JOS. B. BERBE, former teller of Citizens National Bank, paid us a flying visit last evening.

The bell at the Catholic Church is undergoing repairs, and will not be rung for a few days.

Mr. SMITH will lecture on temperance again at the Baptist Church this evening. Let him have a full house.

Miss LOTTA KEELE has returned home, after a two weeks visit at Elmira and Che-mung, N. Y.

We are informed that J. P. KIRBY contem-plates the erection of a brick block to contain two stores and an opera house, just south of the Means House lot.

If the attendance at the Lin-Ta Reception, to-morrow evening, is at all commensurate with the effort being put forth by the com-mittee, the entertainment will be a grand success.

CHARLIE ROSE, who was at one time a clerk in POWELL & Co.'s, died in Honolulu, Sand-wich Islands, on the first of December. Mr. ROSE was a very popular young man while a resident of this place, and his many friends will mourn his death.

Mrs. DIANA L. MIX, whose death was announced yesterday, was born in 1810, in Onondaga county, New York. She was mar-ried to HARRY MIX in 1833, and has since resided in this place. She was one of the oldest members of the M. E. Church, and was one of seven who made up the first class of Methodists in Towanda. Her life afforded a bright example of the influence of the Chris-tian religion, and the church with which she had so long worshiped will feel her loss, while the cause of religion has lost one of its most earnest, faithful, consistent and efficient advocates and workers. Though she will no more mingle with the people of God here, the beautiful influence of her holy life will long cause her to be remembered by all true worshippers.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, on Main street, to-morrow after-noon, at 2:30 o'clock.

The Nail Works well is at last completed, and the pump is being put in position to-day. Plenty of water has been obtained, notwith-standing the prophecies of croakers that it was only a waste of time and money to make the experiment. The experienced and practi-cal proprietors, BOSTLEY & Co., however seem to have understood what they were doing, and their faith has been rewarded. We had the pleasure of being lowered to the bottom of the opening this morning, through the courtesy of Mr. BOSTLEY. The walls are of solid rock; the well is about 11 feet in diame-ter at the top, and some 16 feet at the bottom. The water gurgles up from the bottom and trickles down the sides in a perfect shower, with some of the larger vein- plugged up the flow reaches about 1200 gallons per hour, which is raised to the top by horse-power.

The statement in our yesterday's personals concerning the departure of Col. MASON, U. S. A., was partially erroneous. Col. MASON has been stationed for a year past in command of Fort Fetterman, Wyoming Territory. His leave of absence (extending three months, and dating about the first instant), had not yet expired, when he received a telegram from General CROOK, commanding the de-partment, requesting him to temporarily sus-pend his leave and proceed to take charge of the construction of certain bridges on the route for supplies from Rawlins station, W. T., on the Union Pacific to reach the troops moved from different points on the frontier after the fatal engagement of Maj. Thorn-burg last fall. The route extends across the White, Bear, Little Snake, and the North Fork of the Platte river, and other streams. The completion of these bridges before the spring floods is of great moment in maintain-ing a communication with the base of supplies for the advanced detachment, now in the Ute country. The selection of Col. MASON to carry forward the construction of these bridge-s—a work of difficulty, and requiring equal energy and engineering skill—is flattering testimony to that officer's standing in the service.

SCRIBNER FOR FEBRUARY.—The midwin-ter (February) Scribner (of which 125,000 copies have been printed, to supply the grow-ing demand in England and America), is as unique in points as in the size of the edition.

The most prominent feature, perhaps, is the paper on Edison's Electric Light, by his mathematician, Mr. Francis R. Upton, which is endorsed as the "first correct and authori-tative" account in a letter from Mr. Edison, printed in fact-simile, in this issue of Scrib-ner. The inventor has been so often and so greatly misrepresented as holding theories most opposite to his own, that it will be of interest to see just what he is willing to put himself on record as claiming for the new invention. Fifteen drawings accompany the paper, including one of the lamp at its exact size.

