 8 o'clock, doors being opened at 1 and 7 o'clock. Never before, it is confidently asserted, has the circus presented a program containing so much of a novel and unusual nature as do this season. Pallenberg's bears; Marella's trained birds; Adgie's 12 performing lions; Thaler's trained fox terriers and monkeys; the Paldren's;

the English Hanford family of equestrians and the Tosca's are among the headliners on a bill which has never been rivaled under canvas, so runs the record and verdict registered in places already visited by the circus.

New York pronounced it the best circus ever seen at Madison Square Garden where the Barnum show has opened its season for over a decade.

A branch ticket office will be established at Bowman's Department Store, where tickets may be bought at no advance in prices.

APPEAL FROM DECISION ON ANTHRACITE COAL TAX LAW

Companies Affected by Judge Kunkel's Ruling Give Notice That They Will Carry the Case to the State Supreme Court

Appeals from the decision of the Dauphin county court which has held to be constitutional and valid the anthracite coal tax law which requires mining companies to pay to the State 1-2 cent per ton on all hard coal mined, were filed last evening with William V. Pearson, local Prothonotary of the State Supreme Court.

The coal companies affected by this act are attacking it on the contention that it is classed legislation. Much interest is being manifested in the case in view of the fact that tax it already has caused to be levied totals no less than $6,000,000. Lawyers representing the appellant companies this morning announced that it will be impossible to prepare the case in time to be argued at the next Harrisburg session of the Supreme Court, which will be held during the week beginning May 22.

They also announced that no attempt will be made to argue the case at that court session generally is made that because of the warm weather, the hearing will go over until the Pittsburgh term, next October.

An appeal also was filed last evening in the proceedings against James M. Roderick, chief of the State Mines Bureau. This case involves the claims of miners' unions that the chief of the mines bureau proposes to issue certificates of mine foremen and assistant foremen, to applicants, who it is contended, cannot qualify under the law. The court here declined to interfere with the actions of Chief Roderick, complaining that it is without legal authority to do so.

BETHLEHEM STEEL RISES 9 ON REMOVED WAR ORDERS

U. S. Steel Recedes on Denial That Company Had Been Awarded Large Foreign Rail Contracts — Other Stocks Lose Early Rise

New York, May 5.—Wall Street—Moderate trading marked the early dealings on the Stock Exchange to-day, the undertone showing irregular tendencies. There were gains of 1 to 2 points in war specialties, notably Westinghouse, Pressed Steel car, American Locomotive and Crucible Steel, but some of the standard issues, including Reading, Canadian Pacific and Southern Pacific, were fractionally lower.

Later the list developed strength. U. S. Steel, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper rising a point each, with gains of as much in the motor group. London's prices for Americans showed little change, except in Canadian Pacific and Reading, which reflected heaviness.

The early rise was not long maintained, pressure soon reducing most gains and causing a number of stocks to sell not only under yesterday's close but below minimum prices of that session. Westinghouse, the most active feature of the first hour, lost all its rise, but Bethlehem Steel, which had been ignored in the initial movement, rose nine points on reports that it had received additional war contracts. Contrarily, U. S. Steel receded on denial that the company had been awarded large foreign rail orders. Reading showed little recuperative power, yielding on light offerings. Bonds were irregular.
