Letter From Kansas.

McPHERSON, KAN., MAY 19, 1881.

Messrs. Editors:—I have spent now nearly two years in Kansas and during that time have traveled over a large part of Eastern and Central Kansas, and what I write in my short letter to your worthy paper will be the conclusions I have reached by my observations. Kansas has been well advertised through the Eastern press, and many truths told and many falsehoods. Actual experience with a view to do justice to Kansas and all concerned, will be my aim in this letter. Kansas is justly and properly termed a great agricultural State, having an undulating surface, rich soil and a genial climate, subject to drouths and other calamities that visit other and older States of our country. To say that we have more frequent drouths would be saying what is not true, as experience and history will prove. I am now speaking of the Eastern and Central parts of the State where cultivation is general. The record which has been carefully kept, shows a steady increase of rain-fall as general settlement and cultivation moves on west. The use of the plow and the growing of timber does have an influence that can not be gainsayed or denied, in that direction.

Western Kansas, or that portion of the state west of the 100th meridian, is as yet very unsafe for settlement and I would not advise any man who thinks of making the west his future home to take any chances, from its altitude and from its near approach to those arid plains in Eastern Colorado. This season is an exception as wheat and corn looks very promising throughout all that section.

Eastern and Central Kansas never looked more promising at this season of the year, than now. While we had a cold, long winter, with considerable snow, for this climate, yet when spring came, warm sunshine and gentle showers accompanied it, and vegetation of all kinds is some weeks in advance of last season at this date. Wheat and corn, the great staples of Central Kansas, promise an abundant harvest. Wheat was supposed to be pretty seriously damaged in early spring by the severity of the winter, but the early spring together with the rain fall has forced the growth of wheat beyond the most sanguine expectations of those mostly interested. Now as to McPherson county, the one I am most interested in. We have a larger acreage of wheat than ever before, sown this season and the same with corn and oats. The present indications are good for the largest receipts from that industry that has ever been realized in our county. The farmers are hopeful, which gives life and vim to all industries. The present growth of our embryo city is an indication of an increasing faith in capitalists that, surrounding the city, within the county is a rich and frugal class of farmers. With our present railroad facilities together with the promise we have of large agricultural receipts giving confidence to men of means we shall make a rapid growth again this summer. New homes are looming up all over the city. Drs. Day and Murphy, and O. Heggelrond have the cellar dug, where another large brick block will soon be completed. Three large brick blocks were built the past season, and several more will be put up during this season. The contract for building a twelve or fifteen thousand dollar school house is about being made. The school house is to be completed for the fall term of school.

I still insist that Eastern and Central Kansas is full of promises to young men of energy, who expect to make the West their future home. If a young man can come here with $500 or $1,000, he can do better than in any part of the country I ever visited. He must come here, roll up his sleeves and go to work, and success is beyond a doubt. Too many come here without money expecting to live without much effort, (which is a sad mistake) get home sick and go back disgusted with the country that wont furnish them a living without work. They return East (if they can) and cannot say enough against Kansas. In conclusion I will say that I purpose writing a few letters for your readers perusal and say what I know to be facts as to the country and its outlook. If any of the readers of your worthy paper come west and visit McPherson county, we will extend to them the hand of friendship and show them as fine a country of farming land as you ever visited.

DR. A. E. BURR'S

HOMOEOPATHIC LUNG SYRUP.

This remedy is something new, both as to name and composition. This is one of the wonders of the world. This Syrup, I claim, is better and more effective than any other ever offered to the people of America or any other country, and what I say of this I can prove. This Syrup, like the Pills, is harmless and safe. It contains no opium or other narcotic poison, like the most Syrup, and is not disagreeable to take. Any child will take it. And it will cure any and all inflammations arising from Cold. It is superior to all others in every respect and especially for the following reasons:
