PARK CONCERT LAST NIGHT.—Our popular Germania Band in full force—sixteen members—threaded their way through a dense crowd of people, mostly ladies, to the Pagoda last evening. A multitude of friends were awaiting them—filling the Park, the surrounding walks, all available positions in and about the adjoining buildings, also filling a double line of carriages on Main and Park streets. It seemed like the eye of some great jubilee or festival, as it was in reality, being the introduction Welcome to the grand Germania Band Excursion to Watkins Glen to-day.—Little need be reported of the musical performance, for nearly the whole town and not a few from the surrounding neighborhoods, were there to hear it. Full, rich harmony, with either spirited or legato movements, readily taken under the accurate conductorship of Mr. WALKER, made the concert intensely interesting to the attentive crowd.—The second number was grand and in some passages thrilling. The Xylophone was a fine and skillful performance, was delicately accompanied by the band, was the novelty and favorite of the evening. It was persistently encoed and repeated entire.

The last number, hapily named the Germania waltz, pleasantly dismissed the immense and gratified audience. Those who cannot join the excursion party to-day are unfortunate; those who can, will thank their lucky stars and go.

The President's Condition.

The news from Washington this morning is of a gloomy nature. The President perceptibly failed yesterday and his death may be expected any moment.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS.

8:30 A. M.

The President slept most of the night. He has taken liquid food in sufficient quantities so that enemata have not been resumed. The parotid gland remains the same. His general condition is much the same as yesterday. Pulse, 106; temperature, 98.5; respiration, 18.

12:30, P. M.

Since the issue of the morning bulletin a rise in the President's temperature similar to that which occurred yesterday morning has been observed. From the incision in the parotid gland a few drops of pus were discharged this morning. The swelling remains the same. In other respects his condition remains unchanged. Pulse, 112; temperature, 99.2; respiration, 19.

6:30, P. M.

There has been little change in the President's condition since the noon bulletin was issued. The frequency of his pulse is now the same as then, his temperature has risen somewhat but is not so high as yesterday evening. There has been a slight discharge of pus during the day, from the incision in the parotid swelling, but in is not diminishing in size. No unfavorable change has been observed in the condition of the wound. He takes by the mouth a sufficient supply of liquid food. At present his pulse is 112; temperature, 99.8; respiration, 19.

Blaine cabled Lowell at 9 p. m., as follows: The President has lost ground to-day. Some of the symptoms this afternoon and evening are of the gravest character. The condition of the swollen gland, the pulse and temperature, suggest serious and alarming complications. His mind at intervals has been somewhat beclouded and wandering. His strength fails, but he still swallows liquid food of a nourishing character. On this one fact rests the hope that is still left of a recation.
