"The power of Knowledge," is the subject of Mr. INGHAM'S lecture at the Institute this evening. No admission fee is charged and the public are invited.

Mrs. SMITH, wife of Rev. C. H. SMITH, pastor of Zion Church, died at nine o'clock on Saturday evening, Feb. 26th, at her home on Dickinson street, of heart disease. It can be said with assurance that Mrs. C. H. SMITH was a devoted Christian and a practical religious worker, honored and beloved by her husband and all her neighbors, both religious and worldly. The time of the funeral will be announced hereafter.—Elmira Advertiser.
Mr. SMITH preaches in the Zion Church at this place.

HELP YOURSELF.—Young men depend altogether too much on somebody else to get a life in the world. They don't rely enough on themselves. The day of "self-made men" appears to be passing. The young men of the present age fawn around politicians, doing their dirty work and helping along disreputable schemes, in hope to be appointed to some position where the work is light and the pay heavy. This is no way to succeed. You can not build up a reputation or a fortune on the expense of others. You must be the architect of your own fortunes. Don't ask anybody else to help you get an education or anything else. Ten thousand men are now serving their day and generation with usefulness and honor, who never asked anybody to grind an axe for them. Young man, paddle your own canoe, and ten to one you will reach the winning stake ahead of any competitor who relied upon rich relatives or political friends to help him along.

ANOTHER ROBBERY NEAR ATHENS.—Last night the residence of Mrs. Joseph McKinney, an aged widow lady living two miles south-east of here, was entered by two masked men who presented pistols to the heads of a grand child, Miss Mary Wheaton, and Mr. William Mallory, who lived with them, and demanded money. Mallory grappled with his assailant and would have succeeded in securing him if the other had not interfered.—The girl ran for help but was pursued and dragged back to the house. The struggle continued for a time, but the girl and Mallory were overpowered, both having made a desperate resistance and received severe injuries; Mallory's being of a serious nature about the head. The thieves escaped with about $300 in money of the old lady's, and a watch worth $40, belonging to Mallory.

Judge Lynch would be too kind a magistrate to dispose of such rascals; he should be an Indian, and the punishment death by torture. WILL.

EDS. REVIEW—I notice by an advertisement in your paper that my late partner, G. S. Ackley gives notice to the public that he "will pay no more of Frank Rosenfield's debts." The publication was the first intimation I had that he had been asked to pay any of my debts. I beg to inform the public that I have abundant means to liquidate all claims against me, and if I owe any man will pay him on presentation of the bill. Moreover, I hereby publicly offer Mr. Ackley a premium of one hundred per cent. on any or all debts of mine he has paid. I am at a loss to understand what could have induced Mr. Ackley to attempt to stigmatize my character by such base insinuations, and in refutation I appeal to my record and life in Towanda. In conclusion, I respectfully inform Mr. Ackley that if he will look after his own debts I will attend to mine. I am about to leave Towanda and give this timely notice of the fact, to the end that if I have any unpaid accounts they may be presented at once. FRANK ROSENFELD.

Don't forget the lecture at the Institute to-night.

Latest style of Hats and Caps just received at M. E. Rosenfield's.

Prof. Danielle will commence a new half quarter of lessons in dancing on Tuesday afternoon and evening next which will be the last opportunity of learning to dance under this "master teacher." The progress his pupils have made in the term just ending, is spoken of by those who have attended as unprecedented, and all who want to learn to dance well should place themselves or their children under this great teacher.

Having sold my retail Furniture and Undertaking business, known as the Bridge Street Furniture Store to E. B. Pierce I would respectfully recommend those in need of goods in his line to call on him at the old stand.

I also wish to inform those indebted to me that it will be necessary to settle the accounts soon. N. P. HICKS. January 1, 1881.
