Scranton, May 7.—Reese Bevan, father of Maggie Bevan, the Welsh evangelist, now with the Dr. George Wood Anderson revival party at Millville, N. J., committed suicide early yesterday morning at the Hillside Home, a county charity institution, where he has been under observation for the last two weeks.

Bevan found a dust-pan in a hall, smashed it and used a ragged-edge of the tin to sever an artery in his wrist. He was dead when discovered by attendants.

Man Cuts Throat With Dust Pan. Scranton, May 7.—Reese Bevan, 60 years old, father of Miss Maggie Bevan, girl evangelist, now a member of the Dr. George Wood Anderson revival party, conducting a campaign in Millville, N. J., committed suicide in the insane ward of the Hillside home late Wednesday night. Bevan cut his throat with a dust pan and when found was bleeding to death.

Col. Jos. W. Hawley Dies at Media. Media, May 7.—Colonel Joseph W. Hawley, organizer and for years president of the First National bank of Media, died at midnight Wednesday night from heart trouble resulting from old age. He was 79 years old and was a colonel in the 124th regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers during the Civil war, and had a long war record.

Lewisburg, May 7.—Active building operations were begun yesterday on the first State institution in Union county when ground was broken near Laurelton for cottage No. 1 of the Pennsylvania village for feeble-minded women. A Remarkable Old Hen

In the current issue of farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, appears an interesting discussion about egg-laying hens. Various contributors give their ideas as to how poultrymen can improve the egg-laying qualities of their chickens. One contributor, who is a great believer in trap-nesting, describes as follows a remarkable hen in his possession:

"We have a White Wyandotte hen nine years old that laid 100 eggs in '914. She also has a trap nest record of 200 eggs in less than ten months, and score cards from reputable judges score her 95 or better.

"For several years we have had our chickens in charge of employees and tenants, and while we knew that No. 2262 (her band number) was a very active and naturally supposed that her laying days were over; and when last spring we decided to spend the summer on the farm we took with her eleven others 'for sake of auld lang syne.'

"Judge of our surprise after reaching the farm when No. 2262 was among the first to begin laying, and laid nearly every day for over two months. She was then set, and hatched 11 chicks, which were given to another hen.

"In about two weeks she began laying, and continued for about a month, then went broody; but on account of the hot weather we thought best to break her up. However, she wouldn't loaf, and started laying again.

"With the thermometer around 100 in the shade nearly every day, she laid about a dozen eggs between August 1 and 18."

Never Set a Hen on Freak Eggs

The following advice to poultrymen is taken from the current issue of "Farm and Fireside":

"Did you ever notice how much more vigorous and growthy is the plant coming from large plump seeds of corn, wheat, beans, radish, lettuce, etc.?"

"The same law holds good with chickens hatched from good-sized, well-shaped eggs.

"Eggs that have sufficient size to furnish plenty of material to develop a vigorous, perfect embryo chick, and room for it to expand, will insure the chick's ample strength to cut and burst its shell prison.

"Select eggs of good size and as uniform in shape, color, and strong in shell as possible."
