E. E. ECKSTEIN, who has been engaged in the stationery business in Philadelphia for many years, but who now hails from New York, is registered at the Ward House. NED is not only a good salesman but one of the most genial and companionable gentlemen to be met with anywhere.

The Tunkhannock correspondent of the Elmira Free Press takes the same view of the Post Office contest in that town that the REVIEW did a few days since. This is his sensible conclusion: In our postoffice squabble Major H. W. Bardwell, the present incumbent, has the inside track. The aspirants for the position are Major R. W. Bannatyne and O. D. Stebbins. Major Bardwell is an honest, competent and obliging officer, and as we have to have a republican, we won't trade a certainty for an uncertainty.

By permission of Mr. ROSENFIELD we print the following letter. It is proper for us to add that the good opinions the writer entertains of Mr. MILLER are shared by all who have the pleasure of that gentieman's ings, at C. P. Welles' crockery store. acquainance. He will shortly take up his residence in Penn Yan, N. Y., where he will engage in business for himself and we have no doubt will become quite as popular there as he is here. He certainly carries with him the best wishes of this entire community:

To whom this may come—The bearer, Mr. REED G. MILLER, has been in my employ for the past nine years and has frequently had the entire charge of my business. He voluntarily severs the pleasant business relations which have existed between us, to embark in trade elsewhere. In reluctantly parting with him it affords me pleasure to testify to his business capacity, correct habits and unswerving fidelity. I most unreservedly commend him to the entire confidence of the public.

M. E. ROSENFIELD.

A FINE HORSE.—The celebrated stallion, so widely and favorable known, "George Henry Patchem," owned by ROBT. ARNOLD of this place, is looking very fine this Spring and presents a splendid appearance on the road. He deserves and will receive the patronage of persons desiring to raise large, fine and first-class horses. His size is great, so that if you fail to get stock of great speed you will surely get valuable horses for service. will surely get valuable horses for service. Our best horsemen admit that he shows a 2:30 clip. The especial attention of farmers and horsemen is called to this horse.
