ONE OF TOWANDA'S INDUSTRIES--THE EAGLE FLOURING MILLS.

Very few of our citizens are aware of the fact that we have in our midst one of the best equipped flouring mills in northern Pennsylvania. We refer to the steam mill erected by Col. MASON in the First Ward ten years ago when everything was "booming," but which has been lying idle for a number of years. Last fall the property fell into the hands of G. A. DAYTON & Co. (GEORGE A. DAYTON and BENJ. KUYKENDALL), who immediately set to work to overhaul the establishment preparatory to starting up. The engine and boiler were thoroughly repaired, the engine room enlarged to nearly double its original size, every piece of disabled machinery replaced by new, the old "bolts" discarded and better and improved ones put in, and a new run of stones added. All this required months of patient work and the expenditure of a large sum of money. At last the steam was turned on and the machinery which had so long been silent, "moved like a thing of life." But a short trial demonstrated that the wheat cleaning apparatus did not leave the grain in as good condition as they desired, so the very best and most perfect machine of the kind made was ordered. They also discovered their water supply was inadequate and a large well was sunk which affords them an abundance now. "Having put their hands to the plow," the indefatigable proprietors, who personally superintended and directed the improvements, determined to leave no stone unturned until the object they had in view was accomplished, namely, putting the mill in condition to successfully compete with the best competing establishment in all this section. That they have admirably succeeded is abundantly evidenced by the product of their mill.

On a recent visit to the establishment Mr. DAYTON very kindly escorted us through the different apartments and explained the modus operandi of manufacturing flour, meal, feed &c. We were most agreeably surprised to notice how smoothly everything was running and what proportions the business has already assumed. All the available room in the vicinity of the mill was occupied with teams of country people who had brought grists to be ground, as it has got whispered about that the mill is not only doing excellent work but that customers are promptly served and receive full weight.

Mr. DAYTON informed us that so far they had been kept very busy with custom work and had been unable to do much flouring for the trade; the few orders they had filled gave excellent satisfaction and the dealers had duplicated their bills. He has no doubt they will find ready sale for all they can manufacture.

The mill has a capacity of ten to twelve hundred bushels in twenty-four hours. We found stored in the bins some 2,000 bushels of wheat, 1500 of corn, 1000 of oats and a quantity of buckwheat. During the season they shipped about 150 tons of buckwheat flour.

The firm buy all kinds of grain and pay the highest market price in cash. They own in the neighborhood of 5000 bags which hold in the aggregate ten thousand bushels of grain.

The head miller is ANDREW D. FORBES and his assistant JAS. C. FORBES, both gentlemen of large experience and reliability, whose past success is an earnest of their skill.

We have said this much about one of the most important of our home industries simply to call attention to the importance and duty of encouraging the establishment of manufactories among us. The position of Towanda as the capital of one of the first counties in the commonwealth, in the centre of a fertile agricultural district, should attract capital and call hither skilled labor. If we desire continued growth and prosperity we must foster enterprises and encourage the intelligent, thrifty and enterprising to make their abode with us. Our people are loyal to their town and its best interests.—They only need that their attention be directed to their duty in these matters.

One way to afford G. A. DAYTON & Co. substantial evidence that their enterprise, public spirit and large outlay of capital are appreciated is by patronizing them. When you purchase get it from them.
