

DAILY TOWANDA REVIEW.

VOLUME III, NO. 54.

TOWANDA, PA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1881.

PRICE ONE CENT.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Personal.

Hon. M. F. ELLIOTT, of Wellsboro, is in town assisting in the trial of the Tanning Co. arbitration.

Dr. DIMMOCK, of Montrose, who was a captain in the 50th Reg. P. V., attended the survivors reunion yesterday.

We learn that Mrs. LOU MAXWELL is suffering a severe attack of the rheumatism, rendering her almost helpless.

Mr. MERRY, of Norwalk, Ohio, was here the forepart of this week and his sister, Mrs. ALBERT LONG, went home with him.

Mrs. Doctor H. A. RECORD and two children, of Mayville, N. Y., who have been visiting in this place, return to their home to-day.

Ex-Sheriff GRIFFIS will accept our thanks for an early copy of the Congressional Record, containing the opening proceedings of the Senate.

Postmaster POWELL and family must be very popular in their church. The mite society held at their house the other evening, netted over $30.

Col. D. W. SEARLE of Montrose, came over yesterday to attend the encampment. DAN has hosts of friends in Bradford, not only among his old comrades in arms, but with all who know him.

Miss MARY FOSTER, daughter of the late Rev. JULIUS FOSTER, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church here, was married on Monday last to Rev. Mr. NASAN. Mr. and Mrs. N. left New York yesterday for Africa, where they go to labor as missionaries.

The Methodist congregation will not alone rejoice over the return for another year of their faithful and beloved pastor, Rev. C. H. WRIGHT. During the two years he has resided among us, he has been faithful to his own denomination, zealous in advancing the Master's cause, and has labored in entire harmony with his brethren of other churches.—The whole community join in welcoming him for the third year.

The sham battle comes off this afternoon.

Mrs. WILLIAM MIX has removed a portion of the old barn on her premises to prevent it from falling.

Our merchants who have lost sight of the fact should remember that a few dollars spent in judicious advertising may greatly increase their trade and consequently their profits.

We have been re-arranging our Carrier routes. If any of our subscribers fail to receive the REVIEW they will confer a favor by notifying us.

C. L. S. C.—The C. L. S. C. will meet Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. JOHN D. WILBUR, on Main street. C. H. WRIGHT, President.

The drenching rain yesterday interfered with enjoyment of the "boys" at the encampment; but then, it served to remind them of some of the disagreeable experiences of army life.

At the business meeting of the survivors of the 50th regiment held yesterday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Col. W. H. TELFORD.
Vice President—Capt. G. V. MYER.
Secretary—Lieut. A. CRATER.

It was voted to hold the next meeting of the Association in Montrose.

The inclemency of the weather did not prevent several hundred comrades and a goodly number of ladies from assembling on the fair ground yesterday to listen to an able, patriotic and eloquently delivered address, by Col. ARCHIE BAXTER of Elmira. The audience gave frequent evidence of hearty approval of the speaker's sentiments during the hour he was talking.

SALE OF A LIBRARY.—JAMES MACFARLANE, Esq., has consented to sell his valuable Geological library to the United States for the use of the government Geological Survey, where it is much needed. The books consist of a nearly complete set of the official reports upon the State Geological surveys of all the States, the best authorities on the science. Many of the works are very rare, only a small number of copies having been printed, and hence command high prices. Mr. MACFARLANE has been a fortunate collector, having picked them up in the course of his travels during many years. Having done his share of geological work in the publication of his two books—"The Coal Regions of America," and "The Geological Railway Guide," and being offered a very handsome price for his books, to be placed where they would be of the most service to the cause of science, he has packed them up carefully and tenderly, like burying old friends, and shipped them to Washington, consoled by knowing that this special collection of books will be preserved together where it will be accessible by all scientific men, where it will be added to in all time to come, not to mention the additional consolation of a draft on the United States Treasury. Mr. MACFARLANE'S studies will hereafter be devoted, as they have been for several years past, to the law, his former profession, and with his characteristic industry he has planned a work on one of the most important branches of Pennsylvania law, for which he is collecting the materials.

THE BANQUET OF THE 50TH.—The survivors of the 50th Reg. Penn'a. Vet. Vol., who held their fourth annual re-union here yesterday, concluded their very interesting session with a banquet at the Ward House last evening. About fifty comrades and a few "home guards" sat down to the elegant collation at 9 o'clock. After the tempting bill of fare had been disposed of, Col. OVERTON, retiring President of the Association, asked the Secretary to read letters from Comrades who were unable to be present. Capt. BROM wrote from one of the western territories, expressing his great regret at inability to be present and deep interest in the Association. Hoped to be present at the next re-union.

Letters of a similar import were read from Comrades, Gen. CHRIST, A. JONES, S. A. LOSCH, Gen. SIGFRED and H. J. CHRIST.

After the "regrets" were disposed of the Comrades united in singing that popular and favorite camp song, "Tenting." This was followed by some interesting and amusing extracts from the diary of drummer SHAFER, giving the author's first experience in the army.

Col. TELFORD, in response to a call from the President, made a very neat little speech, in which he referred with pardonable pride to the proud record of the 50th made in six states and on thirty-two battle fields. It was never driven in disorder before the enemy.—He hoped the re-unions would be kept up and that in the world to come every member might be permitted an eternal re-union where there are no wars.

Col. OVERTON feelingly referred to two brothers who were conspicuous members of the regiment and called upon one of them, Comrade KENDALL, whom he had not met until this occasion since he was taken prisoner, nearly twenty years ago, for remarks. The Comrade responded in a very entertaining little speech, in which he recalled many incidents of army life facetiously referring to his capture by the rebels, with over a hundred other members of the regiment and incarceration in rebel prisons. Having been brave soldiers, he earnestly counseled his fellow comrades so to live that after the battles of this life they may enjoy that peace which remaineth for all the soldiers of the Cross.

A song being called for, Comrade GEORGE FARRAR graphically recalled the circumstances under which he first heard that pathetic and beautiful ballad, "Just before the battle, Mother." The whole company, with subdued voices, joined in singing it.

Interesting remarks were made by Capt. FORBES, HUNGSINGER, MYER and DIMMOCK. Adjutant CRATER read a well prepared epitome of the movements.

Col. BAXTER, of the 141st N. Y., Vol., was introduced and entertained the comrades for twenty minutes in an eloquent and humorous recital of army experience.

Revs. SAYRE, ARMSTRONG and FRENCH, were severally listened to with great interest.

Col. OVERTON was loudly called for but excused himself on account of the lateness of the hour.

As a fitting finale to the most interesting and enjoyable affair, all joined in reverently singing the National hymn, "America," and at 12 o'clock Chaplain H. ARMSTRONG pronounced the benediction, when the President declared the exercises of the re-union closed.

Our space is so limited that we have given but the merest outline of the affair and we hope to see better justice done it in some larger sheet.

Don't fail to go to JOHN SULLIVAN'S on Bridge street, for the best five cent cigar.

The News Condensed.

Eleven thousand persons attended the annual Mormon conference at Salt Lake on Tuesday. In a sermon, Priest John Taylor said that if the American people did not repent, the Son of God would destroy it.

Dr. J. G. Holland, author and editor of Scribner's Monthly, died suddenly of disease of the heart, at his home in New York city, yesterday morning. He was apparently in his usual health on Tuesday and was engaged during the day at the publication office preparing "Topics of the Times," for the December number. He awoke at five o'clock yesterday morning and spoke to his wife about getting up. A moment later he began to breathe heavily, and in an hour was dead. He was 62 years old the 14th day of last July. The funeral will take place on Saturday.
