How to Grow Flowers.

Old fruit and meat cans, that generally are thrown away, can be utilized in growing fruit. Pierce the can, for example, with one or more holes, and then sink it in the earth near the roots of starwberry or other plants. The pin holes are to be such size that when the can is filled with water the fluid can escape into the ground very slowly. Thus a quart can, properly arranged, will extend its irrigation to the plant through a period of several days. It must then be refilled. Practical trials of this method of watering leave no doubt of its success. Plants thus watered flourish and yield the most bounteous returns throughout the longest droughts. In localities where water is scarce the planting of fruits cans as here shown, will be found profitable as a regular gardening practice. The best method of preserving cut flowers is to use any low, shallow vessel either of glass or china of about the size and depth of a soup plate. If this is filled with nice fresh wood moss, made up in a slightly conical or mound-like form, the flowers and foliage can be arranged to great advantage and made to look almost as natural as if growing in the position in which they are placed, instead of having that excessively formal appearance they generally have when closely packed in a vase. Not only do they look infinitely better in this way, but they last fresh considerably longer, owing to the much larger surface exposed immediately under them, and from whence a steam of vapor is continually arising from the moss surrounding their stems. Besides the nice fresh appearance this has, it is of great use both for the above named purpose and for keeping the flowers in any position they may be placed in, so that they may be quickly and easily arranged. One reason why many are so short-lived when cut is, that to get them in quickly they are sometimes subjected to more heat and confinement than is good for them, and when to this there is added the loss of light, as occurs in shaded rooms, the petals must inevitably become thin and flimsy, in which state a dry air at once affects them unfavorably. This being the case, any plants that are being grown for the purpose of supplying cut blooms should be stood as near the glass as can be done without touching, and in such position that they may have the full benefit of all the sunshine available. So favored there will be little difficulty in keeping them fresh for a considerable length of time, provided the situation they occupy in the room is not too hot, and not where they are subjected to draughts.

The insincerity and treachery of politicians, is well illustrated in the conduct of Gov Cornell; while professing to be a staunch Conkling man he has been secretly stabbing him, and it now seems quite probable that he will succeed to the seat in the U. S. Senate vacated by his advice. But there in politics as in business, "nothing succeeds like success," and the man who is successful in climbing to the top, no matter what undue advantage he takes, is the one who receives the plaudits. If the wheel of fortune happens to leave him behind in the scramble for place or wealth, to-morrow the populace who shouted "hosannas" yesterday, cry "crucify him."

Mahone is called a political orphan, but he is not quite so bad off as Conkling and Platt. They are "dead ducks." "Mortuus es" is the inscription on each of their political tombstones.

A FEW FACTS

in regard to the White Sewing Machine.

It is an acknowledged fact that the White Sewing Machine now stands pre-eminent among first-class machines, for its simplicity and light-running qualities.

It is a mechanical fact that the White Sewing Machine is made from the best material and of excellent workmanship, and all its wearing parts are adjustable, so that lost motion can be "taken up" in an instant.

It is an undisputed fact that the durability of the White Sewing Machine is sustained by a written warranty for five years.

It is a progressive fact that the White embodies the most practical and useful improvements of other sewing machines, together with advantages peculiarly its own.

It is a money-making fact that the White is the easiest-selling selling machine in the market, and therefore all wide-awake dealers make it their specialty.

It is a gratifying fact that the White gives universal satisfaction, and that it is steadily and rapidly increasing in public favor.

CAUTION.

Do not be imposed upon by agents and parties who are interested in the purchase and sale of other machines. It has become a common trick for unscrupulous competitors to get a White machine and put it in bad order so that they might prejudice purchasers against it and in favor of their own machines. To guard against such contemptible trickery, we advise all intending purchasers to correspond with us direct, and we will take pleasure in giving them the address of a regular authorized dealer for the "White" in their county, or we will offer to sell them a machine direct at special prices, and guarantee satisfaction in every respect.
