From the neighborhood of Belfast, Ireland, comes the best blood in the United States, the Scotch-Irish. From that race have descended many, if not the large majority of the conspicuous men of our country in every class and profession. The Westfield Republican tells the following story of a lad coming from the locality named. It is just such perseverance and energy that mark all of that blood:

He is an orphan bearing the name of David Armitage, and before he struck out for himself, lived with his grandmother, in Belfast, Ireland. By dint of prudent economy, with the help of his grandmother, he accumulated four pounds sterling, and with this fund purchased a half fare ticket to America. On shipboard, being a bright and pleasant boy without friends, he soon attracted the special attention, not only of the captain but of the cook as well, and it is to be presumed that he fared quite as well as did many an older one who paid for all the cabin and larder had to offer. He was landed in Boston but to New York he wanted to go, so was dispatched thither by the interested captain. He arrived at Castle Garden and found himself alone in America. He gave his name to the officers in charge of emigrants, and told them he had an uncle living in Westfield by the name of Robert Shaw. There are a great number of Westfields in the United States, and as the lad did not know what state his friends lived in, postals were sent to twelve different Westfields, all addressed to Robert Shaw. The one directed to Westfield, N. Y., was answered by telegram by Mr. Shaw of that place, and funds were forwarded immediately, with which the young traveler easily found his way to the desired destination, arriving there on Friday. He is a bright, pleasant boy of thirteen years, and his enterprise has brought him to a good home where he will be well cared for.

A lady in Salt Lake City, who has enjoyed the privilege of attending a family dinner party at which the host introduced his second wife to his first wife and to his other acquaintances, has confided her impressions to the Sacramento Union. After dinner, which dragged terribly, the bridegroom looking very sheepish indeed, preparations were made for the opera. He placed his arm gently around the slender waist of his new bride, folded her cloak, close to her form and drew her toward him in the sight of his first wife and all the guests. She responded to his caress with a tender glance, and the lady who describes the scene noticed in the first wife's pallid face a look of agonized endurance mingled with devilish malignity. When the visitor expressed her sympathy after the departure of the bride and bridegroom, the first wife replied: "I am not jealous, but happy in this new love of my husband. Our faith teaches us to love these sisters in marriage as our own flesh. This marriage is not an estrangement of my husband's love, as it would be in an unsanctified Gentile, but a remarriage to myself. In this marriage I live over again my own espousal, my own bridal, and renew again the first sweets of married love." When the other guests, had gone, however, the truth came out unreservedly. "I am most wretched. Between me and any celestial lights, or any glory or peace or consolation in this life or in the world to come, there stands that woman. Between me and all the light of my religion stands that woman. This girl's face is hateful to me; that my husband should love one for her mere beauty alone! My imagination cannot be held back from all the soul-torturing, crucifying things which follow in the train of his marriage.

Text Book Uniformity.

RESULT WHERE BOOKS HAVE TO STAND ON THEIR OWN MERIT.

At a Convention of School Directors, of Centre County, held at Bellefonte, December 26, 1878, pursuant to the call of H. Meyer, Esq., County Superintendent, for the purpose of considering the propriety of taking measures to secure a uniformity of the text-books used in the schools of said county, the following action was taken, over fifty directors being present and nearly all the district in the county being represented:

COPY OF MINUTES.

Upon motion of C. P. Stonerod, of Snow Shoe township, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS: Great expense and waste are frequently incurred by the present and constantly changing variety of text-books used in the common schools of Centre county, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the representative directors here in session, that a system of text-books, suitable, complete and uniform, be adopted in accordance with the laws of the State, throughout the county.

Upon motion of J. C. P. Jones, the following plan was adopted with but one dissenting vote, to carry into effect the following preamble and resolutions:

First. The various publishing houses to send samples of their books to each school board in the county for examination and to submit therewith the lowest exchange, introductory and wholesale prices, and the length of time they will guarantee to furnish them at said price.

Second. No agent of any publishing house to be permitted to do any work in the county, to be either general or local agent, beyond sending his books and terms as above stated. Any house or agent violating this understanding, their books to be counted out of the contest.

Third. The several school boards of the county, after examination of the various books which may have been submitted, to hold a meeting at which each director shall make out a list of the books which he prefers to have adopted in the county, and send it to Henry Meyer, Esq., County Superintendent, at Rebersburg, Pa., prior to the first day of June, 1879, who shall make several statements so sent, and the books upon the various branches having the highest number of votes or preference shall be the series recommended for county uniformity.

The County Superintendent, after having made the above canvass as above, to send the result of the same to each of the papers in the county for publication.

W. C. HEINLE, Chairman.

J. C. P. JONES, Secretary.

The following is the result of the votes of the Directors of Centre county, Pa., on the uniformity of Text-books in said county, with the number of votes cast for each book, under the foregoing plan and resolutions:
