

DAILY TOWANDA REVIEW.

VOLUME II, NO. 215.

TOWANDA, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1881.

PRICE ONE CENT.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Personal.

Mrs. A. SNELL is visiting her parents in Athens.

W. C. BUCK and wife are guests at the Ward House.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. FOX are spending a few days in Philadelphia.

Mrs. G. V. MYER is spending a few weeks with her brother in Arnot.

N. S. FRAZER, of Wyalusing, has been quite sick, but is mending now.

R. A. ELMER of Waverly was yesterday appointed Second Assistant P. M. General.

GRACE RODGERS entertained a select company of her young friends at a dancing party last evening.

Mrs. F. E. BUSH and children of Standing Stone are visiting at D. O. HOLLON'S in North Towanda.

It noticing the election by Co. A the other evening we should have stated that Sergeant JOHN HENLY was elected Second Lieutenant.

THOS. E. PROCTOR, a wealthy leather merchant of Boston, yesterday purchased the interest of the other stockholders in the Greenwood tannery and is now sole proprietor.

SENECA ARNOLD gave his wife substantial evidence yesterday of his prosperous business as well as affection for her, in the presentation of a beautiful and costly gold watch.

JOHN BLACK of LeRaysville has been in town for a day or two visiting his daughter, Mrs. GEO. W. BUCK on Houston street. He honored the REVIEW office with a call yesterday.

ALEX DELANO, of Detroit, Mich., spent a day or two with his brothers here this week. He started for home yesterday accompanied by his revered mother and niece, Miss ALACE DELANO.

ADAM INNIS, President of the First National Bank, Canton, proprietor of the Scotia tannery in Granville and one of the most successful business men in western Bradford, was in Towanda yesterday.

From an invitation received yesterday, we learn that Mr. TRACY C. FRALEY of this office was married in Waverly last evening to Miss LUCY A. SLOAN, a young lady well known in this place. We wish them much joy.

Hon. J. G. PATTON is piping his Main st. block and will introduce water all through it. This is an evidence of enterprise that will be appreciated by his tenants. The work is being done by ED WILLIAMS, whose skill and experience as a plumber guarantee a good job.

Our old friend Ex-Treasurer BUNYAN made us a pleasant call yesterday. Mr. B. has passed his seventy-seventh birthday, but is still hale and hearty, and one of the most intelligent, companionable gentlemen in the county. We are always glad to see him and have the pleasure of grasping his honest hand.

O. A. BALDWIN Esq., of the S. L. & S. R. R. Co., is the fortunate owner of an Alderney heifer with a calf by her side. Though petite, the little cow is handsome as a picture and good looks are not her only merits, as she gives a bountiful supply of rich milk. We congratulate Mr. B. on his good fortune in possessing so valuable an animal.

A friend of the REVIEW who had the pleasure of visiting at Mr. SAMUEL KELLUM'S in Macedonia the other day, reports the following interesting items which he gathered while there: Mr. KELLUM'S paternal great grand father, whose name was also SAMUEL, married his fourth wife when he was eighty years old and lived happily with her for 24 years before his death at the remarkable age of 104. He resided in New London, Conn.

Mr. KELLUM has a horse 30 years old that works every day and apparently is as full of mettle and ambition as a colt. The animal's excellent condition is accounted for in the kind treatment it has uniformly received during the 22 years Mr. K. has owned him. It pays in dollars and cents to be "merciful to your beast."

Janitor WATERS, of the Graded School, has brought suit against HIRAM BAKER, for slander.

The county house was opened yesterday for the reception of inmates. Between fifty and a hundred were registered.

On Saturday we expect to issue a double number and run off an edition of about 2000 copies. Advertisements must be handed in Friday morning.

Those wishing to enjoy a pleasant evening should not fail to attend the last of the Germania Orchestra Assemblies, next Friday eve in Means' Hall. Tickets 50 cents.

"Tom Moore," a trotting horse lately owned by D. C. DEWITT, who sold him a few weeks since to W. G. TRACY for $200, who in turn sold the animal to C. M. SANDERSON, of Pittston, for $350, has again changed owners. The purchaser being a resident of Lackawanna county, and the price paid $500. Cheap enough.

A dangerous counterfeit of the standard silver dollar has made its appearance. They have the ring of the genuine metal, the milling is perfect, and there is an absence of that greasy substance which is found by running the thumb over the general run of base coins. They are, however too light, and a trifle thicker than the genuine.

We are pained to announce the death yesterday afternoon of little CLARRIE, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. HENRY C. PORTER, after an illness of only a few days, of that terrible enemy of infancy, scarlet fever. The child was only ten months old and was the idol of the fond parents. While they mourn her early demise they know "that in heaven the angels of such do always behold the face of their Heavenly Father." Funeral at four o'clock this afternoon at the Ward House.

H. VANSANT MCCULLY, Esq., the elocutionist and impersonator, of Philadelphia, is visiting in this place, and will give on Friday evening a Reading at Mercur Hall, under the auspices of the ladies of Christ Church. The following notices will give an idea of Mr. MCC.'s ability and attractiveness as a reader:

H. V. McCully, Esq.,
Dear Sir: I congratulate you on your success in all your Readings in the different departments of Tragedy and Mirth. Let me say that I consider your renderings of the works of Charles Dickens as exceeding any reading from that writer I have ever heard.

T. DEWITT TALMAGE.
He is one of the best readers and declaimers in the nation. In reading the humorous creations of Dickens I think he has no equal.

A. A. WILLITS, D. D.
His range of ability is very great, and his skill in personification remarkable. I regard him as rarely gifted, and having few equals in his line.

T. S. ARTHUR.
Among the various elocutionists who have appeared in Philadelphia, there is none that so fully realize our idea of what a finished reader should be than our talented townsman H. V. McCully, Esq. In voice, gesture, emphasis and the other qualities that constitute an elocutionist par excellence, Mr. McCully stands pre-eminent; and his efforts are in the highest sense enjoyable.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Mr. McCully ranks among our best elocutionists, having a clear rich voice, a very distinct pronunciation, and uncommon power of personation.—Bucks County Intelligencer.
