ANSON WITTER died of rheumatism and dropsy of the heart. Sunday evening, August 21st. He was visiting his cousin in Berkshire, N. Y., and was taken worse about four o'clock in the afternoon, and from then to nine he sank very rapidly, at which time he died, appearing happy and conscious to the last.

The very severe drought through which this section is now passing tends greatly to make a shortage of a few of our leading crops. Corn will hardly a fair yield, potatoes are "few in a hill," while the "pan cake" production for which Bradford county is noted, will fall off very much. Our honey is scarce too, occasioned by the severity of last winter, and the failure to house the bees, which will very much mitigate any anguish which may be superinduced by the absence of that palatable and substantial breakfast dish during the coming winter.

MONROE PERSONALS.—Mrs. D. J. Sweet with her sprightly little son, Lee, are spending a vacation with friends in Williamsport and Ralston, just for a change of air and scenery, and an exchange of civilities.

Mrs. Jennie Rhinevault has returned from interviewing Rev. Morris and family and other friends in Mainsburg.

We are rejoiced that the Doctor (Hall) allows us to say that W. A. Park, Esq. is decidedly improving. A speedy recovery to him. N. D. P.

Monroeton, Aug. 25, 1881.

CAMP GARFIELD, WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 24th, 1881.

Company A "all present or accounted for." Private D. Robinson was granted leave of absence by Gen. Sigfried, on account of a telegram from home stating that his mother was just alive. The company was out and drilled an hour before breakfast this morning. Battalion drill took place from ten to eleven forty-five, and the Co did splendidly, considering that they are with the regiment but once or twice a year. The camp is now all arranged, and discipline is enforced. Men can go out of camp only on passes from the Colonels of the respective regiments.

The REVIEW is received in camp and is eagerly sought by the men. J. A. W.

The picnic of the Ghent M. E. Sunday School at Pond Hill Lake on the 20th was a grand success. Rev. S. F. Wright gave us a good speech after which dinner was served to all. The time was well occupied with singing and cruising on the Lake.

hen laid an egg measuring 7 1-2 inches the long way and 6 inches the other. On the 23rd of this month she dropped another measuring 7 7-8 inches by 6 2-8 inches weighing 3 ounces. Can any hen beat it? Y.
