The true inwardness of Gen. Morgan's appointment is said to be based upon a very interesting story. At the beginning of his second term the Governor selected George Bliss, who has since become so prominent in New York politics, as his private secretary. Bliss had an ambitious young friend named Arthur whom he desired to serve and who, at his suggestion, was given a responsible place on the Governor's staff as quartermaster general. In this position Gen. Arthur won the lasting friendship of Gov. Morgan, their relations to the present time having been of the most cordial and confidential nature and upon the former's accession to the Presidency he at once expressed a determination to show his regard for his distinguished patron, a purpose which he has promptly put into execution.

The following appeal was issued Saturday addressed to pastors throughout the United States, and recommended by a representative clergyman of every religious denomination having a place of worship in Washington:

"The executive committee charged with the work of establishing at the Capitol of the United States a National Garfield Memorial Hospital, as being the most enduring and beneficent movement to the memory of our late President, whose life was so sadly and tragically ended, assured that the various religious organizations throughout the country will be desirous of contributing to such a memorial, do therefore appeal to all pastors, and suggest that Saturday and Sunday, November 5 and 6, or the nearest available days, be set apart for discourses and collections in all their places of worship throughout the land in aid of the fund, and that all contributions be forwarded to Hon. James Gillilan, Treasurer of the United States, who is the treasurer of the fund."

The appeal is signed by General W. T. Sherman, chairman; Harry Wise Garnet, Benjamin G. Lovejoy, corresponding secretaries.

A dispatch from Reading thus describes the casting of a monster gun in that city: "Early this morning preparations were begun to cast the Lyman Haskell multi-charge cannon at the Scott works of the Reading iron works in this city. Two reverberating furnaces were charged with 57,000 pounds of coal blast charcoal iron from four other furnaces and the cast was successfully made this afternoon. The fifty-seven thousand pounds of metal was poured into the mould in six minutes. It will require about two weeks to cool before the gun can be taken from the pit.

"The gun is thirty-five feet long, and the bore, when finished, six inches in diameter. Along the bore four pockets will be located, in each of which a charge of powder will be placed to accelerate the speed of the ball after it leaves the chamber of the gun. It is claimed that a ball thrown from this gun will penetrate through two feet of wrought solid iron. A charge of powder will consist of one hundred and thirty pounds, and the weight of the ball will be about one hundred and fifty pounds. The greatest diameter of the gun will be twenty-six inches. When finished the gun will be taken to Sandy Hook for trial. A number of military men and civilians from New York and other points were present to witness the casting."

Grant and other stalwar's are reported to be urging Arthur to put Conkling in the Cabinet.

The Cleveland (Ohio) Daily Globe, a Democratic paper, has suspended publication after an existence of thirty days.

If Gov. Hoyt had not vetoed the judiciary bill by which fat pieces were made for a few independents, including Charles S. Wolfe, it is more than likely that the latter gentleman would not now be cavorting around the state giving the Governor particular fits.—Bradford Telegram.

Country Gentleman

THE BEST OF THE AGRICULTURAL WEEKLIES.
ENLARGEMENT FOR 1882.
The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is the leading journal of American Agriculture. In amount and value of contents, in extent and authority of correspondence, in quality of paper and style of production, it occupies the first rank. It is acknowledged to have no superior in either of the three other classes of FARM CROPS AND PROCESES, HORTICULTURE & FRUIT-GROWING, LIVE STOCK AND DAIRYING, while it also includes all minor departments of rural interest, such as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, Bee-keeping, Greenhouse and Grapery, Veterinary Replies, Farm Questions and Answers, Practical Reading, Domestic Economy, and a summary of the News of the Week. Its Market Reports are unusually complete and much attention is paid to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light on one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell. It is liberally illustrated and is intended to supply, in a continually increasing degree, and in the best sense of the term, a LIVE AGRICULTURAL NEWSPAPER.
The Volume of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN for 1882 will be largely increased in Contents by the addition of a sufficient number of pages to meet the growing demands upon its space, but the terms will continue as follow, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.
