

A Model Railway.

Robert Coleman of Lebanon county, this state is the owner of the great Cornwall iron estate and is immensely wealthy.

Since the death of the young bride the grief-stricken widower has paid much attention to machinery and engineering.

The locomotives are about four feet in length, including the tender, and are models of beauty.

The locomotives are fired up and set in motion. Around the tracks they go, while the millionaire owner watches the miniature machinery.

To develop his railway ideas, Mr. Coleman has determined to build and equip a road extending from the Cornwall estate to the Pennsylvania Railroad.

THE LEADING AMERICAN NEWS-PAPER.

The New York Tribune

FOR 1881.

The Largest Circulation Among the Best People.

During the past year the New York Tribune reached the largest circulation it ever attained, with the single exception of a short period in the first Lincoln administration.

For 1881, the Tribune will try to deserve equally well of the public. What and how much it did for the success of General Garfield it is content to let earnest Republicans tell.

The Tribune will labor for, and it confidently expects the incoming Administration to promote, a free and fair suffrage, South and North, sound money, protection to Home Industry, judicious liberality in Internal Improvements, and a Civil Service conducted on business principles, on the theory of elevating, not of ignoring or degrading politics.

Every citizen who helped to bring in this Administration should watch its course. The events to be recorded in the Tribune for 1881 will therefore have a peculiar interest. The year promises besides to show whether the South will still sacrifice every thing to solidify; and whether the Democratic party after twenty years of disloyalty and defeat, will dissolve or reform.

No intelligent man will be willing to live through the year without reading of these things; and he will be wise to look for them in the journal which has long enjoyed the distinction of the largest circulation among the best people.

The well-known special features of the Tribune will be sedulously maintained. Its Agricultural Department will remain the fullest and best. The Household and the Young Folks' Department, the literary, scientific and religious features, the standard market reports, will all be kept up, and, as opportunity offers, extended.
