Another change in the temperature; cloudy and raining this morning.

We are requested to state that Mr. ACKLEY will certainly be present at the singing school this evening.

The funeral of the late Mrs. VANDERCOOK will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Presbyterian Church.

It is with profound sorrow that we announce the death of Mrs. HARRY MIX. She expired this morning after a protracted and painful illness.

Prof. F. A. ALLEN, of Mansfield, Pa., has, at his own expense, fitted up in his fine brick block a free reading room, upon the tables of which are all of the best publications of the day, about fifty. He lights, warms, and keeps an attendant there from 9 A. M. to 10:30 P. M. The newspapers are so arranged that one can sit down, turn the leaves and read as conveniently as a book. No smoking is allowed or a book to be taken from the room. Such a man as Prof. ALLEN should be, and doubtless is, appreciated.—Elmira Advertiser.

At quite an expense Superintendent RYAN is preparing blanks to be sent to every school in the county, and on which teachers are requested to keep a report of all their scholars. These blanks will be furnished in duplicate, one to be kept in the report book for reference, the other to be exhibited at the County Fair next fall. If the teachers of the county do their duty, and have the blanks properly filled, they will form an interesting feature of the educational exhibit.

Those who receive the Congressional Record, will see that Congressman OVERTON is not idle. He has recently presented the petition of A. M. CARD and ten other soldiers of the late war, that they be paid the difference between the value of greenbacks and gold at the they were paid their services as soldiers—referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. He also introduced the petition of CHARLES L. FINNEY and 42 other ex-volunteer soldiers of Wyoming county, Pennsylvania, against the passage of Senate bill 496, relating to the pension claim—referred to the Committee on Invalid Pensions; the petition of C. A. DEAN and 53 others, citizens of Susquehanna county, for the passage of a law to regulate commerce between the states—referred to the Committee of Commerce. Also, the petition of C. A. DEAN and 50 others, citizens of Susquehanna county, for the amendment of the patent laws—referred to the Committee on Patents. Also, the petition of WESLEY M. COOPER, for the amendment of the bounty laws—referred to the committee on Military Affairs. Also the petition of Colonel VICTOR E. PILLET and 19 others, citizens of Bradford county, for the enactment of a law to regulate interstate commerce—referred to the committee on commerce. Also the petition of Hon. V. E. PIOLLET and 18 others, citizens of Bradford county, for the amendment of the patent laws—referred to the committee on patents.

Personal.

Miss REBECCA STROUD, of Philadelphia, is visiting her brother, Mr. G. D. STROUD, on Second Street.

Street Engineer MYER yesterday run the lines for the proposed new borough of North Towanda.

FRED BARNEY, the blacksmith, is suffering from a swollen hand, occasioned by getting some poisonous substance from the hoof of a horse on it where the skin was broken.

Capt. GEO. V. MYER and Capt. J. A. WILT go to Reading this afternoon, as delegates to the G. A. R. Annual Encampment.

HUGH J. BALDWIN, of Waverly, was in town yesterday.

Col. J. W. MASON, U. S. A., who had just been granted two months extension of his leave of absence was ordered back to his command by telegraph last evening, and took his departure this morning.

Miss FLORA D. WOOD, of East Smithfield, has been spending a few days in town, visiting her friends. She was the guest of Mrs. A. WICKHAM.

In a notice of prominent individuals in Washington, in the Capital we find the following reference to our old friend SHAW:

"Age always precedes beauty," and Nestor Shaw takes the lead. His excellence consists in attending to his own affairs without interfering with those of other people, and he has made money by it. Although the nestor of the Row, he is a young man and vigorous. He goes armed and is dangerous—to get ahead of."

The picture is well drawn, and will be readily recognized as truthful and correct by the gentleman's many friends here.

The Name of Mother.

There are words that speak of quenchless love,
Which burns in hearts we cherish,
And accents that tell of friendship proved,
That will never blight or perish,
There are soft words murmured by dear,
Dear lips
Far richer than any other.

But the sweetest word that the ear hath heard
Is the blessed name of mother.

Oh, magic word! may it never die
From the lips that love to speak it;
Nor melt away from the trusting hearts
That ever would break to keep it.
Was there ever a name that lived like this?
Will there ever be such another?
The angels have reared in heaven a shrine
For the holy name of Mother.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR FEBRUARY—Opens with two child-songs by Alfred Tennyson, the poet laureate of England. One of these is reprinted near the end of the number with its music, which also was sent by Mr. Tennyson.

The frontispiece, a full-page picture, on fine grey paper, represents the "Princes in the Tower," and was engraved on wood by G. Krull, after a mezzotint engraving by Samuel Cousins, of the painting by J. E. Millais.

Besides the installments of the two serials—"Jack and Jill," by Louisa M. Alcott, with pictures by Frederick Dielman; and "Among the Lakes," by William O. Stoddard, with illustrations by W. Taber. There are six complete short stories. Among them are: "Edith's Burglar," by Francis Hodgson Burnett, a tale of a queer little girl who astonished a burglar—illustrated by W. Taber; "Mary Elizabeth," a pathetic "temperance story," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps; "Saved from Siberia," by A. A. Hayes, Jr., a story of Nihilism in St. Petersburg, with pictures by J. E. Kelly and J. Harrison Mills; and "A Faithful Friend," a true story of a wonderful pet dog, by John V. Sears, with two illustrations by Hermann Faber.

There is a humorous rhymed alphabet by Helen J. Ford, printed in large type for little readers, and illustrated with twenty-six pictures by L. Hopkins; and Aunt Fanny describes the audiphone and its wonderful effects, in an article entitled "Hearing Without Ears."

The poetry of the number—besides Mr. Tennyson's two songs—comprises contributions from S. W. Hallock (with a picture by Mary Hallock Foote), Celia Thaxter, E. McKean Ely, and Arlo Bates; and among the jingles is one illustrated by Kate Greenaway.

Several comic pictures by Frank Beard, L. Hopkins, J. G. Francis and others appear in the number. The "Letter-Box," in addition to funny bits and letters from the boys and girls, contains an item telling the story of the frontispiece, accompanied by an engraving after a painting by Delaroché; and "Jack-in-the-Pulpit" and the "Riddle-Box" are full of novelty and interest.

The erroneous announcement that Mail Agent SHERMAN had resigned, has caused that gentleman and his friends great annoyance, and has subjected the appointing power to no little trouble by reason of the numerous applications for the position.

An excellent number is the American Agriculturist for Feb. 1, with its 125 articles and items, and 100 engravings, giving practical, useful information. Among these are: Work for the month laid out; Grafting fully explained; Various Humbugs exposed; Fencing and fences; Important chapter on Feeding and Feeding Stuffs; Will Grain Advance or decline; Among the Farmers; Many Hints and helps for Farmers, with illustrations; Keeping One Cow, Prize Essays; Prairie Cattle Shelters; Complete Farm Buildings for $3,000, with engravings and specifications; Honey Locust Hedges; Bermuda Grass for the South; Apple Diseases; Rapid Tree-Planting, west; Duck Raising for Profit; Full Housekeepers' and Childrens' Departments, etc. $1 50 a year; 4 copies $5.00. ORANGE JUDD CO., New York, Publishers.
