Miss Susan Wright is a teacher of twenty-one years standing in the public schools of New York. She is now the principal of the primary department. A short time ago she wrote a letter to the Board of Health, in which she said the short dresses worn by many of the girl pupils did more harm than bad plumbing and defective ventilation, and that the fashion made the children liable to rheumatism, consumption, pneumonia and other diseases which are the result of exposure. Her letter closed as follows:

"My sympathy for the ill-used children of the rich and poor compels me to ask your attention to this crying abuse, and to risk the unpopularity of putting the blame where it rightly belongs-upon physicians, too tender pocketed to make parents full sharers in the blame which belongs to neglected buildings and ignorant teachers, in this 'murder of the innocents.' "

Miss Wright said that even where poor children in her school had been given dresses of a proper length they had returned the next day with the dresses cut ahort. The children of wealthy parents were as poorly clad in this respect as the poor children. The stockings might be of finer quality, but there was no more warmth in them. Mothers cover themselves with flannels and furs, and yet they send out their delicate little girls with their legs exposed, in some cases even above the knee, to the cold winds. It is simply a foolish desire, Miss Wright said to be in the fashion. Years ago girls wore long dresses, and were then sufficiently protected. Certainly girls are not hardier now than they [were then. She had lately seen very small, children who wore socks which left a space of bare flesh exposed above them. Little boys with knickerbockers generally wear ulsters, and are thus protected. The cold is much more injurious to girls than to boys.

A physician skilled in children's diseases said that it was undoubtedly unhealthy to expose any portion of the boby to cold. It affected the lungs and heart, and was liable to bring on diphtheria and other complaints. All children should wear heavy underclothing and warm woolen leggings in cold weather. Stockings are a very insufficient protection in a cold wind. It was wrong to blame the doctors for the short dresses. They do not set the fashions, and are only asked for advice when the child becomes ill. General Garfield Is now being bothered by the persons who are making arrangements for the inauguration. Apropos of this, the Washington Republican relates an anecdote of Mr. Lincoln. The inauguration committee submitted two programmes, and asked the Persident-elect which he prferred Mr. Lincoln threw one leg over the back of his chair, and replied as follows : "When I was practicing law in Illinois a client of mine, a peculiar sort of a fellow, was brought before the court, and the Judge asked him : 'Do you swear or affirm?' 'Mr. Judge,' my client replied, 'I don't care a d---n which.' " improvements of other sewing machines, together with advantages peculiarly its own. It is a money-making fact that the White is the easiest-selling selling ma-chine in the market, and therefore all wide-awake dealers make it their specialty. It is a gratifying fact that the White gives universal satisfaction, and that it is steadily and rapidly increasing in public favor. CAUTION.

Do not be imposed upon by agents and parties who are interested in the purchase and sale of other machines. It has become a common trick for un scrupulous competitors to get a White machine and put it in bad order so that they might prejudice pur chasers against it and in favor of their own machines. To guard against such contemptible trickery, we advise all intending purchasers to correspond with us direct, and we will take pleasure in giving them the address of a regular authorized dealer for the "White" in their county, or we will offer to sell them a machine direct at special prices, and guaran-tee satisfaction in every respect.
