The Advance sees nothing in the way of having the official Fast Days peculiar to the New England states coincide with Good Friday:

"A correspondent at the East, who is widely known both East and West, suggests that those states which, observing still the good old New England custom, appoint about this season of the year a Fast Day, should agree upon the appointment of the day coincident in time with 'Good Friday,' thus securing the largest possible unanimity in its observance by Christians of all denominations. The suggestion seems to us a good one. Thus, Governor Loring of Massachusetts designates this year April 9 as the special occasion for fasting, humiliation and prayer, on the part of the good people of that commonwealth. But why not have named March 26 instead? While there are points enough in respect to which we differ, radically, from our Roman Catholic brethren and from high church Episcopalians, yet we are glad of occasions which may bring into prominence the points of vital moment, wherein we are all agreed. Moreover, as we now happily have a yearly thanksgiving Feast Day, designated in unison by the national and all the state governments, what could be more befitting than that we should have each year in the spring, a corresponding devout Fast Day?"

The Religious Herald comes to the conclusion that the desire for shorter and shorter sermons indicates that (1) the ministry is retrograding intellectually and spiritually; or that (2) the people are advancing intellectually and spiritually faster than the preachers; or that (3) the people are unwilling to think consecutively and closely; or that (4) the minds of to-day cannot or will not grasp as much truth as in former times; or that (5) the hearts of the people are not as desirous of hearing the truth as in former years; or, that (6) the Holy Scripture is losing its grip upon people's hearts; or that (7) the minds and hearts of the people are taken up with frivolous things more than formerly; or that (8) business interests demand more attention, and encroach upon our opportunities for mental and spiritual culture; or that (9) the mental and spiritual man shuts him self up and refuses to have intercourse with the great world of thought beyond; or that (10) the masses of the people are satisfied with mere surface preaching and teaching, and are unwilling to go down to the hard pan for a foundation of their faith; or that (11) the people love to be tickled, and that preaching does not tickle enough.

At the session of the New York Conference in that city, Bishop Wiley made an earnest address to the fourteen candidates for admission to full connection as preachers:

"It is an important moment in your lives," said the Bishop, in part, "standing as you do before the bar of the Conference to consecrate yourselves and your lives to the Christian Ministry. Women receive you in a peculiar way, and as peculiar characters, they are free with you, more free with you than with men of any other calling. But not as a man do they receive you, but as being clothed with Christ. I say, if there be a hotter place in the world below, it is reserved for that preacher, who, under the guise of his ministerial office of a divine and man of God enters a household and becomes a wrong-doer and a betrayer. I repeat it; he will suffer damnation in this world, and a worse damnation in the world to come." [Loud applause throughout the church, and cries of "Good, Amen." "Hal-

FOR THE PRESIDENTIAL YEAR.

"THE LEADING AMERICAN NEWS-PAPER."

THE NEW YORK

TRIBUNE

FOR 1880.

During the coming Presidential year The Tribune will be a more effective agency than ever for telling the news best worth knowing, and for enforcing sound politics. From the day the war closed it has been most anxious for an end of sectional strife. But it saw two years ago, and was the first perceptibly to proclaim the new danger to the country from the revived alliance of the Solid South and Tammany Hall. Against that danger it sought to rally the old party of Freedom and the Union. It began by demanding the abandonment of personal grudges, and set the example. It called for an end and for the heartiest agreement upon whatever fit candidates the majority should put up against the common foe. Since then the tide of disaster has been turned back; every doubtful state has been won, and the omens for National victory were never more cheering.

THE TRIBUNE'S POSITION.

Of The Tribune's share in all this, those speak most enthusiastically who have seen most of the struggle. It will faithfully portray the varying phases of the campaign now beginning. It will earnestly strive that the party of Freedom, Union and Public Faith may select the man surest to win, and surest to make a good President. But in this crisis it can conceive of no nomination this party could make that would not be preferable to the best that could possibly be supported by the Solid South and Tammany Hall.

