A correspondent of the Owego Gazette, writing from Tioga Centre, says there is quite an excitement at that place among the employes of the Erie railway in regard to the discovery of what was the real cause of the terrible railway tragedy at that place. The story, as told, is that two or three men of the section gang have recently been summoned to appear before the officers of the company. It is reported that it has been discovered that the switch was turned by the employes previous to the disaster, in order to remove snow and ice, and that it was not properly replaced. The correspondent rather mysteriously closes as follows: "We are informed however, that the section gang are not censured by the company as having caused the accident for either revenge or plunder."
