THE AMERICAN REVISED NEW TESTAMENT.—The Literary Revolution is prompt with its edition of the Revised Testament. The British monopolists "unchained" their edition on the morning of May 20th, and at 8:30 P. M. the same day, the American edition was all in type, and of the various editions of the entire Testament and the Gospels published separately as many as 50,000 copies a day will be manufactured till the demand is met. The prices for the very handsome editions, in type nearly double the size of the British edition, are as follows:

The New Testament complete for 10 cents.
The Gospels complete for 7 cents.
The Gospels separately, each for 2 cents.
And in various forms and styles, up to full Turkey Morocco, gilt edges, for the new and old versions on pages facing for $1.50.
This edition is for sale by the leading booksellers of the United States, or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Liberal terms are allowed to clubs. Address, American Book Exchange, 764 Broadway, N. Y.

Monroe.

Dr. Rufus G. Mason from Duncan Falls, Ohio, was present at the marriage of his niece, Miss Lizzie Mullan; as also Dr. E. A. Mullan from Chicago, a brother of the bride. Their presence was manifested by magnificent presents in keeping with the interesting event.
Mrs. D. J. Sweet is recovering finely from a severe turn of measles contracted for at Canton the other day. The little "todlin wee thing," Lee, is to be heard from in his turn of that spotted fever. The little boy will probably teeth and come out of these child's diseases all right, but then I can't promise for his mother if she picks up such little notions.

On the evening of the 25th instant, an event occurred in Monroe borough which your enterprising REVIEW had foreshadowed a few days before. Notwithstanding the timely warning previously given by your ever watchful sheet, the great calamity of life was allowed to come upon an interesting couple of our fellow citizens, which spoiled a batchello's sweet celibacy entirely, and devoted one of our most promising young ladies to the toilsome task of wearing another name, and of looking in another direction for support and comfort, as long as that clock on the mantelpiece of her heart shall continue to tick the ebbing moments of time past the door of life's domicile. Or in other words, Guy Kellogg, Esq., and Miss Ella Walburn were duly married. Guy faced the music like a veteran in losses, and bid adieu to his batchello free and easy life like a good soldier that is going into battle; while Ella, not outdone by her liege lord, scarce deigned to drop a tear on the shrine of all her liberties of unsullied girlhood.
The evening shower furnished the tears for the occasion, and nature dressed in its best attire, acted as both groomsman and bridesmaid for the interesting occasion.

I hesitate at this point, and will just say that Guy was dressed all right, and the bride (I am too modest for the times) was most splendidly attired. Presents were in full keeping with the times and friends were in attendance from Troy, Burlington, Wyandusing, Towanda, and Monroe township. The parents of the parties witnessed the solemnities of the hour, as well as the festivities of the transit. The evening train at Towanda defied all grief, and bore the parties toward Martha's Vineyard. That cake for the printer pleases.

CREDIT TO WHOM CREDIT IS DUE.—A notice having appeared in the last ARGUS to the effect that the plumbing at the poor house was done by a Mr. TATE, Commissioner HURST makes a correction in the following card:

The plumbing at poor house was done under the direction of Edward Williams, of Towanda, and those employed by him, and is entirely satisfactory so far.
J. W. HURST, Commissioner.
If the plumbing at the poor house reflects credit upon any one, Mr. WILLIAMS, who had the contract, is entitled to it, and it is hardly fair in our cotemporary to cheat him out of it.
