May 30. A. D. DYE, C. C.

Let every patriotic citizen give this afternoon to a recognition of the great service rendered the Nation by our brave defenders in the late war. While honoring the living, let us not forget the fallen, but

"Let fairy hands to-day
Scatter the flowers of May,
And fairy footsteps round their ashes fall."

KEEP THE BIRTH-DAYS.—It is pleasant to observe a growing disposition in this country to keep the birth-days. Such anniversaries are especially enjoyable to older people. It is a mark of esteem and reverence which gladdens the hearts of parents to have their children gather once a year in honor of this important epoch in the lives of all.

This theme was suggested by meeting at the station Saturday morning our excellent friend C. A. STOWELL of Wyalusing, and his good wife, who were on their way to Elmira to join with Mr. S.'s two brothers and their wives, in a surprise visit to their aged mother, who reached her 69th year on that day.—

Having had the honor of a friendly acquaintance with the family for the past twenty years, we take the liberty of referring to the event and giving our readers an item or two from their history.

Twenty-five years ago the STOWELLS moved from Smithboro, N. Y., to Wilmot, where they embarked largely in the lumbering business, to which was added general merchandise and farming. The father, the late JOSIAH STOWELL, who died a few years since, was a man of remarkable business tact and his sons were trained up in correct business habits, which not only fitted them for usefulness in life, but rendered them valuable assistants at home. A spirit of enterprise marked their undertakings, and thrift and improvement crowned their labors. It is hardly necessary to add that the wife and mother, who is a woman of great force of character, did her share of the work well, and now in her declining years is most affectionately cared for by her children, who recognize the debt of filial love they owe a prudent, industrious, christian mother. Like that noble Roman matron who was asked to display her jewels, she can with commendable pride point to her sons and say "these are my jewels."

Mrs. STOWELL'S home is with her son CAL in Wyalusing, but she is at present paying a visit to another son—D. B.—who is engaged in a prosperous business in Elmira. The third—C. S.—is a highly esteemed citizen of Smithboro, the former home of the family.—We most heartily congratulate Mrs. STOWELL on the happy event, coupled with the unfeigned wish that she may live to bless her family and enjoy many more pleasant birth-days, surrounded by those who love her.