The Tribune is now spending much labor and money than ever before to hold the distinction it has enjoyed of the largest circulation among the best people. It secured, and means to retain it by becoming the medium of the best thought and the voice of the best conscience of the time, by keeping abreast of the highest progress, favoring the freest discussions, hearing all sides, appealing always to the best intelligence and the purest morality, and refusing to cater to the tastes of the vile or the prejudices of the ignorant.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

The distinctive features of The Tribune are known to everybody. It gives all the news. It has the best correspondents, and retains them from year to year. It is the only paper that maintains a special telegraphic wire of its own between its office and Washington. Its scientific, literary, artistic and religious intelligence is the fullest. Its book reviews are the best. Its commercial and financial news is the most exact. Its type is the largest; and its arrangement the most systematic.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE

is by far the most successful Semi-Weekly in the country, having four times the circulation of any other in New York. It is especially adapted to the large class of intelligent, professional or business readers too far from New York to depend on our papers for the daily news, who nevertheless want the editorials, correspondence, book reviews, scientific matter, lectures, literary miscellany, etc., for which The Tribune is famous. Like The Weekly it contains sixteen pages, and is in convenient form for binding.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE

remains the great favorite of our substantial country population, and has the largest circulation of any Weekly issued from the office of a Daily paper in New York, or, so far as we know, in the United States. It revises and condenses all the news of the week into more readable shape. Its agricultural department is more carefully conducted than ever, and it has always been considered the best. Its market reports are the official standard for the Dairymen's Association, and have long been recognized authority on cattle, grain and general country produce. There are special departments for the young and for household interests; the new handwork department already extremely popular, gives unusually accurate and comprehensive instructions in knitting, crocheting, and kindred subjects; while poetry, fiction and the humors of the day are all abundantly supplied. The verdict of the tens of thousand old readers who have returned to it during the past year is that they find it better than ever. Increasing patronage and facilities enable us to reduce the rates to the lowest point we have ever touched, and to offer the most amazing premiums yet given, as follows:

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

Postage free in the United States.

And number of copies of either edition above ten at the same rate. Additions to clubs may be made at any time at club rates. Remit by Draft on New York, Post Office Order, or in Registered letter.

AN AMAZING PREMIUM.

To any one subscribing for The Weekly Tribune for five years, remitting us the price, $10, and $5 more, we will send Chamber's Encyclopedia, unabridged, in fourteen volumes, with all the revisions of the Edinburgh edition of 1879, and with six additional volumes, covering American topics not fully treated in the original work;—the whole embracing, by actual printer's measurement, twelve per cent more matter than Appleton's Cyclopaedia, which sells for $80! To the 15,000 readers who procured from us the Webster Unabridged premium we need only say that while this offer is even more liberal, we shall carry it out in a manner equally satisfactory. The following are the terms in detail:

For $12, Chamber's Encyclopedia, A Library of Universal Knowledge, 14 vols., with editions on American subjects, 6 separate vols., 20 vols. in all, substantially bound in cloth, and The Weekly Tribune 5 years, to one subscriber.

For $18, Chamber's Encyclopedia, 20 vols., above, and The Semi-Weekly Tribune 5 years.

For $18, Chamber's Encyclopedia, 20 vols., as above, and ten copies of The Weekly Tribune one year.

For $27, Chamber's Encyclopedia, 20 vols., above, and twenty copies of The Weekly Tribune one year.

For $26, Chamber's Encyclopedia, 20 vols., as above, and the Daily Tribune two years.

The books will in all cases be sent at the subscriber's expense, but with no charge for packing. We shall begin sending them in the order in which subscriptions have been received on the 1st of January, when certainly five, and perhaps six, volumes will be ready, and shall send, thenceforth, by express-mail, as subscribers may direct. The publication will continue at the rate of two volumes per month, concluding in September next.

A MAGNIFICENT GIFT!

Worcester's Great Unabridged Dictionary Free!

The New York Tribune will send at subscriber's expense for freight, or deliver in New York City FREE, Worcester's Great Unabridged Quarto Illustrated Dictionary, edition of 1879, the very latest and very best edition of the great work, to any one remitting
