TELLS OF LOCAL INDIANS

Dr. Harry Bashore Reads Paper of Red men of More Than 200 Years Ago

The history of the Indians in this vicinity of more than 200 years ago was told the members of the Dauphin County Historical Society by Dr. Harry B. Bashore, of West Fairview, last night.

Dr. Bashore told how at that time the settlement was a "convention town," where many conferences were held between Indian chiefs and white agents. He said that even then there were many protests by Indian chiefs against the rum traffic, concluding that the present temperance movement is not a hysterical outburst of religious fanaticism, but the growth of years of evil effects. In part, Dr. Bashore further told how at one of these meetings an Iroquois chief protested strongly against the traders in rum.

The story of Half King, the great chief among the western Indians, who died at the home of John Harris and was buried somewhere near his grave, was interestingly received by Dr. Bashore's audience. This Indian was famous for his friendship with Washington, and led him to victory at Jomouville at the Great Meadows.

HEALTH BUREAU ADVISES ON SUMMER USE OF MILK

Also Gives Ten Rules on How to Fight the "Typhoid Fly"—Only Nine More Births Than Deaths in the City in Month of April

The stork's race with the "grim reaper" during the month of April was a close contest, according to the monthly "Bulletin" of the City Bureau of Health, issued to-day. The births for the thirty-day period totaled only 96 as against 87 deaths. Births and deaths both showed an appreciable decline as compared with the corresponding period a year ago when there were 113 births, and 105 deaths.

Heart disease claimed thirteen victims last month. Bright's disease was second with ten and tuberculosis third with seven. Reportable diseases, including the contagious maladies, numbered 138 in April of this year as against 244 during the corresponding period of 1914, and 118 in 1913.

The Health officials again advise against the handling of foodstuffs by prospective patrons and make the following suggestions to persons who buy fresh fish: They should sink in water; scales should be firmly attached and free from slime; eyes should be prominent, standing out; gills should be bright red and closed.

The Health authorities call attention to the fact that bacteria double their number every hour when in milk that is above fifty degrees Fahrenheit. The only precautionary measure is to cool milk at milking time and have it remain cold until used. This comment is made:

"Ordinary milk is responsible for from twenty per cent. to fifty per cent. of all diarrheal diseases during the hot summer months. During 1912-13 and 14 diarrheal diseases caused the unnecessary deaths of 71 babies under the age of two years."

Ten rules directed toward swatting the "typhoid fly" are suggested in the "Health Bulletin" as follows:

- 1. Kill the "Typhoid Fly" the instant he appears.
- 2. Treat outdoor privy vaults and manure piles with borax, chloride of lime or rock phosphate.
- 3. Keep all garbage covered.
- 4. Remove manure and garbage at least once a week.
- 5. Keep all food covered.
- 6. Keep the baby screened from "Typhoid Flies."
- 7. Keep all windows and doors screened.
- 8. Kill or trap by any means you know.
- 9. Eat no food that "Typhoid Flies" have walked on.
- 10. Buy no food from a store, stand or wagon where "Typhoid Flies" are thick.

KINDNESS ADVERTISED

Harrisburg Newsboys and Messengers Will Not Have to Carry Water to Elephants to See Shows

Jos. G. Ferari, manager of the gigantic amusement enterprise that bears his name and exhibits at Third and Riley streets, all next week, believes that it pays to advertise, but at the same time he thinks there are limitations.

Last fall, while the shows were playing Buffalo, N. Y., Mr. Ferari was standing near the entrance to his dog and pony circuit when he noticed a small boy standing to one side crying.

"What is the matter sonny, haven't you any money with which to see the show?" asked the showman.

"No, sir; I haven't a cent," answered the lad.

"Why didn't you carry water to the elephants?" continued Mr. Ferari.

"Well, I would, but my mamma is sick and I had to stay with her all this morning," said the lad sorrowfully.

"If that is the case you don't need any ticket," said the showman, and the boy was ushered in.

Now the press agent happened to be standing near and heard the little tragedy of life. It so worked on his feelings that he was able to write columns of the showman's generosity.

The next day and the next, throughout the hired engagement there were several hundred youngsters whimpering and waiting to be asked why they didn't carry water to the elephants.

Mr. Ferari always had a kind heart for the younger generation and remembers the days when the sight of a spread of canvas was his highest ambition. To-day he is the manager and owner of America's Representative Carnival organization and finds time to turn the clock back to his boyhood days. In consequence he wrote the Firemen's Association to invite all newsboys and messenger boys to attend his shows as his guests next Tuesday night. Special arrangements will be perfected for the care of the boys and a noticeable feature of the Ferari shows is the fact that all shows are of the highest class and such that will have a tendency to amuse and instruct the youngsters. There is nothing to good for the newsboys and messenger boys, so says Mr. Ferari.—Adv.

Setting the Style-Pace

THE HOUSE OF KUPPENHEIMER

To prove how far we've advanced in producing pleasing styles, get out the family album and look at grand-father in his best Sunday suit—rather comical looking duds weren't they?

---and there are men to-day who hold back from the new styles, who think the new lines extreme, they sigh for the saggy baggy days of old and they seldom look well dressed.

We have always led in showing the New Styles, we feature each new idea as fast as it is produced and stamped with the approval of and if you will check up on the popular styles of to-day, the styles which other stores are now featuring, which are being worn generally, you'll find that these styles were heralded here in this Live Store, six, eight or twelve months ago.

We'll take our chances on being called extremists to hold our place of leadership . . . We intend to maintain our position as the forecasters of fashion . . . We'll always show the New Styles first; the Standard Styles with them; every style if it's good style; always.

SINGING ATTRACTED MANY TO HILLIS TABERNACLE

800 Singers From Marysville, Harrisburg and Steeleton Draw a Record Crowd to Evangelistic Meeting Last Evening—Thirteen Hit Trail

The presence of about 800 singers from Marysville and Harrisburg attracted one of the largest crowds of the campaign to the Hillis tabernacle last evening. The visiting delegations included about 435 from Marysville and 300 from Harrisburg, former members of the Stough chorus. The Marysville Booster chorus, which accompanied the choir, 100 voices, sang with spirit, "The Brewers' Big Horses."

The "cross river" delegation also presented the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hillis with a large basket of choice flowers. The services opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Bidlack, of the Marysville Methodist church.

Evangelist Hillis preached a stirring sermon from Matt. 27:22, "What Shall I Do Then With Jesus Which is Called Christ?" He asked his audience what they will do with the Historical Jesus? What they will do with the Jesus of personal experience? What they will do with the Jesus of the Judgment? What they will do with Jesus now?

When the invitation hymn was sung, thirteen persons, averaging one for each day in the month, hit the sawdust trail.
