A good deal of interest is manifested in the coming Pennsylvania Democratic state convention. The state committee meets at Pittsburg March 11th, to select the time and place. This, according to a Times dispatch, will be the preliminary battleground of the friends and opponents of Tilden. That Tilden will make a great effort to carry this state cannot be doubted, and his first move was to have the state committee meet in Pittsburg, where it would be away from the Bayard influences of the Philadelphia Democrats. But the Philadelphia politicians will attend solidly and do all in their power to prevent Tilden's plans being carried out there. The Tilden-Randall idea is to have the state convention either at Pittsburg or Erie, while the anti-Tilden men want it in Harrisburg. Chairman Miller, of the state committee, who will be temporary chairman of the convention, is a Tilden man. Against Tilden the most powerful of the leaders are arrayed. In Philadelphia there are Berger, Cassidy and McGowan, and in the country Wallace, Woolverton, Souden, Singerly, and the men who were in the combination that carried the convention in 1878 against the Tilden influence. Tilden's friends are Speaker Randall, Scott of Erie, the Barrs of Pittsburg, and Hopkins of Allegheny. And these are backed up by Squire McMullin of the fourth ward of Philadelphia, who was triumphantly acquitted in the local courts a few weeks ago for shooting a fellow Democrat.—Elmira Free Press (Dem).

The day after the Utica Convention the West Chester Village Record said: "If there were more telegrams between Senator Conklin and Senator Cameron yesterday, some of them probably read in this wise:

UTICA, February 25.

DEAR DONALD: I appreciate, now, your work at Harrisburg. We got the medicine down 'em here, but it went very hard. They kicked and squealed outrageously, and pretty nearly got away with me.

R. C.

WASHINGTON, February 25.

DEAR ROSCOE: Yes; that's the way I found it, exactly. Glad you had a chance to see for yourself. If there is so much trouble at Harrisburg and Utica, how will it be at Chicago?

Great excitement and much sorrow were caused at the Government Printing Office yesterday by the posting up of the subjoined notice:

As the Public Printer is prohibited by law from contracting debts that he cannot pay, and as the money appropriation for the fiscal year has been nearly expended, I am directed to furlough the force employed in the document room, and proof room and the piece department from this date until a deficiency appropriation is made, reserving in the bill room one proof-reader and a copy-holder.

The village of Bergen, Genesee Co., was almost entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last. The fire was started in a barn, and a train of powder leading to two dwellings, conducted it to the very heart of the village, and destroyed every business place in the town, besides many dwellings. Several explosions of powder occurred during the fire, which, in addition to the heavy wind prevailing rendered all efforts to subdue the fire unavailing. One young man was fatally burned. Loss $118,000; insurance $56,000.

Mrs. Lockwood, the famous female lawyer of Washington, is the counsel for Miss Raymond in her suit for seduction against Senator Hill, and she will probably make it warm for him.
