CHRISTIE MACDONALD WHO WILL BE AT MAJESTIC THURSDAY

Miss Christie MacDonald, the dainty prima donna who is to be seen here at the Majestic on Thursday evening in her greatest success, "Sweethearts," seems to be destined by librettists and composers to play a succession of princesses. Her tremendous success in "The Spring Maid" is still fresh in memory and in "Sweethearts" she has the part of a member of the royal family who has been hidden away when very young and whose real identity does not develop until toward the close of the second act of the opera.—Adv.

Works, 1409 N. Third, Branch, Hoffman-Kerck 27 Chestnut. Bell phone. Calling and delivering.

Charles Frohman recently observed that patriotism in this country is not sufficiently crystallized to warrant a manager in putting a patriotic play before the general public. Time and again it has been proved that a national danger crystallizes the sentiment of a race, and its sweep is well nigh universal. What Mr. Frohman observed probably is a lack of intensified nationalism. It is less than fifty years since the people began to call the United States a nation, therefore national sentiment has had less than two generations to develop and crystallize.
But it would be exceedingly risky for any other crystal to give our national dignity a jolt.

Painting the Great Structure is a Long and Costly Job.

Every three or four years it becomes necessary to paint the Brooklyn bridge in order to prevent the corrosion and deterioration of its structural members, says Popular Mechanics Magazine.
This is a task which requires the services of a small army of "human spiders," who climb about over the web of cables and stringers with almost as much composure and agility as if they were insects instead of men.

With buckets and brushes, they cling in the network, swinging in the wind as the constant stream of traffic surges across the East river. Between them and the river beneath there are more than 200 feet of space and the cables.

Every exposed strand and spot of the whole structure must be painted, so the men scramble over the cables until they reach the topmost point of the great towers, which extend 272 feet above the water, and finally end up on the scaffolds suspended beneath the structure, where the mastsheads of passing vessels scrape under the plankings, sometimes missing them by a margin of only a few inches. This work is continued usually for six or eight months before it is completed and costs approximately $50,000.—Exchange.

Letter For Letter.
"Why does a poet begin so many of his sentences with 'O'?" said the politician.

"There's no answer," replied Mr.
Penwidge. "Why does a speechmaker begin so many of his sentences with 'I'?"—Washington Star.

BERLIN PAPER'S STORY OF NEGOTIATIONS LEADING UP TO AUSTRO-ITALIAN BREAK

Amsterdam, via London, May 21.— It became increasingly clear after the death of Marquis San Giuliano, says the "Norddeutsche Zeitung," of Berlin, in giving a history of the negotiations with Italy, that strong forces were at work in Rome to wring special advantages from Austro-Hungary in exchange for the maintenance of neutrality by Italy. Germany, therefore made every effort to bring about a friendly agreement between the two countries but from the beginning negotiations were made difficult because Italy insisted territorial concessions should take effect immediately.

Italy first made known her demands on April 11. They included the absolute renunciation by Austria of Trent, including the German town of Bozen; a readjustment of the frontier along the Isongo river; the inclusion of Triest in a new independent state and the cession of the Curzolari archipelago together with recognition of her supreme interests in Albania.

In return Italy is said to have offered a lump sum of $40,000,000 for debt redemption and engaged to remain neutral as long as this war lasted.

Moderation of Claims Asked Germany did its utmost to induce Italy to moderate its claims as it believed the unconditional acceptance of them would have affronted seriously the interests and dignity of Austria.
While negotiations still were pending, however, the Italian ambassador at Vienna presented on May 4, an unexpected declaration that Italy regarded the triple alliance as having been broken by Austria's proceedings against Serbia in August. The ambassador declared he had been instructed to withdraw all offers made by his government. With regard to Germany the Italian government confined itself to bringing to the knowledge of Berlin a declaration presented at Vienna on May 4.

Last Attempt to Satisfy Italy
"The last attempt to prevent our former ally," says the newspaper, "from joining our enemies was made on May 10, by considerably extended promises on the part of Austria-Hungary, which the imperial chancery read in the Reichstag on the 16th.
After the presentation of these negotiations no Green book or other declared that if Italy takes up arms against her previous allies she will be guilty of a breach of faith and trust and will be acting in order to gain increased powers which was offered the Italian people with all possible guarantees, voluntarily, without bloodshed."

GERMAN STEAMER OPHELIA A LAWFUL PRIZE, SAYS COURT

London, May 21.—The prize court has decided that the German steamer Ophelia, captured in the North sea by the British destroyer Meteor October 18, 1914, and brought into Yarmouth the following day, was a lawful prize.
Germany protested that this act of capture was in violation of The Hague convention, declaring that the Ophelia was a hospital ship. The British government contended that the Ophelia only purported to be a hospital ship and that as a matter of fact she was masquerading under false colors for scouting purposes.

Got Ball's Strange Flight.
That a golf ball does not travel in a parabolic curve was asserted by Professor C. Vernon Boys during the trial of a patent suit in the British chancery court. Professor Boys, who had been called as an expert on ballistics, described experiments he had made with mechanically propelled golf balls and said that these when driven hard more than counteracted the attraction of gravity. "A good flight," he said, "is very nearly straight for a long time, then gradually rising and then falling."

Aztec Emeralds.
Among the Aztec treasures of Mexico were found many fine emeralds. They were exquisitely cut, and it is from this source that the magnificent emeralds now forming part of the royal collection of Spain were supposed to have come.—Exchange.
