REFUSES NON-SUIT AND PUTS CASE UP TO JURY

Damage Case Against City Is Resumed In Court After Foreman of Jury Returns From Funeral of a Relative

Judge McCarrell last evening refused the defendant's request to enter a compulsory non-suit in the damage case of Riley Bogner, of Dauphin, against the Northern Central Railroad Company, and the defense this morning began submitting testimony. Mr. Bogner was injured when he fell into a subway at Dauphin and witnesses for the defendant company this morning confirmed his testimony to whether the subway was properly lighted on the night of the accident.

In the absence of the jury lawyers in the damage suit of C. J. Mahoney against the city of Harrisburg, this morning presented argument to Judge Kunkel dealing with the legal phases of the issue. The suit is one for alleged losses sustained when Mahoney's Nantain street house fell into a section of the Fifteenth street sewer. The trial of the case before the jury was dispensed with this morning to permit Levi Blatt, a Susquehanna township blacksmith, to attend the funeral of a niece, which was held at Grantville at 10 o'clock.

If the clear title can be given the verdict is to be in the sum of $3,300 in favor of the plaintiffs. If not, then the verdict is to be for the defense.

ONE GRAVE FOR COUPLE KILLED BY TROLLEY CAR

The Rev. J. C. Forncrook, pastor of the Penbrook Church of God, and the Rev. J. H. Palmer, a retired Baptist clergyman.

The pallbearers were: D. P. Jersauld, W. O. S. Kunkle, Ezra Wager, S. K. Furman, C. E. Whitman, H. C. Gebhardt, W. R. Calder and J. O. Jackson. The ushers were: J. E. Jackson, J. E. Daniels, H. L. Griffin, Paul Gendell and H. D. Jones.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pipes were among the oldest members of the Market Street Baptist church. The father of Mr. Pipes helped to erect the original church.

Mr. Pipes was a son of George and Rebecca Knipe Pipes and was born in this city May 1, 1849. Mrs. Pipes was born September 29, 1851, in Columbia. They were married August 18, 1872, and are survived by the following children: Harry S., of Penbrook, and William S. Pipes, Jr., George H. Pipes and Mrs. Clara Hamilton, all of this city. speakers declared that it was the working woman who needed the ballot and that to renounce her right to it would be "disloyal to the basic principles of organized labor."

Steve McDonald, the president of the Scranton Central Labor Union, said in endorsing the resolution: "Every crime, every infamy, every injustice inflicted on the men and women of this State can be directly charged to the neglect and ignorance of the men who have not fully exercised their right of the ballot. We must blame the men, the voters, for the laws that are at fault. They made them. If we have never been able to establish laws that were just by the votes of the men it is time we took our mothers and daughters, our wives and sisters into the political arena so that we may see if their good influence will not enable us to enact laws for the benefit of mankind."

Other resolutions adopted during the session favored the fixing of short hours for union bakers, the election of the mining inspectors in the bituminous districts, the publication of a weekly paper by the federation and the boycotting of Point Breeze Park, Philadelphia.

Want Jackson's Office Elective

A motion made by Thomas Kennedy that the election of officers which is scheduled for to-morrow be held instead at 3 o'clock this afternoon, provoked heated discussion and was finally laid on the table by a vote of 111 to 87. The reason given for the proposed change was that some of the delegates present at the convention who are miners are forced to return to their homes this evening because of serious strikes in the coal regions. The opponents of the motion argued that the miners ought not to be thus specially favored, and in some instances spoke with some bitterness of the miners as a class. The miners declared that it was they who started the Federation of Labor. The election of officers will be held at the closing session to-morrow as provided in the organization's constitution.

At the adjournment of the morning session, the delegates assembled at the Capitol to pose for a group photograph.
