FUNERAL MONTHS AFTER BURIAL
Condition of Mother Burned in Blaze Delays Services
Lebanon, Pa., May 24.—The meeting house at Fontana, in South Annville township, was filled with people yesterday for funeral services for John Ebersole, 2 1/2-year-old son of Henry Ebersole, of that place.
The little boy was burned to death March 24 in the destruction by fire of the Ebersole homestead, and although the charred body was recovered from the ruins and buried, funeral services were postponed until yesterday on account of the serious condition of the mother, who was badly burned in seeking to save the boy after she had carried out three other children.
She contracted pneumonia, lingering for days between life and death.

Dry and Left Face Scaly. Could not Sleep Till Tired Out. Used Two Cakes Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Child Entirely Well.

2113 Carter St., Wilmington, Del.—"My little boy of seven years was broken out with rash on the left side of his face. It came in red pimples. They were dry and left his face scaly. At times he would dig his face. Rest he couldn't get till just so tired out he would fall asleep.
"I used different drugs and salves and found they did no good. Nothing did any good. Finally I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed his face with warm water and the Soap and applied the Ointment. I bought two cakes of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment and he is entirely well. Nothing but Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it." (Signed) Mrs. Lillie M. Lyons, October 27, 1914.

Stop Skidding for the Scrap Heap

Friction is slowly, surely sending your car to the scrap heap. In spite of the best lubricating oils and greases, it continually wears away the finest bearings. Every bearing is full of little holes and pin points that can readily be seen with a microscope. It is these that cause friction. Dixon's selected flake graphite is the only lubricant known that will fill up these holes and build up around these pin points a smooth, oily veneer that grows finer and more smooth by continual use and wear. It is unaffected by heat or cold. It will not turn thin. The Joseph Dixon Crucible Company are the only people in the world who produce this peculiar form of graphite. With this rare form of flake as a basis we have produced a line of graphite lubricants specially designed for every separate part of the car. Try Dixon's Transmission and Differential Grease No. 677 on your car and see what a difference it will make in mileage and smoothness of running. Dealers who sell real service know and recommend Dixon's Graphite Greases.

Ask your dealer for the Dixon Lubricating Chart.

DOGS OF WAR NO MYTH

Trained Canines Play Odd Part In Europe's War—Interesting Events In the Turmoil

The tales of gallant St. Bernards succoring the lost in the Alpine drifts and the romantic yarns of the smuggler dogs of Flanders are far too rivaled by the part played by man's canine allies in the great war in Europe.

The utilization of dogs for the purpose of drawing light field pieces, as well as small ammunition wagons and hospital stores, has been reduced to a science by the armies of the warring nations. It is interesting to note that this novel means of transportation was suggested to and rejected by the United States government as being impractical, yet its value has been effectually demonstrated by nearly every power across the sea.

The economical policy which imbues nations and individuals alike throughout crowded Europe fastened early upon the dog as an asset in many callings, and it is estimated that there are more "working dogs" in Europe than pets. Among the peasantry the canine friend is as useful as among the Eskimo of the far North, and in times of dire stress represents a value as food for his master, thus is useful to the end.

The importance of the dog for war use is fully and interestingly told by Willis J. Abbot in his great book "The Nations at War," which is being offered by the Star-Independent to its readers for the mere presentation fee of 98 cents, to cover book rights and handling. This elaborate volume, the first authoritative work of its kind yet issued, is to be marketed for $3, but through special arrangement the Star-Independent was enabled to secure a limited quantity of the first edition for its readers at a mere fraction of its worth.

The volume, written by Mr. Abbot's staff of able news gatherers in Europe, represents the highest achievement of some of the keenest minds on the continent. The book is profusely illustrated by more than 463 actual new fresh authoritative photographs, many taken under fire, and is embellished with 20 full-page color plates of thrilling and amazing scenes. Many of the photos in this volume would never have been published had the military censors known of their existence. The edition of this volume while large is rapidly diminishing before the demands of Star-Independent readers and those who have not received a copy should avail themselves of this golden opportunity without delay.—Adv.
