The maiden name of the deceased was Cor-TER. The remains were accompanied to this place by MICHAEL HANLEY, and several other gentlemen and ladies from Pittston.

JOHN RICHMOND, an excentric old man of 75 years, living near Lynn, Susquehanna Co.. has been annoved considerable of late by two brothers, GEORGE and EUGENE HAWLEY, who would go to RICHMOND's house and abuse him and obtain provisions. RICH-MOND keeps a loaded gun in the house, and last week he told them if they came to his house again he should kill them. Yeste day, at 6 P. M., the HAWLEYS returning from a hunt stopped at RICHMOND'S. RICHEOND ordered them off. EUGENE, aged 20, was armed with a bar, used in a horse power threashing machine, went into the house and was put out by RICHMOND's son-in-law, ASHLEY BUTTON. He stopped before the house and turned to go back, and commenced to threaten RICHMOND and BUTTON, when RICHMOND shot him dead. Squire TYLER held an inquest. No arrest has been made.

Superintendent's Notes.

January 19.---Visited the following schools of West Burlington: Blackwell, Fannie Gerould; Bourne, Addie Walters; Steam Mill, Lura Wilcox, all of which are doing well. The primary reading classes-1st and 2d-in the Blackwell were heard but twice daily, instead of four times. There is no necessity for this defect, even in large schools, if time is properly economized. The grammar class in analysis and parsing at the Bourne school showed good instruction. The Bourne school house is a good substantial building and outbuildings, and on lot of requisite size-was erected during the summer, the old house having been burned about a year ago. Director A. J. Stanton accompanied to his school, and in a few earnest words advised and encouraged the pupils. On inquiring of patrons heard good reports of O. J. Bowman and Jennie Howe, teaching in Burlington twp., and of G. P. Spencer, in Burlington Borough. Most teachers now own and use their own globes, and very few fail to teach analysis of letters in penmanship, Ventilate school rooms more, teachers, and thus protect pupils from the poisonous gases of the school room, also protect school property from marking and destruction.
