The Republican Convention meets tomorrow. A full county ticket is to be nominated. For Prothonotary there is but one candidate, the present incumbent Mr. G. W. Blackman, who has filled the office with entire acceptability for the past three years, and is one of the most competent, worthy men in the county. His renomination by acclamation will be a deserved compliment.

For Sheriff there are only two candidates and the canvass has been conducted with less spirit than any since the organization of the party. Both aspirants are competent and honest so that the convention can make no mistake. Either of them will be entirely acceptable to the people and poll a full vote.

For County Treasurer and Register and Recorder there appears to be more strife, and quite a number of candidates are urging their claims with a good deal of feeling and the convention will have to act with discretion if harmony is secured. The same is true in regard to Commissioners. The unfair and unjust opposition manifested on the part of some toward Mr. Bradford has been as unwise as it is malicious. He has served the people faithfully and honestly and is entitled to credit, as are both his colleagues. The attempt to cast reproach upon the Board ought to be met by the delegates with a fair and deserved vindication. People differ, and properly too, on the question of who should be nominated and if a majority of the party desire some one else in place of Mr. Bradford it is their unquestionable right and privilege to use all honorable means to secure such an end, but the base attempt to traduce him should be rebuked whether he be made the nominee or not. What we have said with respect to Mr. Bradford applies with equal force to Messrs. Ransom and Hurst. We hope the Convention will act wisely and present a ticket worthy of the party and our great county.

Some years ago in one of the counties of New York, a worthy man was tempted to drink until drunk. In the delirium of drunkenness he went home and murdered his wife in the most barbarous manner. He was carried to the jail while drunk and kept there through the night. Awakening in the morning and looking around upon the walls, and seeing the bars upon the windows, he exclaimed: "Is this a jail?"

"Yes, you are in jail," answered some one.
"What am I here for?" was the earnest inquiry.
"For murder," was the answer.
"Does my wife know it?"
"Your wife know it?" said some one.
"Why, it was your wife whom you killed."

On this announcement he dropped suddenly, as if he had been struck dead. Let it be remembered that the constable who carried him to jail, sold him the liquor which caused his drunkenness; the justice who issued the warrant was one of those who signed his license; the sheriff who hung him also sold liquor and kept a ten pin alley.

The Times special says: If a case should arise where the public interests really demanded the Executive signature, the papers might be taken to the President now. His absence from the Executive office has not been as long as when Hayes visited the Pacific coast, when no public interests suffered. A cabinet officer yesterday said if he had half an hour to talk with the President he could transact all the needed business with him in one minute. The truth probably is not over two of the cabinet officers have displayed any special anxiety to have Arthur called to act.
