The Republican Ticket.

The work of the Republican Convention, on Tuesday was well and wisely done. It was matter of remark that the personnel of the body was far above the average, while the candidates presented were exceptionally good, and it may be said with truth that any of them would have honored the ticket. Locality and availability of course had something to do with the selection, but in no case was fitness overlooked. Every candidate comes up to the standard of the most fastidious reformer. When the Democratic convention assembles we hope they may present as equally a good ticket, and the campaign will be relieved of much of the unpleasantness that often attaches to a political canvass.

W. T. Horton, the nominee for sheriff who is a son of Dr. G. F. Horton of Terrytown, is a gentleman of affable manners good business habits and of unquestioned integrity and uprightness, with hosts of friends who are enthusiastically attached to him. Having acquired a good common school education, he spent two years at the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute where he was prepared for the Sophomore year in college. After a year or two spent on the farm and in teaching he enlisted in the Union army, Aug., 1862 and was chosen lieutenant in Company A of the famous 141st Regt., but after a few months service was compelled to resign his commission on account of ill health.

After a short rest at home he became connected with the Commissary Department, Army of the Tennessee, with headquarters at Murfreesboro, where he remained until the close of the war, when he returned home and again engaged in the peaceful pursuits of farming, lumbering and mercantile business, in which he has been fairly successful. He will carry into the office that enterprise and energy which he has always displayed in his private business. He is a member of the Terrytown Presbyterian church and 42 years of age.

The renomination of George W. Blackman for Prothonotary was not contested—indeed it was demanded by the people of the county with entire unanimity. His administration during the past term has been such as to earn him not only the confidence but the highest esteem of all with whom he has come in contact. The responsible duties of the office have been carefully and pleasantly transacted and those who are most interested in the office were most anxious for his retention. The universal sentiment expressed in regard to him is complimentary in the highest degree; but he has honestly won the golden opinions his constituents entertain for him. We venture nothing in prophesying that his second term will in no wise detract from his merited popularity.

The nomination of Hon. Jas. H. Webb, for Register and Recorder was asked and indeed insisted upon by many of the best business men as well as the wisest politicians in the county. His long and active career has not left him without enemies but his bitterest personal or political foe will not deny that he is both "honest and capable." During all his public career in places of honor and trust no breath of suspicion of corruption or dishonesty has ever attached to him. As a member of the Legislature he was subjected to peculiar temptations, and by permitting that which he knew to be wrong might have filled his pockets with gold, but he maintained his integrity and is today a poor man. We believe the people of the county without distinction of party will esteem it an honor to testify to his pure and upright public life in triumphantly electing him.

The candidate for Treasurer, Eben Lilly, is a new man in politics, though he has been an active, influential worker in the Republican party. His personal popularity was illustrated in his canvass for delegates. He was not only the choice of his own town but all the surrounding districts. While the aspirants for the office were all good men, and the chances so evenly balanced that it was impossible to tell where the choice would fall, all were satisfied the selection of Mr. Lilly was wise and politic. He will have no warmer supporters at the polls than those who contested so closely with him for the nomination.

Of one of the candidates for Commissioner, Daniel Bradford, it is not necessary for us to speak. He has filled the office three years and the ability and fidelity displayed won for him a renomination, which he did not seek. The Review a few days since suggested that the convention should endorse the commissioners and it could not have done it more emphatically than by the re-nomination of Mr. Bradford. Every tax-payer will feel safe with men of his known ability, experience, prudence and unswerving honesty in charge of the business affairs of the county. His colleague, Myron Kingsley of Standing Stone is a successful business man who has managed his own affairs well and will bring to the discharge of his new duties, sound judgment, large experience, independence and strict fidelity.

The nominees for Auditors are both careful business men and all bills and accounts will be carefully scrutinized. Their integrity and honesty are above suspicion. They add strength and dignity to the ticket.

No Republican, no citizen of the county, need blush for such candidates. From first to last they are men of the highest standing.
