"EQUAL RIGHTS" BILL IS PASSED

Measure in Which Negroes Are Interested Approved Finally in the Senate, 33 to 11

PENITENTIARIES PLAN ADOPTED

Upper Branch Votes in Favor of Consolidating of Eastern and Western Institution—Third Class City Amendments Pass

The session of the Senate last night was one of the liveliest held this year, the approaching windup evidently having set the Senators on edge.

The first thrill of the evening was when the special order for the consideration of the "equal rights bill" was reached, it being on final passage. This bill guarantees equal rights to all, regardless of race, creed or color, in all places of accommodation or amusement. It had been hanging by the eyelids for some time in the Senate, the evident intention being to let it die, but its progenitors were too smart for the opponents and succeeded in having a special order fixed for its consideration on final passage in the Senate at 10.30 last night.

Early in the evening the Democratic Senators held a caucus to decide how they would vote, but took no action as Senators Hilton and Stewart gave notice that they would not be bound by a caucus decision.

Senator Washburn, who presided at the caucus, decided that unless all were bound by the decision of the caucus it was useless to take a vote, so the caucus adjourned. When the bill was taken up in the Senate a large delegation of colored men was present, but there was no talking for or against the bill. It passed finally by 33 votes to 11 against it.

Shortly after the equal rights bill was disposed of the Walton bill relating to third class cities, prepared by the State City Solicitors' Association at its recent meeting in Harrisburg, the companion of a similar bill killed in the Senate, came up on final passage. This is the bill familiarly called "the third class city bill," as it has been so drawn as to smooth out kinks in the original Clark bill.

When the measure was read Senator Reideman moved to have it sent back to the committee on Municipal Corporations for amendment. Very strenuous objection was made to this by Senator Clark, the author of the original bill. After some discussion the Reideman motion was defeated by a viva voce vote and then Mr. Reideman moved that the Senate go into committee of the whole for general amendment of the bill. Senator Clark opposed the motion and it was defeated. The bill then passed finally and now goes to the Governor.

At 11 o'clock the East and West had a small tournament over the bill for the consolidation at the new penitentiary in Centre county of the Western and Eastern penitentiaries. The Centre county institution will take the place of the Western institution, but the object is to bring the two penitentiaries together for the benefit of the prisoners who will have a big farm on which to work, plenty of opportunity to get fresh air and, it is contended, become better citizens. The passage of the bill meant the doing away with the Eastern penitentiary in Philadelphia, and Senators McNichol, Daix, Buckman, Salus, Parley and Vane made vigorous opposition to the bill's passage, while Senators

Crow, Thompson, Clark and others spoke in behalf of the plan. Both Warden McKenty, of the Eastern penitentiary, and Warden Francis, of the Western penitentiary, were in the Senate chamber when the bill passed finally by 33 years to 11 nays.

Compensation Bill Reported
About 1 o'clock this morning Senator Crow reported from the Committee on Corporations the Workmen's Compensation law as it had been amended in a few minor particulars by the administration. Before reporting the bill Senator Crow called a meeting of the committee to learn whether there were any other amendments proposed, but there was none, and it seemed to be the idea to offer any amendments to the bill when it is under discussion in the Senate on third reading, as was attempted with the child labor bill.

COLD STORAGE BILL IS REVIVED IN THE HOUSE

The cold storage bill one of the series drafted by the Commission on Uniform Legislation was taken from the Judiciary General Committee of the House last night and passed for the first time after a lively debate.

A motion to discharge the committee from consideration of the bill was made by Mr. Baldwin, of Delaware, who contended that it would correct defects in the present law since the law of 1913, W. H. Wilson, chairman of the committee, said that in his opinion the bill had been so changed in the Senate that it was unfair.

The committee was discharged by a vote of 93 to 86 and objections were made when first reading was asked on the bill and the rule governing that order of business was suspended. The bill was put on the second reading calendar of the House for to-day.

Efforts to send the Senate bill to permit women watchers at the polls this November failed after a roll call was forced. Mr. Stern, of Philadelphia, who made the motion, said that it had been considered in the Judiciary General Committee and should have gone to the Elections Committee. Advocates of suffrage who were in the hall applauded when the vote was taken showing the motion to recommit defeated by a vote of 97 nays and 77 yeas.

Election Bills Reported
Three of the series of election law amendments were reported out in the House last night by the Elections Committee. One of the bills prevents independent nominations by papers; another prohibits withdrawals of candidates after nominations are made, and a third prohibits the pre-emption of party names after primaries.

Two other election bills reported out in the House provide that when a candidate for Judge receives 51 per cent of the vote he shall be considered elected, and the other amends the second class city election law.

The Reideman bill providing for a bureau of elevator inspection in the Department of Labor and Industry is dead. An effort was made to reconsider the vote by which it was dropped from the calendar, but the motion fell by a vote of 68 for and 90 against.

The House passed the Republican organization bill which takes first place on the ballot away from the Democrats by amending the election law so that the result of the previous general election and not the Presidential election shall be used in establishing the places on the ballot. The vote was 128 yeas and 51 nays. The House Democrats opposed the bill.

Stock Transfer Bill Passes
The administration stock transfer bill was passed by the House by a vote of 159 to 25, after the members had sustained Speaker Ambler in his ruling that the bill was not similar to one defeated several days ago.

Clarence A. Velder
The funeral of Clarence Alvret Velder, a meat inspector at the State hospital, who died Sunday at his home, 546 Curtin street, will be held from his home to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Harvey Klaer, pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian church, will be in charge of the services. Interment will be in the East Harrisburg cemetery.

ROYALTON TEACHERS CHOSEN

School Board Decides to Co-operate in Work of Cleaning Borough

(Special to the Star-Independent.)
Royalton, Pa., May 18.—Members of the School Board last evening elected teachers for five of the six borough schools, again fixed the school year at eight months and decided to join the borough authorities in their clean-up movement, which began yesterday.

The selection of the High school principal was deferred until a date not yet fixed. Teachers were selected for the remaining schools as follows: Grammar, David Brinser; intermediate, Miss Mary L. Gardner; secondary, Miss Dorothy Howland; second primary, Miss Irene L. Churchman; first primary, Miss Anna Luft. The percentage of attendance again was reported at 80. The board unanimously decided to improve the school building surroundings under the clean-up plan and agreed to have the work begun at once.

August 30 was fixed as the date for the opening of the next school term. Some minor details, such as closing the tax year, making building repairs and purchasing supplies, also were considered.

TWO NEARLY MEET DEATH

Young Men Escape With Light Injuries

When Crane Falls
While working on a large crane at No. 1 mill of the Central Iron and Steel Company yesterday, Bruce Krone, 20 years old, New Cumberland, and Emory Hicks, 151 Paxton street, this city, narrowly escaped death when the machine jumped the trolley and fell.

Hicks fell beneath the crane and received a sprain of the right shoulder, laceration of the scalp and bruises about the body. Krone's injuries consisted of a lacerated scalp and bruises and contusions about the body. Both were treated at the Harrisburg hospital.
