Fallow Thou Me.

Have ye looked for sheep in the desert,
For those who have missed their way?
Have ye been in the wild waste places,
Where the lost and wandering stray?
Have ye trod the lonely highway,
The foul and darksome street?
It may be ye'd see in the gloaming
The print of my wounded feet.
Have ye folded home to your bosom
The trembling, neglected lamb,
And taught to the little lost one
The sound of the Shepherd's name?
Have ye searched for the poor and needy,
With no clothing, no home, no bread?
The Son of Man was among them,
He had nowhere to lay his head!
Have ye carried the living water
To the parched and thirsty soul?
Have ye said to the sick and wounded,
"Christ Jesus makes us whole"?
Have ye told my fainting children
Of the strength of the Father's hand?
Have ye guided the tottering footsteps
To the shores of the "Golden Land"?
Have ye stood by the sad and weary,
To smooth the pillow of death,
To comfort the sorrow-stricken,
And strengthen the feeble faith?
And have ye felt, when the glory
Has streamed through the open door
And flitted across the shadows,
That I had been there before?
Have ye wept with the broken-hearted
In their agony of woe?
Ye might hear me whispering beside you,
'Tis a pathway I often go!
My disciples, my brethren, my friends,
Can ye dare to follow me?
Then, wherever the Master dwelleth,
There shall the servant be!

The Bible.

Triumphant Bible! Its luminous pages contain living pen-pictures of earth's great historic events, written before their accomplishment, which by reflex action contain the most convincing intellectual proofs of its authenticity. Its promised hear-blessings have never failed of realization when appealed to in proper condition and manner. The learned, witty iddell, who could silence the poor, aged Christian lady in argument, was himself silenced when she replied substantially, "You change your argument to suit every disputant, without gaining any satisfaction of mind. You know no blessing in your mind from all your sophistries. By obedience to that word, I know I have found pardon for my sins, abiding peace for my distress, and joy for my troubled spirit. The God of that Bible has saved me out of all my trouble, because I have trusted him, and when life's battle is fought, and its peaceful end has come, I shall just begin the eternal victory beyond. What will you do, sir, then?"

Literary genius has had few so brilliant sons, or many living, worshiping votaries as Voltaire, the French infidel. They raised triumphal arch in commemoration of his brilliant intellectual achievements, under which he passed into the famed French capital. Voltaire thought that his own writings in a few years would root out and supplant the Bible. Thus he wrote, and the house where penned these lines has since been packed with Bibles from attic to cellar, a Bible-house, and his name has scarce literary mention.

Go on, O Word of the living God, conquering and to conquer. Save every soul within thy promised Saviour's reach. Break every captive's chain that will submit to thy easy yoke. Triumph gloriously over the silly strife of opposing tongues, until at last, seated upon the Apocalyptic white horse of victory, raised high and forever above the babbling enemies of thy overthrown foes, thy votaries shall realize more than the most ardent gleamings of thy sublimest prophecies amid the flashing splendors of everlasting life.—Domestic Journal.
