

WHERE ITALIAN TROOPS CROSSED BORDER TO AUSTRIA

Advancing from the northeastern frontier Italian troops in the first invasion of Austria crossed the Judrio and occupied the heights between that river and the Isonzo, having captured the towns of Cormons, Cervignano and Terzo. At the same time the Italian forces were supported on the sea by destroyers which attacked Porto Buso. The object of the advance is believed to be the capture of Trieste, in the old Italian Province of Istria.

I tried to convince him that the pleasure had been all mine and then inquired for Mrs. Titus and the countess. 'They're both here, but the good Lord only knows where. Mrs. Titus goes driving every morning. Roads are fine if you can stick to them. Almie said something last night about riding over to Fassifern this forenoon with Amberdale and young Skelly. Let's see, it's half past 10. Yes, they've gone by this time. Why didn't you write or telegraph Almie? She'll be as mad as a wet hen when she finds you've come without letting her know. 'I thought I should like to take her by surprise,' I mumbled uncomfortably. 'And my son Jasper—why, he will explode when he hears you're here. He's gone over to Covington to see a girl off on the train for Louisville. You've never seen such a boy. He is always going to Covington with some girl to see that she gets the right train home. But why are we wasting time here when we might be doing a few holes before lunch? I'll take you on. Of course, you understand I'm a wretched player, but I've got one virtue: I never talk about my game and I never tell funny stories while my opponent is addressing the ball. I'm an old duffer at the game, but I've got more sense than most duffers.' We sauntered down to the club house, where he insisted on buying me a dozen golf balls and engaging a caddy for me by the week. Up to the moment we stepped up to the first tee he talked incessantly of Almie and Rosamary, but the instant the game was on he settled into the grim reserve that characterizes the man who takes any enterprise seriously he it work or play. I shall not discuss our game further than to say that he played in atrociously bad form, but with a purpose that let me to some degree into the secret of his success in life. If I do say it myself I am a fairly good player. I don't believe I was ever in better humor than on this gay November morn. I even apologized for Mr. Titus' execrable foibles. I amiably suggested that he was a little off his game and that he'd soon strike his gait and give me a sound beating after the turn. His smile was polite, but ironic, and it was not long before I realized that he knew his own game too well to be affected by cajolery. He just pegged away, always playing the odd or worse. The total of premiums paid 191 cent companies during the year was $333,647,000, he said.

TAFT AT ALTOONA
Guest of Bar Association at Banquet After His Lecture
Altoona, Pa., May 28.—Ex-President Taft approved the fight of the railroads to repeal the full crew laws in his lecture on "Signs of the Times" here last night. Safety of train operation, he thought, could be left in the hands of the public service commissions.

BOY LOSES THREE FINGERS
Explosion of Dynamite Cap in School-room Maims Nine-year-old Lad
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 28.—Robert Walters, aged 9 years, carried a dynamite cap when a playmate gave him one and when he picked it a few times with a pin, an explosion occurred which blew off three of his fingers and created a panic in the schoolroom of Miss Eleanor Brown over which the teacher had no control. The boy is now in a hospital and the police have started an investigation as it has been discovered that school children have been stealing dynamite caps from a paving company and taking them into the school rooms.

BILLY'S BED GOES FOR $8
And Paterson Tabernacle Fetches $2,004 Under Hammer
Paterson, N. J., May 28.—Abe Cohen, the city's most popular auctioneer, stood on Billy Sunday's platform yesterday afternoon and knocked down the "Glory Tabernacle" to the highest bidder, the Dillison Lumber Company, of this city. Six hundred bidders and curious folk, half of them women, were in the front of the choir loft and benches. The structure brought $2,004.

CHAPTER XXVII.
The Proposes.
AS a rule, the poorer the player the louder his execrations. Jasper Titus was one of the worst players I've ever seen, but he was the personification of gentility even under the most provoking circumstances. For instance, at the famous "Crater" it was my good fortune to pitch a ball fairly on the green from the tee. His masher shot landed his ball about twenty feet up the steep hill which guards the green. It rolled half-way back. Without a word of disgust or so much as a scowl he climbed up and blazed away at it again, not once, but fourteen times by actual count. On the seventeenth stroke he triumphantly laid his ball on the green. Most men would have lifted and conceded the hole to me. He played it out.

times in my short career, but for the life of me I cannot understand what attraction it possesses that could induce people to go there for luncheon and then spend a whole afternoon loitering about the place. But that seems to have been precisely what the countess and his lordship did on the day of my arrival at the Homestead. The "other chap," Skelly, came riding home alone at 3 o'clock. She did not return until nearly 6. By that time I was in a state of suppressed fury that almost drove me to the railway station with a single and you might say childish object in view.
I had a pleasant visit with Mrs. Titus, who seemed overjoyed to see me. In fact, I had luncheon with her. Mr. Titus, it appeared, never ate luncheon. He had a dread of typhoid, I believe, and as he already possessed gout and insomnia and an intermittent tendency to pain in his abdomen and couldn't drink anything alcoholic or eat any-

Save On Coal
People used to wait till Winter to buy coal. Nowadays the lower prices that go into effect April 1, make it profitable for them to fill their bins for cold weather early in the Summer.
Kelley's hard pea coal is now 25c cheaper. Kelley's furnace sizes are now 50c cheaper.
But don't delay too long for all coal prices advance July 1.
