THE ENCAMPMENT—While the soldiers' encampment in East Towanda was not so largely attended either by the boys in blue or spectators. Commander AMMERMAN and his efficient adjutant, C. T. HINTON, deserve great credit for the thoroughness with which they planned the arrangements and the precision with which they were executed. The weather was disagreeable and cold rain fell almost continuously, but the several hundred veterans who had assembled did not permit these untoward circumstances to interfere with the objects of their gathering—keeping alive the memories of the war, and re-kindling the fires of patriotism in their own hearts.

Despite the rain the sham battle yesterday afternoon was witnessed by a large crowd composed of ladies and gentlemen. The contending forces were placed in battle array at 2:30 p. m. The Union army was under command of Gen. AMMERMAN, assisted by Gen. AINTON, while Gen. WILMOT, aided by Gen. WOODIN, led the "rebels." The consummate skill and good generalship displayed in the combat afforded the best evidence that the science of war has not been forgotten.

The officers elected for the next encampment are:

Commander—B. G. WILMOT.
S. V. C.—ALLEN WOODEN.
J. V. C.—JAMES TERRY.