The first of Mr. Eugene Schuyler's illustrat-ed papers, on the life of Peter the Great, given in this number, covers a wide range of interest, placing a most fascinating historical era clearly before the reader. In his preface, Mr. Schuyler offers to reply to any question respecting the topics he may treat. Incidental-ly, this series will shed much light on con-temporary Russia, and, in the illustrations, will exhibit some of the best pictorial art of the Empire, past and present. The first in-stallment contains some remarkable cuts. The frontispiece is the one of the 400 portraits of Peter which was best liked by himself.

Mrs. Burnett's new story, in four parts, entitled "Louisiana," is also begun in this number. The scene is laid in the North Caro-lina mountains, the characters being chiefly some "literary people" from New York, and the ingenuous young lady from whom the story takes its name. The father, Mr. Rogers, who appears in the second part, is said to be as good a piece of character drawing as Sam-amy Craddock, in "That Lass o' Lowries," or Briarley, in "Haworth's." He frankly con-fesses his inability to write novels: "The scenes on 'em all, now, bein' mostly laid in Bagdad, would be agin me, if nothin' else war."

Mr. Cable's "Grandissimes" is full of action and character, and continues to reveal a strong basis for the high claims which are made for it. As an expression of Creole life, in the beginning of the century, it seems likely to go at once into the common fund of historical novels.

Two suggestive essays, for more than tran-sient value, on topics now occupying much attention, are "Present Phases of Sunday School Work," by Rev. Edward Eggleston, and "The Political Outlook," by an anonym-ous writer. Apropos of the Rakes Centen-ary, Mr. Eggleston makes a number of keen, but friendly criticisms upon popular methods of conducting Sunday School work. The writer on politics gives business reasons for thinking that the next Presidential election will be a dangerous one, and suggestions looking toward the lessening of the peril.

A biographical sketch of John Bright is made timely by his recent speech on America, and by the revival of practical interest in Great Britain.

A rollicking holiday paper on Bicycling, is contributed by Mr. Charles E. Pratt, of Bos-ton, under the caption, "A Wheel around the Hub." It relates the adventures of a party of forty riders, during a two days run of one hundred miles, in the vicinity of Boston. The drawings in this picture are unique, and full of "go."

Country subjects are not forgotten; in fact there are contributions on this class of topics by three practical farmers: "Notes of a Walker," by John Burroughs, "New England Fences" (illustrated), by Rowland C. Robin-son, and "A Southern Strawberry Farm" (illustrated), by Rev. E. P. Roe, being the fourth of his series on "Success with Small Fruits," the remaining two to be devoted to raspberries, gooseberries, currants and black-berries.

Mr. Boysen contributes a short story of Norway and Chicago, entitled "A Knight of Dannebrog."

A poem by Charles de Kay, entitled "Boozy Little Bat," is illustrated by Kappes, and there are others by W. C. Wilkinson, Marie Mason, Laura Winthrop Johnson and R. W. Gilder.

In "Topics of the Time," Dr. Holland says "A Word on Politics" (favoring Civil Service Reform), and discusses "Temperance Educa-tion" and "Familiarity." A "Communication from 'R. W. G.'" discusses the proposed but now abandoned "Restoration of St. Mark's." The reviews include books of poetry, travel, art, biography, country life and lexicography. Other subjects treated are "Roasting," "New Fruit Press," "Flour from Chestnuts," "Bridge building," "The Audiphone," "The Steering Screw," "Mechanical Extraction of Cream,"

"Novel Photo-Printing Press," "Simple Elec-trical Signal," and "Glass Sleepers." Among the contributions to the "Bric-a-Bac," are a keen piece of satire, called "An American Sketch," a sonnet by Mr. H. C. Bunner, and a humorous piece by the late Irwin Russell, entitled "The Polyphone." Others of Mr. Russell's pieces, serious and humorous, are soon to appear in this department.

Altogether this number of Scribner is one of great variety and interest.

The March Scribner will contain the long-looked-for paper on "The Tile Club Afloat," which is said to be even better, both in text and pictures, than "The Tile Club at Play," which was acknowledged to be the "magazine hit" of the last season.
