The absence of a fractional currency that can be sent through the mails is a great inconvenience from which the public suffers, as well as newspapers, tradesmen and others who have to transact a small business with people at a distance. The money-order system supplies the only relief, but that is expensive and troublesome. The government should charge no more for a money-order than is absolutely necessary to pay the expense of the system, and there is no reason why a man who wants a money order for $5, or $1, should pay as large a fee as the man who wants one for $15. There ought to be a graduated scale, or a regular system of percentage. Two per cent would be enough on small sums, and one-half of one per cent on large sums. For example a money order for $1 or $2 ought to be procured for a fee of 2 cents, and the schedule might run as follows: For $3 orders, 3 cents, and so on up to $10, where the 1/2 per cent schedule might begin, giving an order for $12 for 6 cents, $15 for 8 cents, $20 for 10 cents, and so on. Mr. Money, of Mississippi, introduced a bill in the last Congress, fixing the schedule of rates as follows: Up to $5, 5 cents; $10, 8 cents; $15, 11 cents; $20, 13 cents; $25, 15 cents; $30, 17 cents; $35, 19; $40, 21 cents; $45, 23 cents; $50, 25 cents; $60, 30 cents; $70, 35 cents; $80, 40 cents; above $80, to 45 cents. This reduces the fees on sums below $50 considerably, particularly in the case of sums below $15, for which the present fee is 10 cents, no matter what the amount transmitted. The Postmaster General is said to be studying this question with a view to embodying a plan for presentation to Congress in his annual report, and it is to be hoped that whatever recommendations he makes looking to cheaper rates will be adopted.

That young woman of Richmond who was so basely deceived by the villain who obtained her by false pretenses knows now as well as anyone can tell her that she ought to have looked before she leaped. A woman ought to know a man more than "several days" before she is married to him; and she should know something about him. To marry an utter stranger on sight is to "buy a pig in a poke" and, perhaps, get a hog. The settlement of $30,000 on the prospective bride, may have dispelled all doubt and convinced her that she was about to bestow herself on a solid man. Of course there were honorable men in Richmond any one of whom would have made her a good and true husband. But the stranger with $30,000 (in his mind) to settle on her, won the prize. These wealthy strangers are the best people in the world—to let alone.

As a means to prevent further emigration the authorities in Germany have prohibited the posting of posters by emigrant or steamship agents. This will not accomplish the desired result while so many from the father land are already in this country. American citizens are entitled to mail privileges with which even the German Government dare not interfere.

Superintendent Davis of the New Orleans Mint reports to the Treasury Department that he will during the movement of the cotton and sugar-cane crops put out from New Orleans eight or ten millions of standard silver dollars. The annual demand for the silver dollar is thought to be about to recommence, to be followed inevitably by a backward flow of the coin into the Treasury vaults. The Treasury Department has not purchased the full amount of silver bullion required by law for coining into silver dollars for several weeks past. The cause of this is that the high prices which have been placed upon bullion by dealers have rendered its purchase impossible.

The Philadelphia Press has relieved the monotony of the "heated term" by a bold exposure of some of the minor speculations of our State legislative officers. The Press is doing a good work and deserves the thanks and hearty support of the people. "Let no guilty man escape."

The death of the Secretary of the U. S. Senate will remove a great obstacle to the completion of the organization of that body. The Democrats will not probably continue their factious opposition to the election of officers when the Senate meets in December.
