"Daily Review" only 25 cents per month. Try it,

Many children of Wellsboro are suffering with whooping cough.

The city Fathers are putting a substantial stone crossing across the road between the Ward House and the Citizens' Bank.

Under the head of rail road rumors yesterday's Advertiser contains the following:

Rumors of coming railroad changes, improvements and extensions are thick. The latest enterprise reported is of the extension of the Lehigh road from this city to Lake Ontario, by way of Geneva and the Southwestern to Stanley, from where a road is already completed to Sodus Bay. It is said that the trip of the Lehigh excursionists about the State last week combined both business and pleasure. The Geneva Courier of this week has the following in regard to the matter; The West Shore Surveyors are doing exactly what Gen. Stuart did. They have tried several routes and come at last to the final survey made by Stuart, who said the Geneva route was the cheapest and shortest, and was of less grade. A map made by Gen. Stuart and left in the possession of Mr. Cobb, and of the existence of which the West Shore people know nothing, contains some important facts. Another thorough survey would have to be made to arrive at those results, did this map not exist. By it we find that the route to Buffalo, from Syracuse, is 27 miles shorter than by way of the Central. Also that this route is the only one where the grade, thirty and twenty feet, can be adhered to. Estimates are made of the depth at different points of the marsh north of Cayuga lake. Mr. Cobb also finds by this map that in order to go to Rochester, which is the reason for any change of route, that the northern survey in complying with the conditions, would have to diverge east of Palmyra and go to Victor. Accordingly the cheaper and shorter route for that purpose is by the one farthest south. There are other important features of this case which we have not time to discuss to-day.

A Waverly correspondent of the same paper says:

"Railroad notes and rumors are all the talk—the topic uppermost. A rumor of one day will be contradicted the next, while the work goes on. The Delaware, Lackawana and Western is about completed, surveys are being made for the Lehigh and Susquehanna and the Sodus Bay in prospect. Construction trains on the D. L. & W., are running through this place as far westward as Oreutt Creek. Between Oreutt creek and this place, upon the Herrick farm across the Chemung river, the Company have purchased 60 acres of land—they evidently mean business there. A freight depot is being graded for upon Pennsylvania avenue. The road has a finished appearance through our village. The Italians are the laborers, like the Arabs, have folded their tents and stolen away.

The great bridge for the Chemung river crossing at Red Mill cut, is being transported through this place from the Athens Bridge Works. Surveys for the L. & S. are being made from the Mathewson farm to Shepard crossing, which place it will connect with the D. L. & W., L. V., and N. Y. & Erie. It is reported that this road is to be pushed rapidly forward. Waverly people, who a short time ago were jubilant over the prospect of a new railroad, begin to enquire with a degree of solicitude, how many more rail roads we are liable to have.
