The Lehigh Valley coal and freight business has been heavy of late, and the trains long.

It is generally admitted that leap years are good seasons for fruit, especially pears.

The old cooper shop, where JONES killed himself, has been torn down.

Indications for business men—The business moon is just right for planting advertisements.

"Where shall I move to?" Is the question which just now agitates the average non-householder.

The owner of the shawl advertised in the REVIEW yesterday, called this morning and got the article.

We learn that the dwelling house of M. BING, in East Towanda, was burned Monday night. The family barely escaped in their night clothes.

Wellsboro had a $10,000 fire Sunday morning. Four buildings were destroyed, and ten business places broken up.

"Foive eyes, is it, that MICKEY KIRWIN has," said TOMMY last evening on reading the REVIEW, "and they have eliven lambs. Phat the d—1 does that mane ineway."

We are informed that several lectures are to be given under the auspices of the Helping Hand Society, of Christ Church. Further information will be given in future.

EDS. REVIEW.—Please say in your paper, some day between this and Monday next, that the Singing School will be continued on Tuesday evening next, at 7 o'clock P. M., March 2d, and oblige,

S. F. ACKLEY.

Many men are driven into flagrant sins by the unchristian treatment of those who profess to follow a merciful, forgiving Saviour, when, under great temptation, deviation has been made from the line of strict rectitude, no matter how sincerely the fault is repented of. With those who have never yielded to temptation, "No room for repentance" is accorded the erring. Such was not the teaching of our great Exemplar. He could say to the penitent "Go and sin no more."

Superintendent's Notes.

February 23 and 24.—Visited schools as follows: Burlington, Betts, B. K. Gustin; Highland, Jessie Howe; Hall, Lyman Sellick; Herrick, South Grove, Thomas McPherson; Stoney Point, G. Barnes; Graded School, J. S. Bovingdon and Amy Anderson; Landon, Bennie Landon. Director I. Soper accompanied to the Betts school, and Directors J. Foyle, H. H. Smith, R. S. Harkness, D. Nesbit, G. C. Reeve and G. Overpeck to the schools of Herrick, manifesting much interest in schools and school property. The schools are reported by directors and people as giving good satisfaction. The pupils at the Graded school, and at the Landon were examined considerably, and did credit to themselves and teachers. Hon. Geo. Landon, Frankie Landon, Mrs. Camp and Mr. Mittan, were present at the Landon school.

Personal.

Our old friend T. C. COWAN has been nominated, by the Greenbackers, for Mayor of Elmira.

WILLIAM SCOTT will move into the "Sandwich," with his sister, Mrs. BURTON KINGSBURY, and offers his house for rent.

Judge W. C. WEBB, of Topeka, Kansas, is visiting his brother, Hon. JAS. H. WEBB, in Smithfield. Judge WEBB has been in Washington conducting the proceedings to unseat Senator INGALLS.

Maj. DIVEN will probably be the Republican candidate for Mayor of Elmira. If he accepts he'll win.

MARCIA SCOTT, only daughter of D. W. SCOTT, will entertain some of her young friends this evening. We bespeak for the party an enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. JARVIS go home, to Cooperstown town, to-morrow.

GEO. STEVENS has gone west, to buy clover and timothy seed.

DRS. STANLEY and SCOTT, of Athens, were in town yesterday.

JAMES KIRWIN has resigned his position on the G. I. & S. road, and will engage with the Long Valley Coal Company.

Silence Under Trials.

BY PROFESSOR UPHAM.

When words and acts untrue, unkind
Against thy life like arrows fly,
Receive them with a patient mind,
Seek no revenge, make no reply.

Oh, holy science! Tis thy shield,
More strong than warrior's twisted mail;
A hidden strength, a might concealed,
Which worldly shafts in vain assail.

He who is silent in his cause,
Has left that cause to heavenly arms,
And Heaven's eternal aid and laws
Are swift to ward the threatening harms.

God is our great protecting power!
Be still! The Great Defender moves;
He watches well the dangerous hour,
Nor fails to save the child He loves.

A new puzzle, called "The Game of 15," is attracting considerable attention just now. A writer in the Rochester Democrat does not think much of it, and thus analyses the invention:

"Whoever invented 'the game of 15' either understood it or did not. If he understood it, in sending it into market he knowingly perpetrated a fraud upon the public. If he did not understand it he has unwittingly perpetrated upon the public one of the highest jokes of the season.

He calls it 'The Gem Puzzle' and gives us directions: 'Place the blocks in the box irregularly, then move until in the regular order; i. e., move until they are regularly arranged consecutively from 1 to 15, and gives a diagram of the numbers on the box as they will be when so arranged. Multitudes have looked and studied, and worked to accomplish this task under the delusion drawn from the statements upon the box, that under all circumstances its accomplishment is possible. Thus hours have been wasted and headaches superinduced, only to result in failure and mortification at not being able to accomplish what only a few moments before the merest child had easily done.

The fact is the 'puzzle' amounts to nothing. It does not rise to the dignity of a 'game.' If, in placing the blocks in the box they happen to fall into the right position, they can be moved into numerical order; but if they do not, it is impossible to move them into that order. To illustrate, they may be so placed that in coming to the last three—numbers 13, 14 and 15, they may be left in six different forms:

First—Regularly	.....13	14	15
Second—Irregularly	.....14	15	13
Third—Irregularly	.....15	13	14
Fourth—Inversely	.....15	14	13
Fifth—Irregularly	.....13	15	14
Sixth—Irregularly	.....14	13	15

If it so happens that they come out in either of the last three forms, 4, 5, or 6, it is impossible to move them into 'regular form,' and all time spent in the attempt is wasted. If it so happens that they come out in either the second or third form, the merest child can easily move them into 'regular form.' Again, all the numbers and squares except the last five, numbers 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15, with the six places, three in each of the last rows in box, are entirely useless, except as they aid in concealing the fraud by making the task of discovering that the 'puzzle' cannot be accomplished under the above conditions more difficult.

I have assumed that the mover commences at number 1 and moves toward 15. The same result will be reached in the last numbers, commence where and work as you may."

I want to rent a good dwelling house on the first of April.
