

DAILY TOWANDA REVIEW.

VOLUME III, NO. 43.

TOWANDA, PA., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1881.

PRICE ONE CENT.

THE FAIR.

THE SECOND DAY.

The attendance at the fair yesterday was very large, aggregating fully five thousand.

In the department of domestic manufactures and fancy goods are many articles of exceptional merit.

Miss Emma Mills of Ulster exhibits a beautiful crocheted afghan and child's sacque with hood.

Mrs. D. Meehan of Wysox has a piece of rag carpet of her own make that is much admired; also creton work.

Mrs. H. E. Babcock, of Towanda, samples of fancy needle work.

Mrs. John Beidleman, Towanda township, a bed blanket 45 years old, of her own make.

Little Lizzie Means has on exhibition several fancy mats and some beautiful wax flowers. The articles would do credit to a much older person.

Miss Sarah Rahm, of Towanda exhibits a lovely piano cover worked in silk—her own handiwork. It is entitled to all the attention it receives. Miss Sne Rahm also has on exhibition a rug in "cruel" which is much admired.

Mrs. J. W. Means has loaned for the occasion paintings and wax-work which add to the attractiveness of the department.

The rear end of the building is devoted to floral display and is very neatly fitted up. Suspended from the wall is a large bell made of evergreen and flowers. The collection of house plants is not large but the varieties are very tastefully arranged. We believe this branch is under the special supervision of Miss Mary Elliott.

Miss Annie Price contributes several very handsome tidies and mats in worsted and canvas.

Mrs. L. B. Coburn has some excellent specimens of her work in portrait painting.

A. J. Fisher exhibits specimens of the different styles of work in photography done at his gallery. Dayton & Rockwell also have on exhibition some excellent specimens of work from their gallery.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Through the politeness of Supt. Ryan, we gathered the following items at the educational department.

Miss Luey Gerould of the Bird school, Smithfield, exhibits a large collection of examination questions, business letters, specimens penmanship, etc.

Miss Laura Gerould of Smithfield, spencerian and music charts of her execution.

A globe made by O. J. Chubbuck and used at first teachers' Institute in the county was examined with much curiosity. Mr. C. also exhibited a full set of State school reports.

C. M. Osborne, Overton, Independent district, maps, penmanship, etc. by pupils and mathematical box of his own make.

Miss Tillie Owens of Orwell, Miss Eliza Depew of Standing Stone, and Miss Blanche Babcock of Albany, display creditable specimens of work by pupils. Miss Kram exhibited meritorious samples of penmanship and examination questions by pupils at Liberty Corners and Hale's. Mr. Heverly of Rome Graded School, F. A. Thompson, North Towanda, Eugene Thompson, Monroeton, evidenced their interest in educational work and the exhibit at the fair, by sending many excellent specimens executed by their pupils.

J. T. Hested, republican candidate for auditor, contributes a fine conchological collection.

Marian Camp, a ten years old girl, exhibits a portfolio of very cleverly executed maps, and Harry D Camp, eight years old, a collection of butter-flies.

The Troy Graded School contributes an excellent collection of maps drawn by pupils of that popular institution.

The Collegiate Institute and Graded School of this place make an excellent display of apparatus, geological specimens, &c.

The two very excellent maps of Pennsylvania were drawn by A. S. Ryan and Miss Cora Bowman.

HORSES,

J. Robbins of Liberty Corners, has his large team of sorrel horses entered under the head of "working team."

E. A. Coolbaugh, of Wysox, has a mare and colt; colt is a fine large one.

Almond Baxter has his fine, large brown stallion, Col. Baxter, on exhibition.

Col. Green, of Pond Hill, shows a mare and colt, which took second premium.

W. H. Conkling exhibits his fine large, driving mare.

L. P. Blackman, of LeRaysville, has his celebrated black stallion, Little Mac, on the grounds.

C. S. Davis, of Orwell, a fine bay stallion, also a yoke of steers, broken.

Hon. B. Laporte, exhibits three very nice mares.

James Johnson, a pretty seal brown yearling colt.

George Bennett has Capt. Manville's fine sorrel stallion on the ground.

W. Patterson, of Wysox, exhibits a very large draft mare.

Horace Horton has a fine gray colt, two years old.

Nelson Vander Pool has a fine two year old colt which took first premium, and a yearling that got second.

W. T. Horton, of Terrytown, exhibits a fine, large three year old light bay stallion; also a team of fine, gray draft horses.

Hugh McCabe, of Rome, has a large, bay work horse.

Henry Vann, a fine matched team of black mares.

Alfred Horton, Sheshequin, a fine farm team of matched blacks.

J. C. Gillett, a fine three year old bay mare colt.

P. R. Blackman has a nice black, yearling colt.

J. W. Jones' fine three year old colt, took first premium. He also has a fine team of matched bay horses.

Wm. Patterson has a very good single driving horse.

P. P. Burns has a fine stallion under four years of age, which took second premium. He also has a yoke of fine four year old oxen.

Silas Payne has a fine large two year old colt.

Spencer shows a mare and colt. The colt was a fine one and took first premium.

Wm. C. Ackley, Macedonia, shows a fine large gray single draft horse.

CATTLE.

Col. E. J. Ayres of Macedonia, exhibits one cow, one heifer, and one bull, all Jerseys and six good milk and butter cows.

Frank Stevens shows a yearling steer. Is a handsome red, and very large.

Horton Shores, of Shores Hill, has a yoke of two year old steers.

Geo. W. Vincent a fine, large two year old heifer.

B. W. Edwards, of Laceyville, is not only a successful merchant, but is also a practical stock raiser, as witness his herd of fancy stock on exhibition. He has four Jerseys—three of which received first premiums—and four head of Ayrshires. Three received first premium and the fourth one second premium. The Ayrshires attracted much attention, their small, round, plump, forms having many admirers. Mr. Peter States was in charge of them and reports their having taken first premium at Tunkhannock this fall.

S. S. James, of Silvara, has a fine Short Horn bull calf on exhibition.

Piolletts, who have done much towards improving the live stock in this county, exhibit a very large, fine, Short Horn bull.

H. A. Crandall has two very fine grade Durham cows.

T. A. Lee, Herrick, with pardonable pride exhibits a very fine steer, sixteen months old, which weighs 1025 pounds, and took first premium.

H. Roof has a nice yoke of 2 year old steers.

W. R. Pickering, Orwell, has one yearling, and one two year old heifer, deep red, very handsome.

C. R. Davis has a yoke of twin two years old steers which are much admired.

W. J. Lent, of Sheshequin, has a very fine pair of red, twin, three years old oxen.

A. P. Bordman contributes a yoke of three years old steers. Large and handsome.

Fitch's establishment is crowded. Parents as well as children seem curious to witness the operation of candy making, and delighted to find an establishment on the ground where they can buy everything in the line of fruits and confection of the best quality at reasonable rates.
