MADE A MISTAKE.—An intelligent gentleman in the first ward who subscribed for the REVIEW two months ago, came in yesterday, and said he was almost sorry he had commenced to take it, for the reason that his family now could not get along with it.

The indications now are that every branch of business in Northern Pennsylvania will be good this year. The long run of sleighing has enabled the lumbermen to get in a large stock to their mills; the tanning interests are prosperous, the glass trade is good; the works at this place and Covington are running to their fullest capacity; the cigar and tobacco factories are increasing their force; the boot and shoe manufactory of HUMPHREY BROS. & TRACY is daily increasing its trade, the carriage, wagon furniture and other manufactories in wood, are crowded with orders. New railroads are to be built, which will require a large force of workmen, the demand for coal and coke is fair, and altogether the prospects for a good business year flattering.—Blissburg Industrial Register.

The Elmira Telegram, in noticing the result of a divorce suit in which a Mrs. PENNY of Tioga county, N. Y., was plaintiff, refers to parties who figured in the courts of this county a few years since. It says: "In January, 1873, unfortunately for her, the plaintiff in the above case, married this man. She resided at Barton at the time, and maintained a good reputation in social circles. Soon after their marriage PENNY went from bad to worse, deserting his brive, taking up his abode with a disreputable woman in the immediate neighborhood of Chemung, where they so cruelly treated the little child taken from the Orphans' Home of this city, that they were arrested, tried and sentenced to a year's imprisonment in the Towanda jail. Being released he continued his downward career, being an inmate of three or four more jails and finally bringing up in State's prison. PENNY is well connected, of respectable parentage and was educated at the Waverly Academy. He is a criminal from pure cussedness, not from circumstances or necessity, and his wife is well rid of his miserable presence. She is a modest appearing little woman and is deserving of the sympathy of the community in her unfortunate alliance with this man. PENNY's time, it is said, has about expired, and he will soon be released.

BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS.—The large hot houses of Mr. JAMES C. IRVIN, on Main street, this borough, are daily putting a new attraction in the way of rare and beautiful flowers, and our lady readers cannot devote an afternoon more pleasing or with more profit, than by paying them a visit. Mr. IRVIN labors diligently to supply the demands upon him for these choicest of nature's offerings, and each season finds increased attractions surrounding him to please the tastes of his many customers.
