John M. Willson, U. S. Consul at Panama who lately arrived in Washington, says that it does not look as though De Lesseps ever intended to dig a canal there. Nothing like serious work has yet been attempted.

Secretary Kirkwood has sent a telegram to Mr. Turner, at St. Louis, President of the "Freedman's Oklohama Association," advising him that the question of the right of the colored people to settle upon the lands in the Indian Territory, will be submitted in a few days to the highest authority. If Mr. Turner desires to be heard, he must come to Washington immediately. Meanwhile no attempt must be made to enter the Territory.

Thurber & Co., of New York, have begun to advertise oleomargarine under its own name. They say that "for export to warm climates it is better and will keep sweet longer than dairy butter," but they add, rather too suggestively, "it will be packed on short notice in any style required." From which we infer that if a customer wanted a few packages in imitation of some favorite brand of butter, he could have them. So long as this sort of imitation is not a felony, the Legislature will not have done its duty.—Buffalo Express.

A writer in the New York Sun corrects "the erroneous statement going the rounds of the Press that W. A. M. Grier, the Pennsylvania delegate who supported Garfield at Chicago, voted for him every ballot after the first. The truth is, he first voted for Blaine, and would have stood by him had he thought his success possible. Then, going to Garfield, he remained until the fourteenth ballot, when he went to Washburne, there being indications of his carrying the Convention at that point to those not within the inner circles of the Blaine and Grant factions. The official proceedings show that Garfield received no votes on the five following ballots.

The best proof that the Bible is not going out of fashion is found in the impatience of the public to see the revised New Testament, which is announced for this month. No work has ever been undertaken in which there was so much interest felt as in this revision. The leading secular papers and magazines of this country have devoted much space to its consideration. If it accomplishes nothing more, the new revision will cause some people to read the New Testament carefully who have never done so before. Simply as a matter of information, if for no other reason, every man who cares for his literary standing must become acquainted with the revised New Testament.—Central Baptist.

The South is willing to forget the past and shake hands over the bloody chasm. The Southern editor and ditto speaker tell us so. For instance, here is a Tennessee Democratic organ of March 10, which, in a spirit of forgiveness, declares that "if President Garfield tries to carry out his niggeristic and nationalistic ideas hereaway, he will find that the old South has enough bullets left in her locker to prevent the consummation of the outrage, and one of those bullets will be sent whistling through his own black heart if he dares to disobey our people too persistently." The Democratic minority in the United States Senate would vote for that editor for door-keeper every time, just to show the North that the rebellious spirit of the South has died out.—Norristown Herald.
